MURPHY DECLARES FOR JUDGE GERARD

Up-State Delegates Insist on Nomination of Lewis S. Chanler.

LATTER CONNER'S CHOICE

Fight Over Governorship in New York Democratic Convention Assumes Definite Shape—Assail Hughes' Administration.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 14.—At the conclusion of a day of extended and significant conferences, participated in by practically all of the state leaders who are here, the nebulous conditions surrounding the nomination by the Democratic state convention of a candidate for Governor, took definite form and the problem tonight is declared to have been reduced to a choice between Lieutenant-Governor Lewis S. Chanler, who is being urged by State Chairman William J. Conners, and Justice James W. Gerard, of New York city, who is announced as the choice of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall.

The race seems to have resolved itself into a contest between the upstate delegates, who are declared to be strongly in favor of Mr. Chanler, and the Tammany delegates, with their allies throughout the state, who will follow the suggestion of Mr. Murphy.

Gerard Long Prominent.

Justice Gerard has long been prominent in Democratic councils in New York city and was elected last Fall to the Supreme Court bench. It was announced from authoritative sources that there was an absolute understanding between Conners and Murphy and that all talk of serious trouble between them is without the slightest foundation. Mr. Murphy's word as to a gubernatorial candidate has been awaited here with a great deal of anxiety as having preponderating weight in the settlement of the nomination.

The name of Supreme Court Justice Philip H. Dugro, of New York city, it was intimated, was looked upon by Tammany Hall with favor second only to that of Justice Gerard himself for Governor. The names of practically all other candidates took on secondary interest.

The friends of Congressman William Sulzer declared they felt sure of 125 votes.

Work for Chemung Man.

A delegation of 100 Elmira Democrats arrived this afternoon by special train to urge the nomination of Colonel David D. Robinson, of Chemung, for Governor.

The most important of the day's conferences was held in the room of National Chairman Mack. Conners, Murphy, Daniel F. Cohalan, of Tammany, and one or two other lieutenants of Mr. Murphy were present. The entire situation was gone over and the conference was in progress two hours.

Mr. Mack said that neither he nor the National committee had any desire to interfere with state affairs in any way. Their only concern, he said, is for harmony and for success in November. The availability of candidates was discussed.

Plan to Attack Hughes.

Definite progress was made today on the ground work of a platform. The Hughes administration will be attacked as one of gross extravagance, especially in the matter of the creation of a public service commission, which it will be declared, has given no adequate return for the immense amount of expenditure involved. The platform will assert that, far from bettering transit conditions in Greater New York, the commission has seen them grow steadily worse.

Practically every detail of Governor Hughes administration will be attacked, except his advocacy of the anti-race track gambling bills. The only reference made which will approach that subject, will be a declaration in favor of personal liberty, freedom of thought and speech and the enactment of new sumptuary laws.

Bryan to Be Indorsed.

The platform will indorse the candidacy and the policies of W. J. Bryan in glowing terms. The entire Denver platform was heartily approved.

The first session will be held at noon tomorrow when ex-Justice M. J. O'Brien will deliver his address as temporary chairman. After the committees have been named adjournment will be taken until Wednesday morning when Judge Alton B. Parker, the permanent chairman, will deliver his address and the convention will settle down to business.

McCarren Men May Bolt.

The Democratic state committee at a meeting tonight voted to seat the contesting anti-McCarren delegates in the sixth and ninth districts of Kings County. Only five members of the committee sided with McCarren.

Senator McCarren called a caucus of the Kings County delegation, following the meeting of the state committee tonight, at which it was decided to vote in convention under the unit rule and in the event of the unseating of any delegates by the committee on credentials to leave the convention in a body.

FIGHT TO BEAT HUGHES

which were accorded upon the mention of the names of Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Hughes or the Presidential nominee, W. H. Taft, himself.

Joke at Root's Expense.

Mr. Root's address consumed a little less than an hour and a half in delivery. The great body of delegates and alternates, numbering more than 2000 persons, and the people in the galleries heard the speech with evident approval. It dealt almost exclusively with National matters, but began with a tribute to the work of Mr. Hughes and the state administration in general.

An amusing episode during the speech occurred when Mr. Root repudiated one inference, which he attributed to Mr. Bryan, that the enormous popular majority accorded the Republican National ticket in 1904 was obtained by corrupt use of money. The convention was heartily cheering this sentiment when the band broke out with the familiar strains of "Arrah, gowan, you're only foolin'." The crowd caught on almost instantly and began to laugh. Mr. Root evidently did not recognize the tune and seemed perplexed and even annoyed by the general laughter. It quickly subsided and he proceeded without seeing the joke at all.

Taft Indorsed With Shout.

A feature of the session was the introduction by Charles W. Anderson, New York, the colored member at large of the state committee, who is a Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue for the Second District, of a resolution paying tribute to the character and public service of Mr. Taft. The resolution was adopted with a shout and the secretary was instructed to telegraph it to Mr. Taft.

Mr. Root said in part.

Just a decade has passed since we were assembled in this place engaged in the business of nominating Theodore Roosevelt for Governor of New York. We are now to nominate a successor to Charles E. Hughes as Governor, and we are to perform that duty according to our wisdom, our loyalty to party and to country, in such a way that the Empire State shall surely cast her electoral vote for the Republican candidate to succeed the same Theodore Roosevelt as President of the United States.

We have a record which forbids discouragement or doubt in the performance of our task. We can turn to the administrations, now drawing to a close, both in the state and in the Nation, and with confidence ask every American voter to say whether they have not met all the great fundamental requisites of good government, whether they do not justify the belief that it is best for the country to keep in power the party which is responsible for them and is entitled to credit for them.

Root's Eulogy of Hughes.

That there have been special and notable characteristics of resemblance in the two administrations, the National and the state, Secretary Root declared was demonstrated by the fact that neither Governor nor President had relied upon that view of expediency in the conduct of public affairs which is to be gained by secret conferences in closed rooms; by the further fact that much more than ordinary vigor and sternness in the enforcement of law had characterized the conduct of the executives.

Of the attitude of the Administration in the matter of public gambling, Mr. Root said that the duty of suppressing it at all hazards had become compulsory and inevitable; that it was as much an ordained reform as the enactment of laws by the National Government to prevent discrimination by the railroads. The efforts put forward by the state administration to bring violators to justice was described by Secretary Root in the following language:

The novelty of this strenuous law enforcement has not consisted in applying any new theories of governmental control or in the exercise of any new powers, but rather in breaking up the sleepy old methods of procedure, in securing practically adequate administrative statutes to give life to the old constitutional and statutory declarations of general rules which were by themselves ineffective, and in putting force and momentum into the attacks on established and customary evils. Of this feeling, awakened by Republican law enforcement, the Democratic party now gladly takes the benefit, and one of the serious questions of this campaign is to be whether the people of the country are going to permit the Republican party to suffer for having enforced the law in the state and the Nation, or whether they are going to back up law enforcement by their approval shown in their votes for the Republican candidate.

Taft Is Logical Successor.

At great length Secretary Root reviewed the work of the various departments of the National Government during the present Administration. This he characterized as the practical effectiveness of action which should be highly satisfactory to all the people of the country. Continuing Mr. Root said:

The substantial question for the voters to answer in November is, how shall we secure a continuance of the good government under which we have attained to all our blessings? How select public agents who will maintain the peace and order and prosperity we now have, and at the same time press forward and make practically effective the reforms which this Republican administration has inaugurated and upon the value and beneficence of which all parties are agreed?

Plainly the true successor to this great duty is Secretary Taft. His wide experience and long years of successful service under heavy responsibility as jurist, legislator, administrator, his intimate acquaintance with the public affairs of our country, internal and external, prove his wisdom, his skill and his capacity. The confidence and sympathy and intimate association with which he has stood by and aided President Roosevelt in every stage of the policies which by the common consent of both parties now lie before us to be continued and developed in practical effectiveness indicate him as the best possible man to continue those policies.

Turning his attention to the slogan of Democracy, "Shall the people rule?" the speaker added:

Are not the people ruling through their chosen Executive, so far as his part of the Government is concerned? Has not every Congressional district been represented in Congress by the men to whom a majority of its voters selected? Is not every state represented in the Senate by Senators chosen by its own Legislature, selected by the people of the state for the performance of that very duty?

Comparison of Platforms.

Secretary Root then took up the more important planks of the Democratic platform, discussing the reforms to which the party's candidate are pledged. On this subject the Secretary said:

Upon the attitude and action of the Government toward trusts, railroads and all the great corporations there is no substantial issue between the two parties. The great difference between the two parties is that in dealing with these evils the Republican party shows efficient performance and proved competency, while the Democratic party tenders nothing but campaign promises.

Secretary Root concluded his speech as follows:

What is furnished by the record is the Democratic party at large to show that it is competent to maintain the prosperity we have and execute the promises of reform it tenders? No proof whatever of that is offered. All the evidence we have is the other way. The majority of us have not yet forgotten the second administration of Grover Cleveland, which ended on the 4th of March, 1897. The Democracy then had its opportunity to show the world what it could do with government; for it possessed the Executive office, a majority of the Senate and a majority of the House. Its opportunity to exercise that control for the public benefit was wasted. Discord and confusion reigned throughout the entire four years. Incapacity to reach political conclusions or to take any effective action was demonstrated. No promises were kept. No reforms were accomplished.

CAPTURED BY POSSE

Slayers of Charles Thomet Overtaken.

CAUGHT AFTER LONG CHASE

Fugitives Successfully Elude Pursuit in Mountainous District North of Spokane—Victim Killed Out of Revenge.

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—A dispatch received late tonight by the Spokesman-Review from Conconully says that the murderers of Charles Thomet, the Midway Hotel keeper, have been captured between Riverside and Omak. Later details cannot be secured as the posses which are believed to have ended the long man hunt are far from telephonic communication.

Charles Thomet was shot to death in the barroom of his hotel in Midway by two masked men, who, it is believed, came to the place with the intention of murdering him and not of robbing the hotel. He had been active in pursuing the two men for other hold-ups committed within the week previous.

After the shooting, the desperadoes took to the rugged mountainous country surrounding Midway and though hundreds of men, including many of the homesteaders and prospectors of the vicinity, had been on their trail, many of them in the hope of taking down the large reward offered by the Dominion government, the fugitives long eluded pursuit.

FIND GRAVE OF ODDFELLOW

Boise Lodge Trying to Identify Grave of Immigrant of 1852.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Who was H. S. Webb; where did he come from, and to what branch of the Oddfellow Lodge did he belong? Webb died August 13, 1852.

In a lonely spot on a high bluff overlooking the valley of the Snake River, at the head of Clark's grade on the "Old Immigrant" trail to Oregon, seven miles from Twin Falls, leaning slightly toward the east, was found recently a weather-beaten board which is of absorbing interest to all Oddfellows. At the head of the crude tombstone, which is made from part of a wagon box of cottonwood, is carved the three links of the Oddfellows Lodge and the worn and faded lettering "H. S. Webb, died August 13, '52."

Three other graves were found in the same vicinity but none were marked. Nearby were also found a few rusty wagon tires and other irons which would indicate that the spot had been a camping place.

There were but 28 grand lodges in existance in 1852 in the Oddfellows Order. Webb, therefore, must have been from the Far East. The grand lodge, which convenes here next month, will take up an investigation and endeavor to locate his relatives. The tombstone is now in care of Past Grand Patriarch E. E. Emerson, of this city, and will be exhibited at the grand lodge conclave.

BULLET HITS WOMAN'S HAT

Mrs. J. M. Buttly Has Narrow Escape From Injury.

While a Mount Scott car was outbound last night about 8 o'clock miscreants fired a rifle and narrowly missed killing one of the passengers. The bullet struck the hat of Mrs. J. M. Buttly, who lives near the Archer Place station on this line.

The shooting occurred between the Archer Place and Myrtle Park stations. Motorman Inness stopped the car immediately and together with Conductor Day made a search of the neighborhood without finding any clew to the source of the danger. Mrs. Buttly had a narrow escape as the bullet cut feathers from her hat. In her arms was a 3-year-old child. Both were badly frightened. The officials of the company were immediately notified and are making an investigation.

SAFE BAFFLES BURGLARS

Unsuccessful Attempt Made to Secure $1800 in Furniture Store.

Burglars made an attempt at an early hour this morning to break open the safe in the furniture store of William Gadsby & Sons, at First and Washington streets. They chiselled off the handle on the door and partly destroyed the lock but were not successful in reaching the inner compartments. The safe contained about $1800.

Deputy Sheriff E. J. Wilkinson, who is employed as a watchman in that neighborhood, left the front of the store at midnight and returned at 1 o'clock to find that the lights had been extinguished. He entered the building and discovered a number of tools on the floor near the safe. The burglars had left the store by a side door on First street. The only article missing was a revolver.

UNION IS SUED AS TRUST

Boycotted Manufacturer Demands Damages From United Hatters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Depositions are being taken in this city in a suit brought by D. E. Loewe & Company, of Danbury, Conn., against the United Hatters of North America for the recovery of $100,000 damages alleged to have been sustained by the manufacturing company as the result of a boycott declared against it by the Union.

The action is taken under the Sherman anti-trust act and is said to be the first effort to put the act into effect against a labor organization.

ANGRY MOB IN HOPYARD

One of Krebs Bros. Said to Have Had Trouble With Employes.

"The Polk County hop yield is said to be not as good as last year," stated C. E. Hicks, publisher of the West Side Enterprise, who was a Portland visitor last night. "However, from what is given out from the big Krebs yards, the yield is running about 80 bales over hte yield of last year.

"In connection with the Krebs yield there is a rumor that some difficulty may arise over weights. In fact, it is said that one of the Krebs brothers was mobbed today on account of a dispute over weights, and that before the season is ended there will be more serious trouble. Just what the merits of the case may be is not now known, but that a rumpus has been kicked up there is no doubt.

"In Independence the operation of local option has worked to the disadvantage of the town and the general opinion is that the town has lost ground on account of the movement.

"Our Taft club is to start the campaign the coming week and is strongly organized.

"The proposed Commercial Club of Independence is now an assured fact and its organization will be effected on a strong basis in the next few days."

FORDNEY VISITS ABERDEEN

Michigan Congressman Says Conditions Are Improved in East.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Congressman Fordney, of Michigan, reached the city today from the East. Mr. Fordney says that business conditions in the East have greatly improved and people look for a brisk trade this Fall and Winter. Crops everywhere are abundant and the farmer is happy. In Michigan, especially, the crops are good. The lumber market is improving and there is a better demand and active inquiry.

Speaking of politics, Mr. Fordney says that Bryan's policies and utterances are worn threadbare and no longer appeal to the rank and file. Taft in his opinion, will have a walkaway in the Presidential race.

TAFT

Also Makes Speech Records for the Edison Phonograph

WE are now able to offer twelve Records made by William Howard Taft for use on the Edison Phonograph.

The selection of Edison Records by Mr. Taft as a vehicle for giving the telling points of his Speech of Acceptance the widest currency is another tribute to the genius of Edison and the Phonograph which he has made.

Some newspapers say that Taft is unwilling that Bryan should monopolize so useful a campaign ally as the Edison Phonograph. Whether that is true or not, here are the Edison Records made by Taft himself, giving his voice and inflection upon subjects of interest to every voter.

Whether you hear Taft speak personally or not, you can get almost the same effect by listening to these Edison Records.

The twelve Taft Records are as follows:

Foreign Missions	The Philippines
Irish Humor	Enforced Insurance of Bank Deposits
Republican and Democratic Treatment of Trusts	Jury Trial in Contempt Cases
The Rights of Labor	The Farmer and the Republican Party
Unlawful Trusts	Rights and Progress of the Negro
Function of Next Administration
Roosevelt Policies

These Records may be heard at all Edison dealers. 35 cents each.
