BEAR DELAYS CARS

Warship Pet Swims Ashore and Enjoys Frolic.

SAILORS ALARM POLICE

Wearry Citizens Compelled to Walk Home While Detailed Officers Capture the Animal on Telegraph Pole.

Escaping from its cage on the Italian cruiser Puglia, now in the harbor, a pet bear, mascot of the warship, leaped overboard Saturday night, swam ashore and set itself up in business at Crosby street and Holladay avenue.
 The bear is only a cub, but before being captured succeeded in viciously biting Motorman Hicks, of a Williams-avenue car, on the hand and leg, in completely tying up streetcar operations in that part of the city and causing hundreds of persons to walk home because of the delayed cars. Motorman Hicks finally lassoed the animal and took it to his home, 35 West Prescott street. Early yesterday morning the bear's absence from the warship was discovered and a delegation of excited Italian sailors called at police headquarters for aid in locating their pet. They were directed to the home of Motorman Hicks.
 The bear was presented to the crew of the cruiser two weeks ago. It has evidently liked the place, for it has shown no disposition to escape, but it was said to possess a remarkably well-developed desire to investigate everything in sight. Saturday night the animal escaped from its cage and began an excursion of the upper deck. In climbing about, it must have fallen overboard and once in the water the primeval instinct to free itself started him towards the shore, intuitively.
 Reaching the bank, bruis shook the water from his shaggy sides, then strolled leisurely east on Holladay avenue. Near Crosby street he entered a vacant lot on which are several trees

HARRIMAN LINE OFFICIALS

GUESTS AT UNIQUE DINNER

President Howard, of the Commonwealth Trust Company, Host at Banquet Made Notable by Numerous Attractive Features.

ONE of the most unique and elaborate social functions given in this city during the Summer season was the "Oregon dinner" in The Oaks grillroom, at which only Oregon products occupied places of honor on the menu. C. S. Howard, president of the Commonwealth Trust Company of St. Louis, was the host and the dinner was arranged as the finale to a pleasure trip over the O. W. P. lines, given by President Josephine of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company. The guests were 50 officials of the Harriman railway system, superintendents of motive power of the various parts of the system, with their wives and friends.

The grillroom was embellished in foliage, daintily sprinkled with the first colorings of Autumn leaves, ferns and Oregon grape. Garlands of vari-colored electric lights were suspended over the long table. The center piece was a miniature train of cars, with a locomotive, electric-lighted, with the fitting miniature accompaniments of block signal stations, watch-towers, etc. The center of the table was loaded with Oregon fruits, Oregon walnuts and everything that tended to illustrate the wonderful richness of the state's soil. The party, which included many Eastern people who had never been in the Pacific Northwest before, had for one of the appetizer courses a plate of crawfish. In an explanatory preface to his guests, when this course was brought forth, "Commonwealth Steel" Howard made a witty remark to the effect that "the art of eating crawfish consists in displaying the most grace with the least grease."
 Mr. Howard is an enthusiastic admirer of the state and it was his own idea to advertise Oregon by impressing upon the attention of his guests the fact that about everything the heart could wish in the way of variety at a feast came from Oregon. The railway officials were each presented with a souvenir menu of the occasion, having inscribed the auto-
