RIVAL COUNTIES STRIVE FOR PRIZE

Farm Exhibits at State Fair Promise to Exceed All Previous Displays.

WILL BE VILLAGE OF TENTS

Camping Privileges for 600 Have Already Been Applied For. Bands and Shows to Furnish Entertainment.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 11.—(Special.)—Seven counties will compete this year at the State Fair for the honor of being pronounced the best agricultural section of the state, as evidenced by a State Fair exhibit. These counties are Benton, Clatsop, Columbia, Yamhill, Polk, Marion and Lane. Linn County intended to enter the competition and had prepared the greater portion of an exhibit, but the collection of produce was destroyed by fire, so that the undertaking had to be abandoned. The work of putting the exhibits in place has already begun and as there is keen competition it is safe to say hibbs in place has already begin and as there is keen competition it is safe to say that there will be shown in this depart-ment a larger variety of superior products than could be grown in any other state in the Union.

Oregon's cilmate and soil are noted for the large variety of products they produce to advantage, but only when specimens of all these grains, grassos, vegetables, fruits, etc., are brought together in one place does one realize and fully appreciate the extent of Oregon's resources. Because the county exhibits encourage farmers in preparing complete exhibits this department has been speciment. courage farmers in preparing complete exhibits this department has been spe-cially favored by the State Fair managecially favored by the State Fair management and some large premiums have been offered. The first prize is $309; second, $500; third, $200; fourth, $150; fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth prizes, $100 each. Aside from these prizes, aggregating $1300, the most important premiums offered in the agricultural department are those for individual farm exhibits. The products entered in this competition must all be produced on a single farm. It is understood that there will be several inderstood that there will be several ontestants, and one is already here—Mrs. A. Wolfe, of Falls City, who has been a State Fair exhibitor for nearly 30 years and who has carried off a number of large premiums in the past. She is now putting her exhibit in place in the payilion. The premiums offered in this contest are, first, $75; second, $50; third, $35.

Milking Machines in Operation.

The dairy department of the State Fair this year will be under the supervision of a woman, for the first time. While there has been no complaint of the manner in which the men have been running the department, it is expected that a woman will introduce many new ideas in the way of displaying products and entertaining visitors who are seeking information regarding Oregon dairies. The new superregarding Oregon dairies. The new super-intendent of this department is Mrs. S. A. Yoakum, of Marshfield, who owns and successfully operates an up-to-date dairy and who, by the way, is one of the first to make practical use of miking ma-chines. She has arranged to have milk-ing machines in operation at the fair this was necessary this year to accommodate the large number of breeders who desire to exhibit their birds. The fact that Oregon is an inporter of eggs and could as well supply its own market, makes it important that attention be called to the superiority of pure-bred fowls. The management has spared no effort to make the poultry exhibit a success. H. C. Shell-house, of Portland, is superintendent of Campers at the Fair Grounds will be more numerous this year than ever be-fore. A large proportion of the space at the camp grounds has already been as-signed by Albert Tosler, who is in charge, and who is given the title of Mayor of the camp village. He has compiled an al-phabelical list of campers who have secured space and his list contains 900 names. It will be seen that the name "village" is not inappropriate, for there are many incorporated cities in Oregon with much smaller population than the camp grounds will have next week. Grovery stores and meat markets are close cery stores and meat markets are close cery stores and meat markets are close by and there are hydrants at short inter-vals where good, pure water can be se-cured, so that everything is made con-venient for the campers. The camp grounds are thoroughly cleaned of rub-hish every year at the close of the fair, and as there is abundant shade and a good growth of grass there could hardly be a more attractive place in which to be a more attractive place in which to pitch a tent for a week's stay.

The State Fair management has made arrangements for the entertainment of visitors at all times. McEiroy's band has been engaged to furnish music at the races and at a free public entertainment in the auditorium each exemple. in the auditorium each evening. A num-ber of moving picture shows and other low-priced enterfainments have secured concessions and w l be ready to amuse the public.

ROAD'S TAX VALUE BOOSTED

Tacoma Eastern Assessed at $1,-900,000; Last Year at $233,689.

OLYMPIA, Wash, Sept. 11.—(Special.)—The State Board of Railroad Commissioners today fixed the value of the Tacoma Eastern Railroad for taxation purposes at $1,900,000 and so reported to the Tax Commissioners. The latter board, if it adopts the 60 per cent basis, will therefore fix the road's sesesament this year at $1,140,000 as against $233,689 last year. These figures deal solely with the railroad operof the actual cost value of which the Railroad Commission found to be $3,059,863. The difference between cost value and taxing value is found by the Commis sion to be due to the fact that the road is chiefly engaged in handling timber products, traffic which will soon be gome, with no business in sight to take its place. Aside from the operat-ing property the Tax Commission finds the road has property of a cost value of $450,480 not used for railroad purwhich includes about $25,000 for poses, which includes about $25,000 for the Rainler Park Hotel and property at Tacoma and along the line. Aside from the $1,900,000 assessment on railroad property, the road, of course, will pay taxes on local assessments of this mmercial property.

Superintendents' Conterence Takes Up Question o. To larging Irreducible School Fund-Convention Is Well Attended.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 11.—(Special.)— The conference of School Superintendents of the several counties of Oregon closed this afternoon, and the Superintendents departed for their homes. That the County Superintendents are taking a deep interest in their work is evident from the fact that 28 out of the 23 in the state were present, and most of those who were not here were unavoidably detained. Each of them came at his own expense, and this expense was heavy, especially in the case of Superintendents coming from as far away as Burns and Lakeview. The most important matters brought hefore the Superintendents' Convention today were the raising and apportion-ing of school funds. In discussing these questions the convention unanimously indorsed the recommendations of the special committee of the State Teachers' Association, at the session

last June. To Ask Legislature for Relief.

The State Teachers' Association committee took the position that plan should be devised whereby irreducible state school fund could be enlarged sufficiently so that it, togeth-er with the county fund, would insure not less than six months of school for oach district in the state.

They proposed that the Legislature be asked to provide two forms of relief: First, a temporary relief be placed in the state school fund for use each year and a portion of the funds now raised through indirect taxation. now raised through indirect taxation, the amount to be gradually diminished as the permanent fund increased. Second. permanent relief to be established by the state's taking possession of its unappropriated water powers and leasing them, crediting the proceeds to the principal of the irreducible state school fund; also that the inheritance tax raised by the state be credited to the irreducible state school fund.

Change in Dividing Funds.

The committee also recommended a change in the basis of apportionment of school funds in proportion to the number of teachers employed and the daily attendance of the pupils in school. They considered this plan more equit-able than apportioning according to the school census, as is now done. As basis for their conclusions, they took the exact conditions in the counties of Josephine, Lane, Marion and Umatilla.
