WILL SHIP

Part Cargo Craft From Sound and Other Ports Will Be Worked.

CONTRACT FOR TWO YEARS

Stevedores and Employes Come to Agreement Regarding Loading and Discharging Vessels—Men on Purely Local Footing.

After negotiations lasting for weeks, the Chamber of Commerce, acting as mediator between unions of longshoremen working vessels calling at this port, and the stevedore companies, has succeeded in arranging a contract whereby the longshoremen agree to abide by the existing wage scale for the coming two years.

The two stevedore firms doing business here, Brown & McCabe and The McCabe Company, Inc., have been declared fair by the Stevedores' Union, which agrees for a term of two years to handle all vessels in this port and to employ either of these two firms, irrespective of whether labor difficulties have occurred or may occur in other ports.

Adjustment Is Satisfactory.

The adjustment of the difficulties that might arise here because of the troubles of the longshoremen on Puget Sound are entirely satisfactory, not only to the Chamber of Commerce, but to shipowners, stevedore companies and the union alike.

Recommend Union Employes.

The trustees of the Chamber of Commerce feel gratified at the result of the settlement just made, and they are glad to see that the longshoremen will get much more trade than would otherwise be the case.

REINSURANCE 50 PER CENT

Steamship Aeon From San Francisco to Samoa Is Long Overdue.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Anxiety is shown in the British ship Aeon, which sailed from this port on July 6 for Samoa and Australia, and has not since been reported, has almost despaired into the possibility that the vessel had met with disaster, either having foundered at sea or being stranded on some one of the many small islands in the South Sea which seldom or never are visited by mariners.

In addition to the officers and crew of the Aeon, which carried a cargo of foodstuffs, she had on board Captain E. R. Patrick, U. S. N., and family, and the wife of Naval Lieutenant W. K. Riddle. The Aeon was due at Apia about July 26, but up to August 2 she had not reached there. She now is long overdue at Sydney, and insurance on her is quoted at 50 per cent.

THE GREAT HORSEMAN'S
LIFE STORY ENDS

Robert V. Short, Noted in Early Days, Passes Away in Portland.

PERILOUS TRIP ON PLAINS

Dictated Sketch of Elderly Man's Career Contains Details of Many Thrilling Adventures in Wilderness.

Robert Valentine Short, who surveyed the town of Portland and made the first map of the city, and who was a member of the Oregon Constitutional Convention and a pioneer of 1847, died at his home, 1220 East Salmon street, Monday night, after an illness of several months.

Mr. Short lived in retirement in Portland for a number of years. He was not only the oldest surveyor, but he was also a pioneer.

There will be Indian battles, war dances and pow-wows; exhibitions of native history and historic types, and many stirring scenes and incidents to arouse enthusiasm and send the blood tingling from excitement.

Riding at the head of his cavalcade of horsemen, personally directing every performance and appearing at every exhibition, the method of the old-time rodeo will be followed.

Travelling passenger agents and other officials of the railroads holding membership in the American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents are gathering for the annual convention which will open at Seattle September 14, and later will spend two days in Portland.

Malone Joyce, traveling passenger agent for the Colorado Midland, in the Los Angeles territory, will also be present.

Special cars rather than special trains will be the rule this year in reaching the convention grounds.

Preparing for State Fair.

Passenger equipment is being assembled by the Southern Pacific to take care of the heavy travel that is expected to the State Fair at Salem from Portland and other points in the Willamette Valley.

pany of fractious and bucking bronchos on exhibition in the same arena. It will be readily shown how difficult to make the Western horse submit even to the curb and saddle of the cowboy, let alone the mastery of a trainer who makes them perform easily and gracefully under the most exact punishment or urging, the most difficult trick known to the horsetrainer's art. Ray Thompson is the owner and trainer of the Buffalo Bill and Joe Bailey, admittedly the handsomest and best trained animal on exhibition before the public.

Thompson has spent years in training his horses and in the group, besides Joe Bailey, are a number of beautiful equines who perform singly and in groups the same grandiose and thrilling stunts of the circus arena.

But these horsemanship feats are only a part of the great historical exhibit which Buffalo Bill is making. The grand arena in a manner which shows that they enjoy their work and likewise appreciate the applause which is invariably bestowed upon them.

LESMEIN PRIZES FOR GRAND JURY

First Body Under New Law Soon Will Investigate County Affairs.

A. E. DAVIS NAMED FOREMAN

Judge Gantenbein Reads Oregon Law Regarding Prize-Fighting and Liquor License and Directs Attention to Offices.

The first grand jury under the new law enacted by the voters last June, was drawn in the Circuit Court yesterday morning. County Clerk Fields was present, and drew the names from the 41 in the box. The other 25 of the 100 talemans for whom subpoenas were issued were either not found by the Sheriff's deputies or were excused by Presiding Judge Gantenbein.

The grand jury under the new law enacted by the voters last June, was drawn in the Circuit Court yesterday morning. County Clerk Fields was present, and drew the names from the 41 in the box.

A. W. Bagley was appointed to attend the duties of clerk, in addition to serving as one of the talemans. He is a real estate dealer. The other members of the grand jury are: H. E. Blossom, traveling man; A. R. Conrad, farmer; J. H. Day and J. F. Jaeger, farmer.

In his instructions to the jury, Judge Gantenbein read the sections of the Oregon law relating to forest and brush fires, libel, prizefighting, liquor licenses and local option. He remarked that these sections, however, are not to be held of more importance than other laws, but that the whole law is to be enforced alike, and all violators are to be punished.

The Court instructed the jury that it is incumbent upon you to inquire into the condition and management of every public prison in the county, and into the condition and management of the offices pertaining to the regular administration of the courts of justice in the county; and you shall have free access at all reasonable times to the prisons and offices mentioned, and also to the records of all public books and records of the county.

County Jail Inquiry.

This portion of the instructions calls upon the jurors to investigate the manner in which Kelly Butte and the County Jail are being conducted. In this connection it is probable that the differences of the Sheriff and the County Court regarding the working of the prison will also be investigated.

The grand jury had issued four subpoenas for witnesses when it adjourned yesterday noon. It remained in session until after 10 o'clock, and then adjourned, returning any indictments. Five more witnesses will be examined this morning if the time permits.

It is believed that the Adolph Adler case was one of those in which an investigation was begun yesterday.

DISCUSS BRIDGE PROJECT

Kenilworth Improvement Club Also Talks of Other Work.

The Kenilworth Improvement Club resumed meetings Monday night by a session at the home of Thomas H. Compton, on Gladstone avenue. A Van Hoimissen was present and exhibited the profile of the proposed bridge across the Williams River at East Mill and Second and Clay and Front streets.

In the matter of parks, E. F. Mouldenbauer called attention to a nine-acre tract on Kelly avenue which he said would make a good park. It was mentioned, however, that a thirty-acre tract on Powell and East Twenty-sixth streets had been selected as a park for that neighborhood, and the club decided it would favor any location that might be selected, a park being the thing wanted.

The proposed twelve-inch water main on the Section Line road, was considered. The club was doubtful as to how this pipe-line should be paid for, as it had not been ordered before the new
