

BRIS LIGAT... BRIS RECORD

Taft Retaliates on Democratic Candidate for Assaults Made on Him.

ISSUES HE WOULD FORGET

Free Silver, Philippine Independence, Government Ownership All Cast Aside - Events Kill Charge of Militarism.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 14.—Asserting that his official record, his speech of acceptance and subsequent utterances are ample indications of his own political position, William H. Taft today replied to Mr. Bryan's comment on the Roosevelt letter by switching the spotlight of inquiry back to Mr. Bryan's own political record and making an analysis thereof. This is Mr. Taft's reply:

In my notification speech and in other speeches made since, I attempted to make clear my position on all of the issues of the campaign. If Mr. Bryan has been unable to understand them, I cannot make them clearer. I stand on my record in the past and what I have said.

Mr. Bryan should devote a little time to his own record, which he seems to be struggling to separate himself with all the adroitness and guile of a politician for an issue which he can not elect. The realness with which Mr. Bryan in successive Presidential campaigns has passed from one paramount issue to another shows that the chief consideration which he has advocated for reforms, and a yet of having the event demonstrate what a colossal failure he would have made in each instance had he been permitted to carry his proposals into the policies of the country. He does not say whether he is still in favor of the free coinage of silver.

Former Paramount Issues.

He does not now answer the question whether, if he were President and a majority should arise in which he would be called to exercise his discretion affirmative to maintaining the tariff, he would exercise that discretion. He has not permitted himself to discuss in this campaign the issues which he has declared, and in respect to which the policy of the Republican party has been vindicated by the event, so that tranquility and good government exist in the Philippine Islands and even the independence of the Republic has been secured.

He now says he favors the more rigid regulation of the railroads, and he therefore he was in favor of government ownership. We hear nothing from him on this subject. He has not prescribed a platform not only as an announcement of principles but as a protection against uncomfortable issues. He has not promised to preserve the peace with respect to government ownership, which by his more announcement showed his lack of the watchful quality.

Not Father of Rooseveltism.

He professes to have been the father, and now to be the heir, of Rooseveltism. He is, and yet in no campaign of three in which he has taken part, and two of which he himself led, did he make them the paramount issue. Instead, during the Parker campaign he took occasion to charge Mr. Roosevelt with imitatorism and was being completely subject to the influence of corporations, only to see him win the greater success triumph at the world and secure such an effective stamping out of corporate abuses as to elicit the admiration of the entire country.

Mr. Bryan professes to be the great friend of labor, and yet he was one of the chief supporters in the passage of the Gorman-Wilson bill that made labor helpless for four years. He has proposed a remedy for the disasters to which labor was thus exposed the issuing of a 50-cent dollar, which would have cut in half such wages as there were and would have led to the hardest kind of a struggle on labor's part to restore its wages to its equivalent under the gold standard.

Bryan's Defeat's Fortunate.

The country has been most fortunate that the failure of Mr. Bryan's railroad proposition has been exposed. It is the cost of putting them into actual governmental practice, and will be for the benefit of the danger of four years depression to which it would be exposed in case of Mr. Bryan's election. It is the benefit of the Republican success in November and subsequent prosperity and by a clinching of the Roosevelt policies, he may be shown to be a prophet without honor.

Mr. Taft spent the latter part of the day in the preparation of the two speeches he is to make tomorrow—the first to a delegation from Greenfield, Ind.; the other to the Methodist negro preachers of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Pennsylvania.

Mr. Taft will be 51 years old tomorrow, and already congratulations are being received on that event. The well-wishes are coming both by letter and postal card. The candidate was born in Cincinnati September 15, 1857.

Moore's Criticism of Gompers.

Willis L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau, arrived from Washington today for the purpose of urging Mr. Taft to make frequent speeches to labor organizations. Before returning East, Mr. Moore, after stating that his sympathies were with organized labor as one having been an active member of a labor organization, and having later made a scientific study of labor problems, had this to say respecting the position taken by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor: "I approve of the decision reached some months ago by the representatives of the constituent bodies of the American Federation of Labor to stand by their friends and to punish their enemies, but in company with many other friends of labor I resent the narrow partisan attitude of Mr. Gompers and a part of the executive council of the American Federation in their effort to impose upon the Republican members of organized labor, as well as their Democratic comrades, by falsely charging Mr. Taft with being the father of injunctions and an enemy of labor. Instead of Gompers attempting to decide who are enemies of labor and who are friends, why does he not give the facts with regard to the record of the two leading candidates for the Presidency and then rely upon the high intelligence and loyalty of the individual members to decide each for himself."

Wanted—80 Pianists

Who Will Join in a Unique Grand Piano-Playing Revue?

Several of the lady enthusiasts who visited the extraordinary display of grand pianos at Ellers Piano House yesterday thought it would be a wonderful experiment for them to be played in unison.

A number of pianists immediately offered their services. If a sufficiently large number of pianists can be secured while the assortment remains more or less complete, arrangements will be made for an event of this kind. Eighty people—160 hands—to play simultaneously on 40 grand pianos.

Such an undertaking would be absolutely unique in the history of music, and probably never can be duplicated. Pianists of ability wishing to participate in this interesting concert, are invited to report in person or by telephone—Exchange 23 or A 255—to our Mr. Louis F. Bruce for particulars.

The performance will not be of a public character, but merely for the enjoyment of participants and a very limited number of their friends. Please apply at once. Ellers Piano House Trunk Co., 132 Sixth, opp. Oregonian.
