FELLS GUEST BY BLOW WITH AX

W. H. Adams, at Mountaindale, Cuts Open Head of E. V. Galloway.

ADAMS SLASHED BY KNIFE

Two Old Men Engage in Bloody Quarrel After Drinking Much Wine—One in Hospital Near to Death—Other Is in Jail.

HILLSBORO, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—As the result of a drunken quarrel, last night, at Mountaindale, 10 miles North of here, E. V. Galloway, a Beaverton farmer, lies in a Portland hospital in a serious condition with a deep gash across his face, made by a double-bitted axe, and William H. Adams is confined in the county jail in this city awaiting the outcome of the injured man's wounds.

Adams also bears the marks of a desperate struggle. Across his cheek is a three-inch gash made by a knife in the hands of Galloway.

According to Adams, Galloway made the first assault. Galloway on the other hand declares he slashed Adams after the latter had felled him (Galloway) with an axe.

Picks Quarrel With Host.

Adams, in telling of the affair, states that Galloway, accompanied by Miller, another Beaverton farmer and acquainted with both men, reached his place about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Miller having brought Galloway out to look at Adams' ranch, which was for rent. The three men drank considerable wine, and about 6:30 Miller retired. Galloway began to upbraid Adams and Miller because the ranch did not come up to his expectations. Adams resented the rough language and insisted that if Galloway did not like the place he could go home.

The quarrel increased, and according to Adams, Galloway slashed Adams in the face with a pocket knife. Adams grabbed a double-bitted axe which was in the room and felled Galloway with a blow on the head, the axe cutting a gash extending from the right temple underneath the eye, almost severing the nose from the face and to the opposite cheek.

The blow was a terrific one and the old man fell to the floor, the noise arousing Miller, who arose and notified the neighbors, who called a Hillsboro surgeon. Adams left his house and spent the night at the home of Thomas Uglow.

Both Men Over 50 Years Old.

Galloway says that Adams' story as to the quarrel is true, but insists that Adams dealt the first blow. At 6:30 o'clock this morning, Galloway was taken to Beaverton and then to Portland for hospital treatment. Galloway is 67 years old, and Adams about 55.

Galloway has a wife at Beaverton, and a daughter, Mrs. Nashley, residing at Front and Ash streets in Portland.

SEEKS PLACE BY PETITION

Okanogan Attorney Would Be Candidate for Supreme Judge.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—E. K. Pendergast, ex-Prosecuting Attorney of Okanogan County, today filed with the Secretary of State a petition signed by several hundred residents of Okanogan and Ferry Counties, asking that his name be placed on the ballot as a non-partisan judiciary candidate for Superior Judge of that county to run against E. W. Taylor.

Taylor secured 602 votes out of a total of 2148 cast for the four candidates for Superior Judge, or 28 per cent. Pendergast insists that the direct primary law has not repealed the old general law allowing 300 petitioners to secure the naming on a ticket of any candidate. The tender of a fee was refused.

COME TO HEAR BEVERIDGE

Salem's Taft Club Proposes Excursion Tuesday Evening.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—President C. L. McNary, of the Sherman Republican Club, is trying to arrange an excursion of Salem Republicans to Portland next Tuesday evening, when Senator Beveridge will deliver an address in that city. Secretary McArthur, of the state executive committee, has promised to reserve seats for all Salem Republicans who go. The Southern Pacific has agreed to run a special train at one fare for the round trip if 150 people go.

Word has been received here that Senator Dolliver, of Iowa, will speak in Salem about October 17, and that this will be his only speaking place in Oregon. On that occasion excursion trains will be run to Salem and President McNary desires that Salem Republicans show their interest in the campaign by going to Portland to hear Beveridge.

STATE TO MAKE NO CLAIM

East Portland Property-Owners on Proebstel Estate Undisturbed.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Governer Chamberlain announced today that the state of Oregon will not bring proceedings to escheat the property of the Jane Proebstel estate, covering a large tract of land in East Portland, upon which there are now hundreds of homes.

Sometime ago question was raised as to the title to the property the assertion having been made that there were no heirs and that the property should have escheated to the state when Jane Proebstel died 30 years ago. Governor Chamberlain said today that even if the state had a chance of recovering the property, he would not permit suit to be brought after the title has been accepted as good for many years.

Veazie & Veazie, Portland attorneys, asked the Governor to announce his intention as some enterprising attorneys have been going among property-owners in the Proebstel tract securing $50 contributions toward a fund for the purpose of defeating the state's claim. Since the state has no claim, those who have contributed the money are out the amount of their contributions.

TO HURRY CRIMINAL CASES

Judge Burnett Establishes New Grand Jury Practice.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Circuit Judge George H. Burnett has established a new grand jury practice which will tend to carry out that provision of the state constitution which guarantees every accused man a trial without delay. He has arranged to have criminal cases at each term of court investigated by the grand jury drawn at the term preceding, thus having the indictments filed before the trial jury is drawn. Demurrers and dilatory motions can thus be heard and disposed of and the cases prepared for trial by the time the trial jury is ready for work.

In the past it has been the practice to draw a grand jury on the first day of each term, and then have the grand jury proceed to investigate criminal charges. As the men are frequently new at the work and must take considerable time to hear and weigh the evidence, it is usually late in the term before indictments are filed. Then, if demurrers and motions are filed, the cases must be set for hearing on these preliminary questions. When these have been disposed of it is frequently too late to have a jury trial at that term.

Under the new practice, Judge Bennett did not dismiss the grand jury when it completed its work at the July term, but had it adjourn until one week before the beginning of the October term. The July grand jury will therefore investigate criminal charges for the October term. If indictments should be filed, all preliminary questions can be heard promptly, for the court will not be busy with work of the October term. Then, when the October term begins, the cases can be set for trial before the jury on their merits.

SHOOTS TO KILL; MISSES

J. H. O'Brien Leaves Albany After Firing at Fred G. Sanders.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Fred G. Sanders, an employe of the Albany Iron Works, narrowly missed death late last night from a bullet fired by J. H. O'Brien, who has been employed on a local newspaper.

The two men had an altercation earlier in the evening, and, after a short fist fight, O'Brien, who had been drinking, armed himself with a pistol. Meeting Sanders near the corner of First and Lyon streets, O'Brien queried, "Is your name Sanders?" and when the latter answered yes, he raised the pistol and fired. The bullet grazed the right side of Sanders' face, which was powder-burned. Sanders then retreated.

This morning, at the request of O'Brien's friends, Sanders refused to sign a complaint charging assault with intent to kill, and O'Brien disposed of his interests here and left the city this afternoon, southbound.

FIRE EATING INTO TIMBER

Blaze East of Detroit Gets Beyond Control of Forest Rangers.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—A big forest fire is now burning in the Cascade Forest Reserve, ten miles east of Detroit, according to reports received here tonight from that town. It broke out three days ago and is now beyond the control of a small force of rangers which is fighting it.

Thus far the fire has burned principally in second-growth timber and brush covering an old burn, but good timber is endangered and only rain will stop the fire. How this fire started has not been learned. It is only a few miles from the scene of the big fire in that part of the mountains in August, but that fire was thoroughly extinguished by rains.

J. W. Hammell, of Albany, who returned today from Detroit, says the fire is burning near Coffee Mountain, on the line of the old Oregon Pacific survey, about ten miles east of Detroit, terminus of the Corvallis & Eastern.

J. A. Heldeck, of Detroit, who visited the scene of the fire, estimates that the flames have already covered 500 acres.

BADLY TORN IN RUNAWAY

Flesh and Tendons Stripped From Leg of Ira Strong Near Newport.

NEWPORT, Or., Oct. 2.—Ira Strong, a resident of Siletz, returning home in company with John Spencer from a trip to Cape Foulweather, was frightfully injured in a runaway accident. Both men had been drinking. Their team became frightened and about seven miles from Newport the horses fell down. In trying to get them up Strong got tangled in the harness and was dragged along the ground for a long distance. A large hook fastening the tuge to the wagon tore through the calf of his left leg, stripping the flesh from the bone and breaking the tendons near the foot. The hook also caught on his left foot, passing through the instep. His body and face were horribly battered and bruised; the injuries, however, are not thought fatal. Strong has just recovered from a broken leg caused by being thrown from a horse.

Death Claims Mrs. Anna Ross.

M'MINNVILLE, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Mrs. Anna Ross, wife of Duncan Ross, died at her home, four miles east of this place yesterday, of heart trouble. The funeral will be held at the home tomorrow, interment being made in Brookside Cemetery, Dayton. Mrs. Ross was born in Scotland in 1853, and emigrated to Canada with her relatives at an early age, where she was married. Mr. and Mrs. Ross removed from Canada to Oregon, coming to Yamhill County about 25 years ago, and settling in their splendid farm home 21 years ago, where they have since resided continuously. Deceased leaves a husband, one son and seven daughters.

TAX BASIS IS FIXED

Average Value Is 43.08 Per Cent of Real Value.

COUNTY FIGURES DIFFER

Washington's State Board of Equalization Attempting to Strike Average for All Parts of Commonwealth.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—The State Board of Equalization in making up its estimate has based all property in the state upon 100 percent of its real value, has then found for each county what percentage of true value has been returned by each county board of equalization and has ascertained that the average value returned is 43.08 percent of actual value. So that this latter basis will be the basis for this year's levy of state taxes.

These findings were made up from the special hearings held by members of the Tax Commission in many of the counties and from the evidence submitted by the railroad tax agents, county officers and others at the State Board session. Taking these percentages as found the office force of the Board of Equalization is at present figuring out the state valuation for each county so as to bring the higher ones down and the lower ones up to the mean average of 43.08 per cent.

Had the State Board accepted the figures as submitted by the several county boards, the counties which are assessed on a low percentage of values would have paid proportionately little state tax, while those like Spokane and King, which made a high assessment, would have been penalized by having to pay proportionately higher state taxes.

Last year's assessment on presumably a 60 percent basis aggregated $573,000,000, while this year, on a 43 percent basis, it totals $748,000,000. The board's findings show Skamania County has assessed at 63.73 percent of true value, Ferry 60 percent; Okanogan 57.32; Columbia 51.69. Fifth highest on the list is Spokane with 51.64 percent. King is listed at 46.78 percent, but this is figured after taking off the 20 percent cut made on the assessor's figures by the County Board. Pierce is below the average, with 42.33 percent. Chehalis is the lowest, with 23.42 percent.

In working out the amounts to be paid by the several counties along this plan, the result will be that for instance, Spokane County will pay proportionately about one-half as much state taxes per thousand dollars county assessed valuation as will Chehalis County. King County profits almost relatively as well, and Pierce County will just about break even.

OFFENDERS GET NO MERCY

Must Plead to All Indictments and Suffer Jail Penalty.

PENDLETON, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—That no mercy will be shown the violators of the prohibition law, even though they should plead guilty, was declared by District Attorney Phelps today. The opinion has been freely expressed that the indicted men would be allowed to plead to one indictment, pay a nominal fine and then go free with the other indictments hanging over their heads to enforce good behavior. Phelps declared today, however, that such would not be the case and that in order to escape trials, pleas of guilty must be entered to more than one indictment, thus practically insuring jail sentences for every man accused.

The case against Tom Murrell has been set for trial Monday. He has entered a plea of not guilty. The other cases will evidently be tried as fast as they can be reached. In addition to the indictments previously given out it was announced today that true bills had been returned against Henry Kopittke, of this city, and Charles Newcomb, of Pilot Rock, for illicit liquor selling.

STATE TAX LEVY 4.8 MILLS

Lowest Assessment in Washington in Many Years.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—The State Board of Equalization yesterday fixed the tax levy as follows:

State general fund 1.6 mills, state school fund, 2.5 mills, state military fund .2 mill, state highway fund .5 mill. Total 4.8 mills. This is a reduction of 3.05 mills over the levy of last year and is one of the lowest levies in the history of the state. Last year the general fund rate was 2.5 mills, school fund 5 mills and the highway and millitary funds half what they are this year. The two latter, however, are fixed by statute and not by the equalization board.

While no detailed figures have been given out, nor will they probably before Sunday, the total assessed valuation as equalized by the State Board will be in excess of $748,000,000, as compared with $573,070,523, for the preceding year. The new levy, in spite of the largely increased valuation, will raise somewhat less money for general fund purposes that last year, but receipts from other sources, it is believed, will be ample to provide the state revenues.

AUTO RUNS OVER BANKER

Eugene Man Narrowly Misses Death in Collision.

EUGENE, Or., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—F. W. Osburn, cashier of the Eugene Loan & Savings Bank, was run over by an automobile about 8 o'clock this evening, narrowly escaping most serious results. He was riding down Willamette street on his wheel and 150 feet from Eighth street an automobile suddenly turned on Willamette from the west. Mr. Osburn attempted to get out of the way, but the driver also tried to turn in the same direction, and the car and wheel collided, knocking Mr. Osburn to the pavement. His face was badly skinned and his arms and legs badly bruised, though it is not thought any serious injuries were inflicted.

The injured man's name is unknown. He went by the soubriquet "I-don't-care," and had been drinking heavily. He is being cared for at the Washington County poor farm.
