Ote Johnson's home-run drive over the right-garden wall in the third inning of yesterday's baseball contest between Portland and San Francisco decided one of the best pitchers' battles seen on the Vaughn-street lot in many a day. Incidentally, the terrible Swede's healthy swing resulted in the only tally corralled by either club, for Long Bobby Groom was at his best, and the Seals were absolutely helpless when it came to negotiating runs. Groom's feat makes two whitewash performances in a row for Portland, and this sort of baseball is the BY W. J. PETRAIN Portland, and this sort of baseball is kind that makes the fans sit up and take to win. Portland earned the game fairly and squarely, for the home guard out-played the Seals in every inning. "Siv-ers" Henley was on the mound for the visitors, and bis work was of the high-est class. He worked hard to win, and est class. He worked hard to win, and up to the time he was chased by Umpire Flynn, who, by the way, is a decided improvement upon most of the officials seen in these parts of recent years, "Slivers" pitched grand ball. He had retired the first two Portlanders to face him in the third inning, and missed calculations on the home team's heavy hitter. This resulted in Johnson rapping a home-run clout, on which there were re frille, nor the slightest doubt as to its legality, for the ball sailed high over legality, for the ball sailed high over right garden enclosure and bounded the Exposition building adjacent to Ma'chioz and Mobler both ran as soot Me'chior and Mobiler both ran as soon as the ball was hit, but one glance at it sailing high in the air was enough for them, and knowing that further effort at fielding on their part was futile, they halted and calmly watched the ball sail out of sight and out of the lot.

Beck and Hildebrand, of the visiting club, each secured a two-play swat off Groom's delivery, but the lanky one was there with the required foodsers on the following batamen, and the sluggers following batamen, and the sluggers were left on the sacks to contemplate what might have been. The Seals ac-cuired three hits, including the aforementioned doubles, but there was nothing doing when the same would have been turned into runs. On the other hand, Portland found Henley frequently, but he was equally good in pinches, and prevented the home guard from connecting safely when hits meant runs. In the second inning, Port-land really earned two runs, but Um-pires Cheyne and Flynn ruled that Bob-Groom's homer between the section of the right field fence was a hit inside of the right field fence was a hit inside the grounds, and Whalling, who tried to score on the hit, was tossed out at the plate. Most every one present is satis-fied that Bobby should have had a home run for the hit, but as he won the game anyway, they are content with the de-cisten.

Henley switched balls on the umpire, and objected when ordered to use the ball originally handed him by the official. The resulting argument caused "Slivers" to be banished from the scene, and Kid Mohler sent a youngster named Griffn (no relation to H. D.) on the mound. The kid performed very well, for he disposed of the three men who faced him quite easily.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Although the sun shone glor! ously today, a biting wind prevailed and seriously interfered with the work of the fielders. Califf proved a better Arcleaguer than Samuels and won hands down. After the fourth inning Califf was steady, and but for an error on an easy chance, would have scored a shut-out. In the third Califf led off with a single and Streib was passed. Van Buren sacrificed and Samuels filled the bases by hitting Brinker. House-holder's single into left scored one and Fitzgerald's corking drive to the same icinity scored two more. In the seventh Boettiger's pass, Califf's sacrifice and Van Buren's single netted one run. In the eighth Boettiger made a bad heave to first on Hurley's grounder and Irby scored Hurley with a three-bagger. Butte loaded the bases in the first and fourth, but the locals tight-ened and prevented a score in either inning. Features of the game were Van Buren's magnificent catch in cen-ter, Hurley's swell catch of a foul fly against the fence and Spencer's work behind the bat. Score:

McCredie Makes Effort for Eight-Club Organization, but Los Angeles Stands Out for Continuous Baseball.

BY W. J. PETRAIN.

The session of the baseball moguls of the Pacific Coast, which has been in conference in Portland since last Friday, yesterday concluded without anything being definitely determined relative to the affiliation of Seattle, Tacoma and other Northwestern League towns with the Pacific Coast League.

The meeting seemed to be a gathering wherein all hands were working at cross purposes and no one was willing to make concessions whereby a new order of things could have been perfected. BY W. J. PETRAIN.

order of things could have been perfected.

Judge McCredie, of Portland, held out and is still insisting upon a league with four clubs in the North and four clubs in the South. This view of the matter proved entirely at variance with the wishes of Henry Berry, of Los Angeles, who is especially espousing the granting of continuous baseball at Los Angeles does not meet with the approval of the Portland magnates, nor does it look good to the fans, for this end of the circuit has already been the tail of a California kite long enough and does not relish the prospect of being a mere spot on the aforementioned kite instead. Portland is too prominent a factor in the success of Pacific Coast baseball to be continued in the role of caudal apcontinued in the role of caudal ap-pendage, and it therefore behooves the magnates from the Southland to con-cede something to this city.

Manager Berry, of Los Angeles, remarked that it would not be a good thing for the Pacific Coast League to take in Seattle and Tacoma, for the reason that it would require several years to build up strong teams in those cities—but at the same time he favors taking in Sacramento and putting an extra team in Los Angeles. Will Brother Berry kindly explain how he will put "strong enough" teams in those places, and why, if it, possible to do so these it is not enough" teams in those places, and why, if it is possible to do so there, it is not possible to do so in Seattle? While McCredle and Berry were argu-

While McCredie and Berry were arguing matters along the lines mentioned, D. E. Dugdale, Seattle's factorum in the baseball world, advanced his own argument, which was to the effect that the only fit place for Portland was in the Northwest League, and Dug was emphatic in his statement that it was the only circuit for Portland. The cherubic Seattle magnate was in the minority, however, for the only second he had to his argument was William H. Lucas, president of the Northwestern League, Judge McCredie held out for an eightclub league, and announced that he club league, and announced that he would continue to do so.

Berry's claims for continuous base-ball in Los Angeles, while satisfactory from a Los Angeles point of view, have but little charm for this end of the circuit. The southern end of the cir-cuit is a good baseball town, but so is Portland, and Portland is equally en-titled to consideration, but does not desire continuous baseball.

The baseball magnates met every day for hearly a week, and last night, after it was found that they were no nearer a solution of the problem than when they started in, it was decided to ad-Manager Dugdale and President Lucas left last night for Scattle, and Messrs. Berry and Ewing will leave shortly for California. And the anxious baseball fans will have to be satisfied with spe plation until something more definite develops.
