Governor's Action Causes Political Turmoil in Indiana.

WANTS LOCAL OPTION LAW

Against Advice of Leaders, Hanley Calls Politicians Away From Canvass-May Oppose One State Candidate.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 4.—(Special.)—Republican politics is at the boiling point here tonight over the calling of a special session of the Legislature by Governor Hanly and his accompanying announcement that he would recommend to that body that it enact a local option law, with the county as a unit. The Legislature is called to meet September 18, and the county as a unit. The Legislature is called to meet September 18, and the uncertainty as to what it will do will hamper the Republican speakers in respect to state issues, and cause them trouble in various directions.

The Governor did not act without consulting the leaders, but he found them all connected to his plans and acted them all opposed to his plans and acted against their advice. It is broadly in-timated that he is not enthusiastic over the state ticket, and that, if the Legis-lature does not bow to his will, he will carry out his threat, made at the state convention, to take the stump against Fremont Goodwine, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

Many citizens, however, not poli-ticians, are much in favor of a local option law with the county as a unit, and some of them think that the enactment of such a law would take the question out of the campaign and that the Republicans would profit by it. The Governor also seeks extra power deal with nightriders in Southern

In a statement issued by the Governor gives the following reasons for desiring special powers to deal with the night riders:

In the early Spring numerous raids were made in the part of the state bordering upon the Ohlo River by so-called "night riders," resulting in the destruction of a number of tobacco beds.

In a week's time the tobacco crop will be cut and housed in shacks and barns. Many threatening letters are again being received warning tobacco-growers not to cut their crops at the peril of destruction of crop and barns by fire. The conditions in Kentucky during the last year, one-third of the state being in anarchy, with neither life nor property secure: the conditions along the Ohlo River in Ohlo, where in the last six months the state has been compelled to maintain a military pairoi at a cost of $40,000; and the threats being made to repeat these crimes in Indiana impel me to take the action I have, in the hope that the General Assembly will give such executive authority and place such funds at executive disposal as shall be necessary to meet what may be called at any moment a grave situation.

Wright Remains in Air More Than Four Minutes.

MACHINE BEHAVES WELL

Circles Parade Ground at Fort Myer Five Times and Lands With Ease - Distance Covered 2 1-2 Miles.

WASHINGTON, Sept. Wright made another flight over the drill grounds at Fort Myer, Va., today, circling the field five times in addition to going its full length and landing directly in front of the tent which shelters the machine. The total time consumed in flight was 4 minutes, 15 secands, the aeroplane being under the control of Mr. Wright throughout the flight.

The wind was blowing at a rate of three and three-fifths miles an hour, and the speed of the aeroplane was es-timated at 36 miles an hour. Thirty feet from the ground was the greatest height attained in the two and a half miles covered.

Replaces Broken Rudder.

This morning Mr. Wright replaced the rudder broken yesterday and this afternoon the machine was taken to the Northern end of the drill grounds where the starting apparatus is located. Leaving the track at 5:55 the machine was turned upward by the operator, and dipping slightly, continued to rise as it made for the southern end of the field. Mr. Wright made ern end of the field. Mr. Wright made several sharp turns, and at one point repeated the mistake made vesterday. but he was able to right the machine before descending too near the earth. One of the most impressive features of the aeroplane's porformance was the case with which it was brought to earth when half way round on the last

Wright Highly Pleased.

An enthusiastic crowd witnessed to day's flight. Mr. Wright was greatly pleased with the test and announced that he would make a flight tomorrow morning if weather conditions were favorable.

The conditions which Orville Wright will have to fulfill with his aeroplane in order to secure $25,000 from the Government are extremely severe and, although yesterday's flight has been surpassed by the Wright brothers at Dayton and in North Carolina and by the members of the Aerial Experiment Association at Hammondsport, N. Y., doubt is expressed as to whether the Wright brothers can fulfill the require-ments of the specifications.

Wright Sure of Success.

Orville Wright is confident he will do all he is required to do by the contract. He says that if he had been higher in the air during yesterday's flight, he could have corrected the error he made could have corrected the error he made without coming to earth. In the offi-cial speed flight it will be necessary for him to ascend to a height of 300 to 400 feet at certain points. This will be much higher than any aviator has yet dared to go with a heavier-than-air machine.

Frequent Practice Flights.

Practice flights with the Wright brothers' machine will be frequent at Fort Meyer from now on and it may be several weeks before the flights for speed and endurance are made. In their earlier aeroplanes the Wright while lying flat, but in the new machine built for the Government the operator occupies a sitting position and the levers are turned in a direction diametrically opposite to the former method. This change in the system of control was indirectly the cause of yes-

CHEAPER THAN ELECTRICITY? SURF

Electric light concerns are largely advertising "A REVOLUTION in the Electric Lighting Business-The advent of a NEW Electric Arc!" which they say is enabling them NOW to furnish (this one) Electric Light Cheaper than Gas is supplied by the Gas Arc. This same claim has often been made before-WRONG THEN, WRONG NOW-as every consumer of light, having used both (Gas and Electricity) has long since found out, and this very fact is plainly admitted by the electric lighting people themselves, or else why should it require A REVOLUTION to meet the overwhelming superiority of the Gas Arc? There is no need of discussing the published tables of comparative costs, with its studiously concealed facts, since there is not a single 200-Candle-Power Electric (Tungsten) Arc in town for sale. They have hardly passed the experimental stage in the factory. What you are getting are 40 and 60-wat Bulbs rated at 32 and 48-Candle-Power, respectively, arranged in a cluster. The deplorable lack of "downward" candle power (only 5.6 candles in a 48-C.-P. lamp), necessitates the use of reflecting glassware which "eats up" the larger part of the light you pay for.

There are but two facts to be considered, since
