LASHES OFFICER WITH WHIP

THIEF FIGHTS FIERCELY AFTER LONG-STREET CHASE.

Detective Shafer Captures Leo D. Goldman, Who Tries to Escape in Buggy After Robbery.

Leo D. Goldman, believed to be partially demented, attempted a daring and sensational robbery in the immediate vicinity of police headquarters yesterday afternoon, and was finally captured, only after an exciting chase and battle with Detective Shafer.

The chase led for a block directly past the police station and up Second street for a number of blocks. Goldman was driving in a buggy, while the officer was on foot, but put up a desperate fight when finally overtaken. He lashed the officer furiously across the face and body with a buggy whip.

Goldman drove to the jewelry store of L. A. Shube, Third and Oak streets, left the horse unhitched, and went into the store. There he asked to see a revolver, explaining the kind of weapon he desired to purchase. The man behind the counter showed him several weapons, one of which Goldman picked up, apparently for the purpose of examining it more closely.

Suddenly he dashed from the store into the street with the weapon in his hand, and sprang into the buggy. He lashed the horse into a run and turned from Third street into Oak. Passing police headquarters in a dead run, he turned into Second street, and as he did

BRIDGES DELAY NEW LINE

NORTH BANK TRAINS REACH PORTLAND NEXT MONTH.

Plans for Celebration Held Back by Uncertainty of Date Road Will Be Completed.

After long delays in installing the machinery of the new North Bank road bridges across the Columbia and Willamette Rivers, it is stated by officials of the road that the inauguration of train service into this city will probably not be accomplished before next month. It had been hoped to have both bridges completed and trains running into this city by the middle of September. But this has been found to be impossible and it is regarded as almost certain that the line will not be ready before October.

The celebration to be given under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce to mark the opening of the road had been scheduled in a tentative way for September but this event has been postponed because of the delayed completion of the bridges. The Chamber of Commerce, which is sending out invitations in conjunction with the other commercial organizations of the city, is somewhat embarrassed in issuing the invitations because of the uncertainty of the date when the formal opening of the line and the attendant festivities can be held. James J. Hill, Howard Elliott and other prominent officials of the Hill system have been invited and their acceptances have been conditional upon the date of the opening being at such a time as they can get away from their headquarters.

A celebration without Mr. Hill and his

ASSOCIATES WOULD BE UNSATISFACTORY

in every way and it is hoped that they will be able to attend. When the invitations were first sent out, it was thought the new road would be opened in August. Then when that was found impossible, a date early in September was fixed upon. Now it will be October, it is believed, before the trains will be running and the celebration to mark the advent of a new railroad to Portland will be held.

Engineer Crosby, who is completing the bridges, is rushing the work with all possible speed, but the installation of the machinery to turn the draw spans is understood to be the cause of the delay. Missing parts of the machinery have to be supplied from the Eastern factories and this causes delay.

It is hoped now that the celebration marking the opening of the new line may be held early in October, at any rate not later than the middle of the month.

SUMMER SERVICE DISCONTINUED.

Special Saturday and Sunday beach service over the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad has been discontinued, the last trip under the Summer schedule having been made Sunday. All other trains on the Astoria & Columbia will be continued until September 30, when the schedule will be rearranged with the idea of giving the best service during the Winter months.
