For sheriff there are four candidates, Ed Payette, W. C. Lantz, George Dean and J. F. Connors, but Payette seems to lead in the fight.

Our Miss Bernard has just returned from an extended buying trip to the style centers of Europe, stopping on her way back at New York to pick up the best in style and value afforded by the fashion metropolis of our own country. She will be closely followed by myriads of fashionable garments that will appeal with irresistible force to the tasteful and fashionable folk who make up the clientele of Portland's largest and best style store. This is the only store in Portland doing a large enough business to warrant sending an exclusive buyer to the European markets for women's attire. Miss Bernard will be pleased to meet her friends and tell of what she has in store for them in fashionable wearing apparel.

Portland's Largest and Best Style Store

We have gained an enviable prestige in the garment field in the Pacific Northwest, and our leadership was never so firmly established as at the present time. Enthusiastic customers tell us that we show four new and stylish suits to one shown by any other store in Portland. Not an old suit in our entire stock. The excellence in value and desirability of styles in last Spring's and Summer's lines enabled us to clean up completely every tailored suit we owned. We start this season with an absolutely new and fresh stock; and 75 per cent. of the suits now on display left the makers' hands less than two weeks ago. We take pride in inviting the critical inspection of the more discerning of Portland's fashion followers. We offer for their inspection, the newest, freshest, smartest and largest stock of Women's Fall Attire ever shown in the Pacific Northwest.

An Evidence of the Tone of ELMHURST

Excerpt from Morning Oregonian Sept. 1, 1908

The offer of the subdividers of Elmhurst, a new tract, to open Tillamook avenue through for the distance east of Sandy road, where it is still closed, to Cully avenue, where the Country Club will take up the work and grade the thoroughfare to the entrance of the grounds, has been accepted. The Elmhurst people announced that they have let the contract for grading Tillamook for the distance of one-third of a mile, and will have it ready for use by the time the race meet opens. This arrangement will relieve the Country Club of a considerable burden, and will solve the problem of securing a thorough street from the river out to the racetrack much more easily than was anticipated. The engineers of the Country Club tract have already put a force of men at work opening up Tillamook for several blocks east of West avenue. This will be pushed forward to meet the grade established through Elmhurst.

The long-delayed thoroughfare water-pipe to be used for sewers will be laid down by the Elmhurst people.

The only direct route to the Country Club is through ELMHURST. Every automobile, tally-ho, carriage, also those who travel by horseback to the Country Club will pass through ELMHURST. There is nothing in the Northwest that will attract the attention of the better classes more than the Portland Country Club.
