

SHOW WILL REACH ITS CLIMAX TODAY

Race Card Is Finest of Meet and Great Crowd Is Expected.

STORES CLOSE AT NOON

Big Livestock Parade Is Witnessed by School Children, and Judges Complete Work of Making Awards.

PROGRAMME FOR TODAY.

Two big races, in which records will probably be broken, are among the features of today's programme at the Pacific National Show. One race is for 2-05 pacers and the other for 2-10 trotters. There will be another trotting event and a pony race between local boys. John Caldwell, a trotter that is regarded as one of the very best, will try to lower the Pacific Coast trotting record. He already holds a record of 2:06 1/4. His owner thinks the speed of the local track should aid his horse in lowering the Coast record. Winners of premiums in the various stock shows will also be on exhibition today. Stores and business houses will close at noon so that their employees may attend.

This, the final day of the meet, will be the banner one at the Pacific National Show at the new grounds of the Country Club. Downtown stores and business houses generally throughout the city will close at noon to give their employees an opportunity to attend and an enormous crowd is expected.

A programme of meet, unsurpassed by any show, has been arranged, including a racing card of the equal of which has rarely been presented on the Pacific Coast. Records are expected to be broken in two of the harness events in which the best racing and trotting animals of the West have been entered. Both are for purses of $1500, and the Rapid Transit purse for 2-10 trotters have attracted a big list of entries. There will be another trotting event in addition to a running race.

Open Race for Runners.

The running race will cover a quarter of a mile and will be open to all runners of Portland or vicinity with a pony. A liberal prize will be offered the winner and no entrance fee is required.

Yesterday was certainly children's day at the grounds, for there were thousands of them in attendance, the bleachers being swarmed with youngsters. Public schools of the city closed at noon to give the children an opportunity to attend and see the big parade of prize-winning animals at 1 o'clock. And aside from the children it was one of the biggest crowds of the week.

The parade began promptly on schedule time and occupied almost an hour. Never in the history of the Northwest has there been a bigger and more valuable display of blooded livestock and prize-winning animals than was seen on the grounds of the Pacific National Show yesterday. The parade was more than a mile in length and included thoroughbred horses of all classes and the winners in the various classes of stock.

The animals will be on exhibition all day today and hundreds are expected to visit the grounds in the forenoon to see them. There were more visitors at the cattle barn yesterday than at any previous day of the week. Judges have concluded their work of deciding winners and awards have been made.

missing. She thinks he is over in British Columbia. She got her divorce.

Emma Knowles married C. E. Knowles in January of 1898. He got tired of her in September of 1904 and has been seen no more. She was given a divorce.

Margaret Yeats wanted a divorce from George Yeats because he isn't supporting her. Judge Cleland told her, however, that non-support is a criminal offense in Oregon but not grounds for divorce. So she will have to figure on a new plan of getting the decree.

Mrs. Waymire's Bail Forfeited.

The $750 in gold deposited for the appearance of Belle Waymire, under sentence for conspiring to blackmail Mayor Lane's name, went with a merry jingle into the county coffers, yesterday afternoon. An order was issued by Circuit Judge Gantenbein declaring the sum forfeit, inasmuch as Mrs. Waymire is supposedly out of the state and, under a misdemeanor charge outside the court's jurisdiction, no action could be taken looking toward her return to Oregon. But should she come here voluntarily at any time in the future, her arrest could be made on a bench warrant and she could be made to serve the four months sentence in jail regardless of the $750 forfeiture.

Fire Limit Law Sustained.

Permits for repairs on wooden buildings inside the city fire limits does not authorize enlargements, according to a decision made yesterday in a minor city suit which was taken on appeal before Circuit Judge Bronsough. James P. Jensen was recently arrested and convicted for violation of the building ordinance. He enlarged a building at 231 Madison street on a permit for repairs. He contended that the permit gave him the right but Judge Bronsough said it clearly did not.

ANCIENT RELIGIOUS RITE

Jewish New Year of Older Origin Than Source of Bible.

The feast of the New Year as celebrated by the Jews all over the world is perhaps one of the oldest if not the oldest religious festival still practiced. It is described in the Bible (Leviticus et al) and is evidently of older origin than the Biblical source. It has come to mean the renewal of the religious and moral reckoning by striking a balance and starting anew. It is often called and so the Bible describes it as "memorial day" when all misdeeds of the individual are remembered himself and recounted before his maker. As a calendar year it is reckoned as the 5623. It is celebrated by special prayers and songs with the blowing of the trumpet to assemble all to the faith once more and is the beginning of 10 days repentance concluding with the great fast day, the Day of Atonement.

Temple Beth Israel Services.

The New Year services at Temple Beth Israel commenced this morning at 10 o'clock. Rabbi Wise will deliver the sermon on "A Programme of Faith." The musical part of the service will be under the direction of Mrs. Rose Bloch Bauer. Strangers are welcome.

A SPLENDID BUFFET.

The Elegant Board of Trade Buffet Is Most Popular.

The new buffet recently opened by C. D. Elder in the new Board of Trade building, corner of Fourth and Oak streets, has met with the approval of the patrons of Portland, as is evidenced by the generous patronage that has been accorded this elegant place.

The feature, which is immensely appreciated, is the grand, sumptuous lunch which is served each day at the lunch hours. This lunch is not the usual ordinary affair, but is choice, as well as appetizing.

A choice line of liquors and cigars are dispensed. Many have remarked about the elegance and beauty of the furnishings and fixtures of the resort. If you want to see the finest buffet in the city, don't fail to visit the Board of Trade buffet.

Fireman Asks for Hearing.

"I desire an investigation by the fire committee, as I did not intentionally steal the cream," was the plea of C. E. Lindloff, formerly a city fireman, who was discharged two weeks ago for being absent from duty without leave. He was also accused of stealing some cream from a creamery in the neighborhood, but this he denies, and the matter will receive attention at the hands of the fire committee.

Sabin's Resignation Accepted.

The resignation of Robert L. Sabin, as a member of the City Executive Board, was officially transmitted to the Board at its session yesterday afternoon. The resignation was officially accepted without comment.

INQUIRY NOT ENDED

Executive Board to Continue Hydrant Investigation.

SWETT BLAMES THE CHIEF

Members Not Satisfied With Report of Committee, Which Fails to Fix Responsibility for Long Delay.

Sharp words were hurled at the three members of the fire committee of the City Executive Board during its session yesterday afternoon, over the report of the committee stating that it had been unable to fix responsibility upon any one for the neglect to inspect or take any action on 25 hydrants from May 2 to August 2. The committee's report referred the matter back to the Board "for further consideration." After considerable discussion this was adopted, which means that the matter is to receive more attention.

That Fire Chief Campbell is the object of the investigation, in so far as Thomas G. Greene, chairman of the police committee, and of Isaac Swett, the newest member of the Board, are concerned, there is no further doubt, in all candor, after hearing the report of the fire committee, which is composed of Marcus A. Fleischer, Richard Wilson and L. T. Peery, declared that, in his opinion, the blame was fixed and that the responsibility rests with Chief Campbell. The Chief was not present during the session.

Takes Exception to Report.

"I was present at the meetings of the fire committee when the matter of these hydrants was under consideration," said Mr. Swett, "and I must say, in all candor, that I cannot agree with the report of the committee. To my mind it was made clear that the responsibility rests with Chief Campbell; that he is to blame, and should make an explanation, but no explanation has been forthcoming. There certainly was negligence in the failure to test and accept or reject these hydrants, at a time when people all over the city were clamoring for them, and inasmuch as it was the duty of the Fire Department to test the hydrants, and they were not tested, I certainly cannot favor the adoption of the committee report."

Walter O. Haines, representative of the Hoge & Swift Company, contractors for the hydrants, said that if Chief Campbell is incompetent, Mayor Lane "certainly knows what to do with him." This was in reply to a statement by Mayor Lane, in which he said that he ordered the tests finally, under a committee of citizens told him that Chief Campbell said the Mayor was responsible for the delay.

"While it may be his responsibility," commented Mr. Haines, "yet, if one of his subordinates was dilatory, the Mayor knows what to do."

Should Give Them Hearing.

"If the Chief and the Water Board are going to be tried here," said Mr. Peery, "it seems to me that they should have representation. They are not present here at this time, and it seems to me that this discussion is out of place."

P. E. Sullivan raised a question of jurisdiction. The report of the committee whether the Executive Board could try the case, and moved its reference to the Water Board.

"I do not deem it a proper procedure to refer the case to the Water Board," said Mr. Peery. "The Water Board's responsibility in the premises was also questioned. The Water Board may be expert with a whitewash brush, for all that I know."

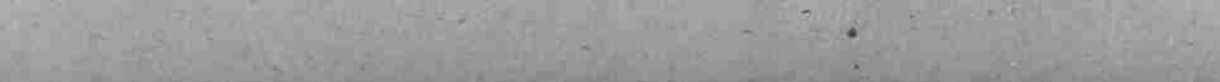

"I hardly think it courteous for this Board to try the case if we have no jurisdiction," said Mr. Peery, "but I would not want to try a case in which I had personal interest."

Up to this time Mr. Greene had not spoken, but he then said that, if the fire committee really wished the Board to consider the matter further, it was inconsistent to move to file the report. He said if the committee wanted further consideration, all right; but if it wanted to "kill" investigation, to proceed and file the report. The matter was temporarily adjourned by adopting the report.
