BEAMAN SCORES PINCHOT'S WORK

Vitriolic Attack on Forestry Chief at Irrigation Congress.

MAXWELL MAKES REPLY

John Barrett Tells of Progress of Irrigation Work in Southern Republics and Suggests International Congress in 1909.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 30.—The anticipated attack in the National Irrigation Congress upon the administration's forestry policy came at the morning session today, when D. C. Beaman, of Denver, in an address covering an hour, made a sweeping and severe arraignment of the administration of the forestry service by Gifford Pinchot. At the afternoon session George H. Maxwell, of Chicago, made a ringing response to the attack of the Colorado man which brought the defenders of the forestry service to their feet in a demonstration of approval. Several Western men took part in the discussion, some attacking, others defending the bureau, but the speech by Mr. Beaman and the reply of Mr. Maxwell overshadowed all events of the session.

Effort to Stop Speech.

An attempt was made to cut Mr. Beaman's speech short by a delegate who demanded that the time limit of 25 minutes be enforced. President Goudy declined to support the point of order and the address was completed without further interruption.

At the end of the address several questions were asked, one of them by John J. Fairweather, of California, who asked: "Is it true that Mr. Beaman is the paid attorney of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company?"

President Goudy ruled the question out of order, but Mr. Beaman replied, saying that he had been the company's attorney since its organization, but that the corporation had no interest at stake in the forestry problem, and that the policy of the bureau in "locking up the coal lands" was of vast benefit to the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company, in that it prevented competition from new coal fields.

Mr. Maxwell, editor of Maxwell's Talisman, of Chicago, and one of the founders of the Irrigation Congress, departed from the subject assigned to him on the programme and launched at once into the defense of the forestry service.

Maxwell Catches Congress.

His speech was frequently interrupted by prolonged applause. The speaker contended that the forestry service had made mistakes in administrative details, but he said that in the main it was going along the right line and aside from the inevitable errors which creep into the execution of any policy, there was no just ground for criticism.

He intimated that the attack upon the service was inspired by purely selfish motives and closed with an eloquent tribute to the work of Mr. Pinchot.

F. C. Finkle, of California, while defending the forestry service, made a brief argument in favor of a commission to which complaints as to the administration of reserves might be appealed.

John Barrett's Brilliancy.

John Barrett, director of the Bureau of American Republics made a brilliant address, describing the progress of irrigation through the American republics and urging an international congress in 1909 for which he said the governments of the several republics participating should appropriate funds.

The resolutions committee offered tonight and began work on a number of resolutions introduced during the day. of Chicago, immigration commissioner of of Chicago, immigration commissioner of the Rock Island Railroad, protesting against any further restriction of immigration as opposed to the rapid development and colonization of the semi-arid states.

Beaman Attacks Pinchot.

Mr. Beaman's address was an unwavering attack on the forestry service and its head, Gifford Pinchot. He said:

"No policy of recent years has done so much to alienate the friends of the Government as the mistaken policy of the forest service, and if any of the Mountain States shall go Democratic this Fall it will be chiefly for that reason. If a state government had treated its people in such a manner it would have been ousted at the next election."

Mr. Beaman discussed the contents of many of Mr. Pinchot's circulars, as well as interviews and statements credited to him printed in newspapers and magazines, under the caption, "Wasting Our Resources and Other Hobgoblins." He said:

"Mr. Pinchot says we are wasting our resources; that they will soon be exhausted, whereas they should be preserved for posterity. This he especially applies to coal, iron and timber. It is easy to make this charge, but has Mr. Pinchot ever informed us just what we are to do to prevent this so-called waste? Shall we stop mining coal, shut down our steel works, gas and electric plants, and go back to the blacksmith shop and the tallow candle? It is nothing new to have hobgoblins of future disaster placed on dress parade to frighten the credulous."

Mr. Beaman stated that Mr. Pinchot proposed to stop the loss of soil by erosion by preserving the forests and thus preventing floods. He said:

Do Not Prevent Floods.

"The truth is that the rains which produce the greatest floods do not fall in the mountains. The storms are almost wholly in the plains country, the result of long and incessant rains, and these floods can only be prevented by the construction of reservoirs of sufficient capacity to retain the surplus water, and that must be the final remedy against enormous rains which forests cannot entirely restrain."

Concerning forest destruction, Mr. Beaman said that more timber had been sold and cut under the forest service than ever before in the Rocky Mountains, although he was recently informed by a forest supervisor that the policy of the service had radically changed in this respect, and much less timber is now offered for sale and will be hereafter.

"Is it possible," he asked, "that the charges above referred to (that the forest service was responsible for excessive waste of timber) have been taken notice of by authorities in Washington, and Mr. Pinchot called down? If so, much has been accomplished."

Reforestration by transplanting trees that have been raised in nurseries, Mr. Beaman ridiculed, saying:

"The second natural crop of saw timber which the forest service is promising us, as a great feature of scientific forestry, will not be crowding us and our posterity during the next 500 years."

Barnes to Reply.

Beaman's sharp criticism of Mr. Pinchot's forestry policy brought the congress to attention, and there was a rapid filling of vacant seats. The address will bring forth replies from the several forestry bureau men who are here. Will C. Barnes, a forest inspector, who was severely criticised by Judge Beaman in connection with magazine articles dealing with the forest service, written by Barnes, is here, and will probably be given a place on the programme later in the week. Mr. Barnes was appointed to the forestry bureau from New Mexico, and has been prominent here as a cattlegrower and in local politics.

MURDER AND SUICIDE CASE

Man Lures Wife to Hotel and Uses Carbolic Acid Fatally.

SEATTLE, Sept. 30.—It develops that George Foster, a cook, lured his wife, Bertha Knapp Foster, to the Frisco Hotel last night, murdered her and then committed suicide. The couple was found in a room at 7 o'clock this morning, Foster lying face downward with a 38-caliber revolver grasped in his hand and a bullet hole in his head, and his wife was stretched out near him with a similar fatal wound. At first a suicide pact seemed evident, but letters on Foster's person led to an identification and investigation which clearly points to murder and suicide.

Foster married Bertha Knapp in this city June 3, 1907, and three days later Mrs. Foster applied for a divorce. Foster went to Ellensburg and has made repeated overtures to his former wife for a reconciliation. The lips of Mrs. Foster were burned with carbolic acid and an empty bottle bearing the label of an Ellensburg drugstore indicated that Foster brought it with him and first attempted to force his wife to drink it. Failing this, he shot her.

KIDNAP GARFIELD EDITOR

Lured Into Cab, He Is Hurried Over State Line and Arrested.

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Maurice Fitzmaurice, editor of a Garfield County paper, arrested on a charge of criminal libel, was kidnaped and taken across the state line without extradition papers, says a dispatch to the Spokesman-Review from Lewiston, Idaho.

Fitzmaurice was released from custody by the Idaho authorities on request of the attorney of Columbia County, Washington, but soon after an officer from Washington state lured Fitzmaurice into a cab. Lewiston in Idaho is separated from the state of Washington by the Snake River, which is bridged. The carriage rushed frantically down the streets of Lewiston, the men inside struggling frantically and a large crowd stood on the Idaho side watching the fun until the cab was in Washington, when the sleuths drew their guns and arrested Fitzmaurice.

Fitzmaurice, who claims to be an Irish gentleman, was taken to Dayton, where he will be tried.

DR. D. K. PEARSONS COMING

Noted Benefactor Will Visit Pacific University in November.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, Or., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Dr. D. K. Pearsons, who has given about $3,000,000 in the last 12 years, mostly to small colleges in different parts of the country, will be in the Northwest about the middle of November and will visit Pacific University at that time. Dr. Pearsons will probably spend several days at Forest Grove making himself familiar with the work and needs of the institution.

Dr. Pearsons has already given $50,000 to the university, and has stated his intention of doing more for the college in the near future.

APPLES BEST EVER SEEN

Third Fair at Hillsboro Opens With Fine Exhibits.

HILLSBORO, Or., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—It is estimated that 5000 people visited Hillsboro today, when the third annual fair and street carnival was opened. The stock pens are not all filled, but the exhibits are more than up to the standard of last year, and additions will be made tomorrow. The exhibit of apples is noteworthy as the best in quality, and largest in size, ever on display here. Visitors at the State Fair were free in asserting that no better fruit has ever been on exhibition in the Northwest. The carnival continues until Saturday night, and judging from the first day this will be the most successful ever held in the city.

Fined for Shooting Salmon.

OREGON CITY, Or., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—W. Cristner this afternoon entered a plea of guilty to a charge of fishing for salmon within two miles of a rack and paid a fine of $50 in Justice Samson's Court. Christner was arrested last Sunday by Water Bailiff Rall, who found the man shooting salmon at Willamette Falls with an automatic Winchester rifle. Cristner, who gave his name to the officers as W. M. Williams, resisted arrest, but Rall has considerable pugilistic ability and landed his man in the County Jail, and a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon was made against him. This charge was withdrawn today.

Many Indictments Returned.

PENDLETON, Or., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—It was announced late tonight that in the large grist of indictments returned recently by the grand jury were 18 against Pilot Rock men for gambling. Eight of these were against Lew Bradburn and George Mansfield, each being favored with four counts. The other eight are against men not yet arrested, and whose names are withheld for the present. The total number of indictments returned by the grand jury for violation of the Prohibition and anti-gambling laws was 291.

AMERICAN DOCTOR MADE BEST FIGHT

Koch's Tribute to New York Health Officer at Tuberculosis Congress.

FAVORS DRASTIC ACTION

Discoverer of Cause of White Plague Says Cattle Can't Transmit Disease to Human Beings—Tests Are Made on Children.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Dr. Robert Koch, the noted German scientist and discoverer of the tubercle bacillus, declared today before the sixth section of the International Congress on Tuberculosis that he always had regarded the work of the health authorities of New York City, under the direction of Dr. Herman M. Biggs, general medical officer of the Department of Health of that city, in combating tuberculosis as a model to be followed by other municipalities.

Dr. Koch expressed the belief that the successful execution of the measures described by Dr. Biggs represented one of the most important features of the war against tuberculosis, especially in view of the extraordinary difficulties which confront the New York Health Board in the matter of immigration, and the conditions of life in the overcrowded tenements. The two most noteworthy of these measures, said Dr. Koch, are: First, compulsory notification of tuberculosis; and, second, the removal by force, if necessary, of such patients as are dangerous to their immediate neighbors.

Can't Take Disease From Cattle.

That he still maintains the opinion expressed by him at the conference on tuberculosis at London, in which he declared that bovine tuberculosis is not transmissible to human beings, was the declaration of Dr. Koch at the afternoon session. He said that "at the present time there is no authentic case of bovine tuberculosis in man taking the form of pulmonary tuberculosis." He added that investigations up to the present time corroborated the statement he made at London.

Each of the seven sections of the congress at their session contributed much to knowledge through the discussion by renowned scientists of measures that promise success to the world movement against the ravages of tuberculosis. More than 100 speakers were on the programme of the several sections.

Great interest centered around the work of sections numberes one and seven, on which Dr. Koch actively participated. His address on the relations of human and bovine tuberculosis was perhaps the most notable of the day. This joint session brought together probably the largest group of medical men.

Test Made on Children.

At today's session formal announcement was made of the inoculation of a number of children, charity patients at the Children's Hospital, with tests of tuberculosis, human and bovine, and with a culture of Koch's tubercule designed to prove the accuracy of the diagnostic methods advanced by Dr. D. Laszlos Detre, of Budapest, Hungary, and the diagnosis theories of Dr. Clemens von Pirquet, of Vienna. Dr. Von Pirquet made demonstrations at the Children's Hospital for the benefit of the delegates. It was stated at the hospital that the children had responded to the demonstration, the reaction resulting in expressions of gratification over the showing made.

HASKELL MAKES ATTACK

our constitution because it contained a provision for jury trials in contempt cases is only one of the many things that you criticised, and I thank God to this day that I had the courage to challenge you at that time to turn down our constitution on that ground, if you dared to do so. You said that your opinion of our constitution would not look well in print. Mr. Harriman and J. P. Morgan said the same thing, but Samuel Gompers said the constitution of Oklahoma was the best ever written. I expected you to agree with Mr. Morgan and Mr. Harriman, and, of course, was not surprised.

"Morally you challenge me Mr. Roosevelt I should not undertake to make a comparison between you and me. I do not get drunk on any occasion and never did in my life, but still have your letter of last Winter, which I shall be glad to publish with your permission, advocating your idea of interstate commerce of whisky into prohibition territory. It was your answer to my appeal for assistance and would freeze the heart of any honest public official seeking to administer the laws of his state as the people by their votes had made the law.

More About Oil Leases.

"Mr. Roosevelt, let us not leave this Standard Oil Company question without inviting from you information that we really need. You made a ruling that 4800 acres of land was the limit that any person or corporation directly or indirectly could obtain under lease for oil purposes in the Indian Territory and renewed the lease on 680,000 acres of Osage land to the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company, and you know that the agent of the Standard Oil Company owned a majority oif the stock. Why did you give them a monopoly in Osage Nation oil lands? Again, Mr. Barnsdale, the well-known representative of the Standard Oil Company, has leased, as I am advised by Mr. Shea, of Bartlesville, on a little over 100,000 acres of Indian allotments in the Indian Territory, and I am advised that, on account of the controversy being brought to your personal attention, you knew of these excessive leaseholdings. Why did you do this?

Why Let Paul Morton Go?

"You criticise my directing the dismissal of the suit against the Prairie Oil & Gas Company, which could not have been successfully maintained by the state. Tell me, please, what your reason was for directing the dismissal of the suit against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad, being prosecuted by Judson Harmon and Judson, special counsel, when the facts disclosed that a member of your Cabinet (Paul Morton) was being uncovered as the prime offender? Answer this, will you?

"Mr. Roosevelt, you cry out for purity. You say you did not four years ago know where the corporation fund was coming from to secure your election until the testimony of two years ago disclosed the bargains and sales between Mr. Cortelyou and the corrupt interests of Wall street. You have known that fact for two years and Mr. Cortelyou is still a member of your Cabinet.

"Now, Mr. Roosevelt, while you are reflecting on these questions, will you justify yourself in giving faith or credit to any statement that has come to you from your political associate, Mr. Hearst, whom two years ago you branded as the man chiefly responsible for the assassination of our late President?

"Remember, Mr. President, if at your next Cabinet meeting you decide to try me under any of your present, past or future charges before your Cabinet, sitting as a jury to try an honest man, that I challenge Mr. Cortelyou for cause."

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT BLOOD HUMORS

The skin is not simply an outer covering of the body, but through its thousands of pores and glands it performs the great and necessary work of regulating our temperatures, and also assists in disposing of the refuse and waste matters of the system by the constant evaporation that goes on through these little tubes. To perform these duties the tissues and fibres which connect and surround the pores and glands must be continually nourished by pure blood. When from any cause the circulation becomes infected with impurities and humors, it loses its strengthening powers and begins to disease and irritate the delicate tissues, and produces Eczema, Acne, Tetter, or some other itching, disfiguring skin trouble. S. S. S. cures skin diseases of every kind by going down into the circulation and neutralizing and removing the impurities and humors. It changes the quality of the blood from an acrid, fiery fluid to a cooling, health-producing stream, which, instead of irritating and inflaming the skin, cures and nourishes it by its soothing, healthful qualities. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may be used for any temporary comfort or cleanliness they afford, but skin diseases cannot be cured until S. S. S. has purified the blood.
