of John W. Conside. The occasion marked the end of the opening week of the Orpheum circuit shows in Portland. C. N. Sutton, resident manager; James H. Erickson, of the Grand theater; Frank Coffinberry, press agent; and George L. Baker, chairman of the Portland Theater Managers Association, greeted the members of the profession who had taken part in the first week's Orpheum programme.

There was an elaborate dinner, beginning at 5 o'clock, and when coffee was served Frank Coffinberry thanked the members of the vaudeville profession present on behalf of the host, Mr. Conside, who was unable to be in Portland to meet them personally. He said the success attending the opening week was due to the excellent work done by the artists under a regrettable handicap—work that was deeply appreciated by the public, by Mr. Conside, by M. Sutton and by every one else connected with the Orpheum enterprise.

Councilman Baker remarked, when called upon for a speech, that for years he had made the practice of attending an Orpheum show whenever possible and when he could get a night off from his own shows, and was never disappointed with the entertainers they presented.

The "show people" sat a couple of hours most happily and entered into the spirit of the occasion with great enthusiasm. There was a great deal of business and bright, witty conversation made the gathering resemble a big family dinner party rather than anything formal. HARMONY IN LAWS

Important Work of American Bar at Seattle.

CAREY TO ACT FOR OREGON

Other Delegates From This State Will Participate in General Sessions and Consider Reforms in Judicial Procedure.

Judge Charles H. Carey, of Portland, is the Oregon member of the committee on uniform state laws, of the American Bar Association, which will meet at Seattle in annual convention tomorrow.

The work of this committee is exceedingly important from the fact that it will develop upon its members to suggest changes in state codes are hoped for as a result of this year's convention.

The most important business before the convention will be the discussion of reforms in judicial procedure, having for their object the simplification and expediting of the trial of criminal cases and the advancing of appeal cases. It is generally admitted that the states of the Union are under an extravagant expense because of the complicated system, or lack of system, of procedure in adjudicating matters of the kind mentioned, and it appears that the delegates from every state to be represented at the convention are unanimous in the opinion that something must be done to prevent further cluttering of the criminal calendars of the state courts, and it is announced that an endless array of salutary reforms will be proposed to the National Commission on Uniform Laws which has been in session for several days at Seattle already, and will continue in session until the final day or so of the gathering.

This National commission has no authority further than to make suggestions to the association, which in turn will recommend the drawing of bills for presentation to the Congress of the United States at its next regular session.

The Oregon State Bar Association will be represented by three delegates, Thomas O'Day, C. E. Wolverton and C. E. S. Wood, appointed by the president, while a large number of informal delegates are planning to go. The same is true of the Multnomah County Bar Association. So far as can be ascertained, there will be about 35 or 40 members of the association attending from this state. The list includes Attorney-General A. M. Crawford, Judge C. H. Carey, D. S. Cohen, John M. Gearin, Thomas G. Greene, W. D. Fenlon, W. C. Bristol, R. B. Donaway, W. W. Cotton, F. W. Mulkey, H. H. Emmons, C. M. Ideman, A. E. Clark, G. C. Moser, J. P. Logan, J. Conch Finley, C. N. Sutton, R. H. Lintner, Harrison Allen, C. J. Schnabel, L. R. Webster, Alexander Bernstein, T. Cleaton, A. P. Tift, R. W. Montague, Dan J. Malarky, Hilton Schwartz, W. Minor, T. T. Taggart, John K. Kollock, James Gleason, Martin L. Pipes, Jerry Bronaugh, Phil Herz, C. W. Petrain, Arthur Langguth, Seneca Fouts, George Singleton, H. E. Adams, C. A. Berg, Bert E. Haney, A. W. Lafferty and a number of others.

Portland is going over in full strength and will issue an invitation on the floor of the convention to the Eastern delegates to return home by way of this city with the promise of special entertainment if they do so.

Interpreter of heroic parts, blushed, performed, like a village schoolboy at the greeting accorded him, for his good works of the past were remembered. His appreciation was best displayed in the vigor and intelligence with which he carried his role, a "father" part of the "Shore Acres" "Way Down East" sort.

Warda Howard, a leading woman of exceptional talent, and a prime favorite of the Lyric audiences of days gone by, deserved her cordial reception, for she displayed marked ability in her emotional scenes and sustained with fine consistency the melodramatic climaxes with which "The Confessions of a Wife" is replete.

Dorothy Davis, cast for the "heavy" feminine role, needs no introduction. Her splendid talent as exhibited during the long run of the R. E. French company at the Star last year is fresh in the minds of the patrons of that playhouse, of whom there seemed to be a goodly representation at the Lyric yesterday. Though her talent follows entirely different lines, Miss Davis suggests Eugenie Blair, whom the most resourceful and versatile emotional stock actresses of recent years.

Another storm of applause broke loose when Mamie Haslem, that wonderfully gifted little spirit, whom every patron of the Baker Theater loves, made her first entrance, and the same can be said of that mothy soul, Lillian Griffith, whose feet have often trod the Lyric boards before.

Of the new people, Allen Lewis, as the country bumpkin, and Ella Henalt, as "de tough goll," were instantaneous hits. Their team work was a revelation to patrons of the house. Ermin Seavey, cast for the juvenile parts, has an indifferent role, this week, and there is little opportunity for judging his histrionic ability. It must be said that for a premier and for a season "opener" things went much better than could have been reasonably expected.

For a considerable portion of the evening the Lyric was a stage of a half-raising melodrama. The personal element, the camaraderie, pivoted on the row of footlights between actors and audience, was plainly manifested throughout the performances. But at the same time old faces and new shared almost equally in the warmth of the spontaneous and energetic popular acclaim.

greatest changes in the statute of the different commonwealths represented as will result in closer uniformity. While this committee is clothed with no greater authority than to offer recommendations to the National organization it is a foregone conclusion that whatever suggestions of reform are made by this committee will be laid before the next sessions of the legislatures of the states where particular reforms are needed.

May Simplify Divorce Laws.

One of the greatest problems with which this committee will have to wrestle will be the hopelessly entangled and intricate divorce laws of the different states. It is a notorious fact that the divorce laws in this country are of more colors than "Joseph's Coat," that they are wholly inconsistent, that they are in almost every case entirely too lax, that loop-holes which exist in the codes of one commonwealth will allow mated couples of another state to under galling bonds which would hold them together interminably in the state where the marriage was performed.

Radical reforms in insurance laws and also Government stock certificates will also be considered by this committee during the four days' session at Seattle, and from opinions expressed by a number of delegates of the Oregon State Bar Association and the Multnomah County Bar Association, who will leave for Seattle this afternoon at 2 o'clock or tonight at midnight, many other

Now that funmaking appeals almost entirely to the Lyric, the Lyric circus has to work fifty times as hard, at the very least, as the old-timer of the one-ring circus and the one-makeup. The Lyric "act" is the Lyric circus, and the Lyric circus is the Lyric act.
