

ONE ENIGMATIC GAM TICKET

Washington Voters Allowed to Nominate by Stickers on Ballot.

THREE PLACES ARE VACANT

Attorney-General Denies Right of State Central Committee to Name Candidates Until After the Primaries.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 23.—(Special.)—One vote may be sufficient to nominate candidates on the Democratic ticket for State Treasurer, State Auditor and Attorney-General.

When the time for filing declarations of candidacy expired on August 3 there were no aspirants for these places. Since then the Democratic state central committee has been claiming the right to fill the vacancies, but according to the Attorney-General the right of the committee to fill vacancies will exist only in the event the places are vacant after the primaries have been held.

The law, according to previous opinions given by the Attorney-General, permits the voting for candidates in the primaries by stickers. If but one Democratic vote by sticker for men for the vacant places on the primary ballot such men would be the nominees of the party in the general election in November.

The same rule applies to Democratic county committees which desire to fill the many vacancies in the county tickets throughout the state. In his opinion given at the request of J. E. Cochran, prosecuting attorney of Clallam County, the Attorney-General says:

"I am of the opinion that if no person received a single vote for some political office upon the official ballots of one of the political parties then and in that case the party managing committee has the right to fill the existing vacancy. The instance, however, where some qualified elector will not be nominated for every political office by each and every party casting 10 per cent or more of the total votes will probably be exceedingly rare."

Judiciary Ticket Pathetic.

The method of carrying out the non-partisan judiciary feature of the primary election law is still an open one, the Attorney-General not having passed on it. The matter is under discussion among numerous well-known constitutional lawyers and opinions are divided as to what to do with the ticket given at the nomination in the September primaries.

The law makes no provision for the manner of placing the ticket on the ballot in November and provides that only those candidates who receive the highest number of votes in the primaries and who equal in number the places to be filled shall have their names printed thereon.

The view has been expressed to the Attorney-General by one or more lawyers who have been studying the primary law that the primary law effectively prohibits the nominating by minority parties in convention of candidates for the Supreme or Superior Courts. This in effect disfranchises Prohibitionists and Socialists in the election of the judiciary, as the limiting of the number of candidates in the general election to the number of places to be filled makes the primary election in effect an actual election to office.

In theory, however, primary election is not final as the voters have the right to vote for other candidates than those on the ballot, by the sticker method, and on this theory is based the contention that the Prohibitionists and Socialists are not disfranchised as to the judicial offices.

It is claimed that the right to participate in the selection of candidates for office is not a right which can be taken away by one party and granted to another party, thus compelling the members of the party prohibited from nominating to vote wholly by stickers for its candidates.

Holds Fee Necessary. The Attorney-General has refused to hold that the filing fee for candidates of candidacy need not be paid in spite of the fact that one of the judges of the Superior Court has held that that portion of the law is unconstitutional. "I am of the opinion," he says, "that until the Supreme Court of this state shall hold that the provisions of our direct primary election law which direct the payment of filing fee to be unconstitutional it is the duty of each County Auditor who has not been directed by a writ of mandamus of the Superior Court, otherwise to require the payment of the fees as provided in the direct primary law."

All fees for filings have been paid in all counties except Whatcom, where the Socialists have tested the matter in the Superior Court and secured a writ requiring the Auditor not to exact the fees specified in the act.

Any rulings hereafter will apply only to candidates of minority parties nominated by the convention method. Such conventions must be held on the day of the primaries and the candidates nominated are required by the law to pay the same fees as those of the parties who select candidates by the election method.

ATTEMPTS TO STEAL GUN

Will Crawford, of Portland, Is Arrested at Albany.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 23.—(Special.)—Will Crawford, a former Albany boy, now of Portland, was arrested here today by Sheriff Smith on a charge of attempting to steal a rifle early this morning while Schmidt's gunstore was burning. Bystanders notified officers that they had seen him take the gun and hide it under a sidewalk. The gun was removed, and an officer hiding near the place says Crawford returned twice after the fire was out and looked under the walk for the weapon.

WOODMEN HOLD CELEBRATION

Castle Rock Camp Initiates Candidates and Listens to Speeches.

Rock Camp 121, Woodmen of the World, concluded yesterday. On Friday night there was a big log-rolling at the camp, in which a number of new members were instructed in the mysteries of Woodcraft, after which a banquet was held at Brewer's Hall. Addresses were delivered by District Organizer Williams, of Seattle, and J. H. Schwelby, of Olympia, State Insurance Commissioner, who is also a Woodman. The celebration proper was held yesterday in a grove near the city. Chester A. Studebaker delivered the address of welcome, and was followed by J. H. Schwelby, who spoke at some length on fraternal insurance. After a song by Organizer Williams, Governor Albert E. Mead was introduced and delivered a very able address. After dinner there was a baby show and nail-driving and sawing contests by the ladies, also a number of athletic contests, but the main event of the afternoon was the ball game between the Castle Rock and Kelso nine of the Interstate League, which was largely attended, and resulted in a score of 5 to 8 in favor of Kelso.

KILLED BY HIS OWN RIFLE

ENGINEER ACCIDENTALLY SHOT WHILE HUNTING. Gun Is Discharged When Man Falls From Cliff, Buckshot Lodged in Arm and Breast.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 23.—(Special.)—Harry Brown, aged 28, engineer in charge of the Vancouver Power Company's plant at Lake Runtzen, 20 miles from Vancouver, was fatally shot late yesterday afternoon while bear hunting with a companion named Hamsawh, Brown left the power-house on the North Arm of Burrard Inlet at 1 o'clock. The men waded two miles up the inlet, landed and began to climb the cliffs into the woods. They saw a bear 30 yards away. Brown climbed up a cliff, cocking his gun as he proceeded. He was just ready to shoot when he slipped and fell backwards. As he fell his gun was discharged and the heavy load of buckshot lodged in his right arm and breast. Hamsawh carried him to the boat and they reached Vancouver at midnight. Brown died of shock and loss of blood. He was a native son and his parents live at Victoria.

UPPER WILLAMETTE BOAT

R. J. Galbrath to Place Steamer on Portland-Eugene Run.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 23.—(Special.)—A boat which will provide competition for the Oregon City Transportation Company's boats in the traffic on the Upper Willamette is being completed by R. J. Galbrath, of Corvallis, and will soon be launched. A 70-horsepower engine for the boat has been completed at a local foundry. Galbrath will name his boat "Uncle Sam." It is 100 feet long, 30 feet wide, and has a capacity of 125 tons and 100 passengers. It draws 15 inches unloaded. Galbrath intends to ply between Portland and Eugene.

World Running After Vagaries.

EGEGNE, Or., Aug. 21.—(To the Editor.)—The statement in The Oregonian of this date regarding the world running after vagaries at this time is significant. In fact, this has been the case at various periods, and now again it certainly seems to be so. One will or crowd has the presumption to say that the existence of matter (or physical world) has been "vagarism gone mad." I do not believe their above noted mass of words. It is time to close our eyes and schools and turn them into salubrious, for surely it shows that it is not getting funny in the upper story. However, it is more than likely that this "non-existence of matter" craze is only a temporary fad of a few light-headed, crack-brained molly-woops, stranded by disease, folly and bad drinking water of various kinds.

FOUR BUILDINGS GO

Fire Visits Business Section of Albany.

LOSS AMOUNTS TO $16,000

Piano House, Gun Store and Barber Shop Among Structures Wiped Out—Origin of Blaze Is Not Known.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 23.—(Special.)—Fire early this morning destroyed four frame buildings, center of Albany's business district, causing a loss of $16,100, with $850 insurance. Brick walls on each side of the burned area prevented a spread of the flames. The following are the principal losers: Branch store of Eilers' Piano House of Portland, lost $1,000; insurance $500. Arcade barber shop, Bruce & Huston, proprietors, lost $1,200; insurance $600. The buildings containing the piano store and barber shop were both owned by Mrs. C. Brenner, whose loss is $1,800; insurance $900.

Office of Linn & Benton Real Estate Company, portion of office furniture burned; loss $300; no insurance. Building owned by Dr. A. Stark; loss $300, fully covered by insurance. Stetter's Cash Store used a room in the rear of this building as a warehouse, and lost $200, with no insurance.

Gun and bicycle store of A. Schmidt; loss on stock and tools in shop $250; insurance $50. Building owned by Frank G. Will; loss $400; fully insured.

In addition to the buildings burned, losses were suffered as follows: Odd-fellows' Temple, loss $200, fully covered; druggist of Burkhardt & Lee, in Oddfellows' building, damage by water $250, fully insured; brick building east of fire, owned by W. C. Tweedle, damaged $100, covered by insurance; plate-glass windows broken in post-office and two stores across First street from fire, loss $400, fully insured.

The fire was discovered about 2:30 o'clock in the rear portion of Eilers' piano house, having started from some stock of fireworks. The city fire alarm system failed to respond to repeated attempts to turn in an alarm, and a few men who were on the streets and others attracted by the smoke and fire, by night firemen saved the buildings.

The piano store contained 25 instruments, and because of the fact that the fire started in that building and gained a big headway, all were destroyed. Deeds containing all of the records and papers of the Linn & Benton Real Estate Company were saved. Part of the barber shop furniture and some of the stock of the gunstore were carried to safety. Exploding ammunition in the gunstore made the saving of property dangerous.

Brick buildings will probably replace the structures which were destroyed.

SAYS SHE'S LORD'S CHOSEN

AND ST. LOUIS WOMAN THINKS WORLD'S END IS NEAR.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23.—(Special.)—Asserting that she has for three years and seven months been undergoing a divine process of purification, Mrs. Sarah J. Livingston, of 2004 Olive street, declares that she is the chosen representative of God in St. Louis to warn the people of the coming end of the world.

"The Lord has told me that the world will be destroyed within a few weeks," Mrs. Livingston said to a reporter. "I have been commanded to tell the people of the end of all things. I do not know exactly when the dissolution will come, but I will be told the exact day and hour before the time comes."

"For three years and seven months exactly I have been the chosen messenger of God, and have been undergoing a purifying process. Now I am ready for work." "January 1, 1906, I was well and prosperous as the world judges things. I owned two tenement-houses, a restaurant, had several thousand dollars in money and a good husband. I gradually lost all my money and property, and my husband is now in the workhouse. I live here in one little third-floor room in this poorhouse, and I wash and iron for a living, yet I am far happier now than I ever was before."

"It was not long after my afflictions began that I looked about for a reason. Then it was that the Lord spoke to me. He talks to me now just as you do. He has told me that the end of the world is at hand, close at hand, and I have been...
