Another boy was with him at the time and with the assistance of I. N. Williams, the injured boy was taken to the office of Dr. A. W. Botkin, who set the broken bone. The fracture was reduced. This is the most recent of a series of accidents at this point. A number of vehicles have met disaster at this intersection, but no one was injured before. It is a dark place and very dangerous. There is no light here. Every man is liable to run right at this point on account of the danger, but it was placed at West avenue, a great many people pass every night.

GRAPES FROM IRRIGATED LAND—Substantial proof of what irrigation can accomplish was brought to Portland yesterday from a man who has been growing grapes at Irrigon. The evidence consisted of splendid samples of muscat and tokay grapes and Alberta peaches. Mr. Carson reports that one of his neighbors this year raised five tons of grapes on an acre of ground and refused an offer of 3 cents per pound for the crop and vines. The irrigation district of which Irrigon is a part enjoys more sunshine in a year than does California and it is for this reason that the land is so admirably adapted to growing grapes and peaches.

Upon entering the church Sunday morning to conduct the services, Rev. Father Gregory met the strange German who pretended to be a priest. While the services were in progress the supposed sick man left the building and a few minutes later was discovered by one of the church attendants in the residence of the priest but the stranger disappeared suspicion by explaining that Rev.
