Republican National Committee Later Holds Session in New York. Subject of Ways and Means Is Under Discussion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. - Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock, of the Republican National committee, held a long conference at the Manhattan Hotel with James S. Sherman, Republican nominee for Vice-President; Representative William McKinley, chairman of the Republican Congressional committee, and Representative Loudenslager, secretary of the committee. The conference began on the return of these gentlemen from Oyster Bay, where they were called by President Roosevelt for a talk about the Congressional situation. It was very late before the conference was concluded. but the list of Congressmen who are to be invited to make speeches in both the National and Congressional campaign was completed.

Roosevelt Gives Advice.

It is said that President Roosevelt displayed a keen interest in the arrangements being made for a vigorous campaign to retain the present Republican majority in the House of Representatives. He was able to give Chairman McKinley and Secretary Loudensiager many valuable suggestions, and these were approved also by Mr. Sherman, who was chairman of the Congressional committee until his nomination for the Vice-Presidency.

No details of the conference at Oyster Bay were made public. It was admitted. however, that arrangements were made enlist speakers for a contest in a number of districts in Southern States which are now represented by Demo-

Discuss Ways and Means.

The meeting of the executive committee of the National committee was taken up largely with a general discussion of routine affairs and some time was devoted also to the question of finances. There were present at the meeting Chairman ock, Mr. Brooker, of Connecticut; Mr. Ward, of New York, and Mr. Dupont, of Delaware, members of the executive committee; Mr. Sheldon, treasurer of the National committee, and Cornellus N. Bliss and Senator Crane, members of the advisory committee.

The first big rally of negro voters to be held during the campaign occurred tonight at St. Cyprian's Chapel, in this city. The meeting was addressed by ex-Governor Hinchback, of Louisiana, and W. T. Vernon, Registrar of the United States Treasury, and a number of others, all negroes.

New York Republican Committee Fears to Express Opinion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.-With the of the National committees of both the Democratic and Republican parties engaged in councils with their advisers, the new executive committee of the New York State Republican committee in session for consideration of the Governorship question and the officers of the Republican Congression al committee conferring with President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, there is con-siderably more activity in political circles in New York today than since the parties organized for campaign work,

From the point of widespread interest the gathering of the New York State executive committee ranks high- Hoquiam Mill Association It is popularly believed that a majority of the men present at that gathering are opposed to the renomination of Governor Hughes. The meeting was held for the purpose of taking up the basis of representation in the Senatorial conventions in several up-state counties, but without debate the question of Governor Hughes' renomination will be discussed. announcement on this subject is expected, however.

No formal statement has been made for plans for a pligrimage of heads of the Republican Congressional committee to Oyster Bay. It is understood here, however, that Mr. Sherman, Renresentative McKinley, of Illinois, who is the chairman at the present time; Representative Loudenslager, secretary of the committee, and a number of others will be present. Among matters which will be discussed is the question of co-operation with the National committee and the plans being made for conducting stirring cam-paigns in a number of districts in Southern States, which are now represented by Democrats.

President Roosevelt is taking a keen interest in the campaign and is determined that the political complexion

Heads of Portland Institutions Declare Democratic Chief Would Give Free Rein to Theorists and Exploiters.

Portland bankers, as far as interlewed, are a unit in denouncing as a theoretical experiment Bryan's plan for guaranteeing bank deposits. They declare that the enactment of legislation proposed by the Democratic Presidential nominee would strike a dangerous blow at conservative banking institutions of the country and at the same time place a premium on reckless banking.

By such legislation, it is urged by local bankers, the incentive for careful, legitimate banking would be removed and the door opened for an almost unrestricted operation of theorists and exploiters at the expense of the general

Bryan Pledged to Issue.

Bryan evidently expects to make the subject of legislation for the guaranty of bank deposits an issue in the campaign. He is vigorously advocating such a measure in face of a practically united opposition from the conservative banking interests of the country This legislation, as proposed by Bryan, would conform to the declaration of that subject as announced in the plat-torin adopted by the Democrats at their National convention in Denver. That plank pledged the party to leg-
