The body will leave Nome today on the steamship Northwestern for Seattle. The fatal injuries were sustained in a wreck on the railroad, of which Dr. Whitehead was general manager. EXPECT 100,000 VISITORS

LIVESTOCK SHOW DIRECTORS PLAN FOR THROGS.

Local Management Makes Arrangements for Interesting Races and Superb Exhibit.

Arrangements to take care of approximately 100,000 people for the first annual harness horse meet and Pacific National Livestock Show, during the week of September 21-28, are being made. The various committees of the Country Club and Livestock Association which submitted their reports at the postponed meeting of the directors yesterday afternoon declared that the general programme as planned together with the incidents and feature attractions which will be offered should surely attract a daily attendance of not under 15,000 as an average.

The attendance at last year's State Fair at Salem was more than 10,000, and the state capital has not the local population nor the central location of Portland to draw the crowds from the many livestock centers of the Northwest. For this reason, the local management figures that the first exposition here should register a much larger attendance than Salem did last year.

you-enter turnstiles arrived yesterday and will be installed today. These are novel mechanical devices which do away with having gatemen and ticket-takers, and the five turnstiles are supposed to be able to handle the crowds much faster than a similar number of employes at the entrances. All that will be needed will be two or three young women to make the proper change and the turnstiles will do the rest, registering the admissions not only at the gate but in the general offices.

F. O. Downing, chairman of the general management committee, reported that a goodly number of privileges and concessions had already been contracted for and that his office is flooded with informal bids for various privileges. It was decided to leave it entirely to Mr. Downing's committee to select and arrange for all accommodations and comforts which might tend to please the public. No effort will be made to put the concessions on a money-making basis this year. Only such as are absolutely necessary for the convenience of the crowds will be considered.

RESISTS PAYING TAXES

O. R. & N. CO. FILES SUIT IN CIRCUIT COURT.

Allegation Is Made That $200,000 Taxes on $16,000,000 of Money, Notes and Accounts Illegal.

Contending that the action of the County Board of Equalization in upholding the $200,000 tax assessment of its money, notes and accounts was illegal, the O. R. & N. Company, through its attorney, will file suit in the State Circuit Court today to have that decision set aside. The company will endeavor to have the tax reduced to $5000, it being admitted that at the time of the assessment the company had $500,000 of taxable property. Should the case go against the railroad company, it will be compelled to pay not only the $200,000 taxes, but $20,000 additional as penalty, and the interest which has accrued during the months it has remained unpaid. Assessor Sigler valued the money, notes and accounts of the company at $16,000,000.

After the Board of Equalization had listened to testimony to the effect that this large surplus was not taxable because it belonged to the Union Pacific Company, instead of the O. R. & N., and was being expended in building new roads, it confirmed Mr. Sigler's assessment. The company then appealed to the Supreme Court.

Arthur C. Spencer, the company's attorney, gives as a reason for the abandonment of the appeal and the institution of a new suit that the law of 1907, authorizing the appeal, is unconstitutional. A temporary injunction was issued yesterday by Judge Gantenbein, restraining Sheriff Stevens from collecting the tax pending the decision of the case.

SUIT OVER STREET CONTRACT

Property-Owners Protest Over Cost of Fill on East Washington.

Whether the contractors, who made the East Washington-street fill, between East Water street and Union avenue, charged an exorbitant price when they fixed their rate at 40 cents a yard, or whether that is reasonable for the work done, is the question which is at issue before a jury in Judge Bronaugh's department of the Circuit Court. It is the contention of Nottingham & Co., and of Joseph Paquet that 25 cents a yard is a reasonable price. The City Council advertised for bids for the work, and accepted that of the Pacific Bridge Company.

Testimony taken yesterday by the city showed that all the property-owners on each side of the street have paid their assessments, with the exception of the litigants.

One of yesterday's witnesses was Whitney L. Bolse. He said that the property near 22nd Washington street doubled in value immediately after the fill was completed. In December, 1905, and that three lots sold by the Hawthorne estate before the fill was made, are now worth between $5000 and $8000 each.

BOYCOTT HEARING POSTPONED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The hearing in the contempt case of the Buck Stove & Range Company against labor officials who are alleged to have violated an injunction to discontinue a boycott may not be held until October. Justice Gould, of the District Supreme Court, has indicated the matter should go over until the regular court term in October. The Federal court today was allowed an extension of time for filing its answer to the Buck Company bill, pending which the hearing may be postponed.
