YOM KIPPUR SERVICE ENDS

SOLEMN OBSERVANCE OF JEWISH HOLIDAY.

Ceremonies That Mark Close of New Year Celebration Are Largely Attended.

Yom Kippur, the most solemn and sacred day in the Jewish calendar, which marks the termination of the ceremonies in connection with the observance of the Jewish New Year, ended last night at sundown.

Services in observance of this feast began at sundown Sunday, and were continued at 7 o'clock yesterday morning in the orthodox synagogues and at 9:30 in Temple Beth Israel. The services were marked with unusual solemnity, members of the various congregations spending the entire day in the synagogues confessing their sins and entreating God for forgiveness.

An impressive feature of the service was the prayers for those who have died during the past year. As each name was read, prayers were said in memory of the deceased.

The day also marked, according to ancient custom, the reconciliation of those who have become estranged. The services are divided into four sections, the introductory prayers, afternoon prayers, evening prayers and concluding prayers. The blowing of the trumpet shofar was the signal that the services were concluded.

Services yesterday in Congregation Ahavai Shalom were conducted by Rev. R. Abrahamson, assisted by Rev. M. Cohn. At the Hall-street Synagogue Rev. H. N. Heller was assisted by a chorus choir.

At the First-street Synagogue services were under the direction of Rev. I. Osovita, assisted by Rev. Plotkin. Solemn services were held in Temple Beth Israel from 9:30 A. M. until 2 o'clock last night under the direction of Dr. Jonah B. Wise. At the afternoon service E. E. Coursen rendered two organ numbers, Handel's "Largo" and "Ave's Death" from "Peter Gynt" (Grieg). A quartet consisting of Mrs. Rose Bloch Bauer, soprano; Mrs. Imogene Harding Brodie, alto; W. H. Boyer, tenor; Dom Zan, baritone; E. E. Coursen, organist, sang at intervals during the day.

ACCUSES FRIEND OF THEFT

Farmer Leads Team of Horses, but Afterwards Forgets Favor.

An empty stable, a deputy Sheriff, and John Barnes, of Anabel, who in his haste accused a friend of stealing a team of horses, were the elements of a comedy played yesterday, and the little incident ended happily when the "friend" appeared, driving the animals back to the barn. Barnes telephoned to Sheriff Stevens that his horses had been stolen. The sheriff told him that Deputy Sheriff Harry Bulger was on the Mount Scott line, looking up another case, so Mr. Barnes hunted him up.

He had told of the theft, given a description of the animals, and the two had looked the barn over for clues, when a man drove the horses to the stable, and Barnes exclaimed: "B'goosh, I told that fellow he might borrow my team, and I forgot all about it. How much do I owe you, Mr. Bulger?" The Deputy Sheriff told the man he owed nothing, and went away feeling well satisfied at the happy outcome of the incident.

BIG GROCERY FIRMS UNITE

DRESSER'S AND SEALY-MASON STORES TO BE COMBINED.

Will Make Largest Retail Grocery Establishment in Pacific Northwest.

The two leading retail grocery firms in Portland have consolidated. Negotiations were closed yesterday for the amalgamation of Dresser's and Sealy, Mason & Co., which, under the name of Dresser's & Sealy Mason Company will be the largest retail grocery house in the Pacific Northwest. The consolidated firm will occupy the building in which Dresser's is now established at Fifth and Stark streets.

The consolidation was brought about by M. Reinstein, the manager of Dresser's, who has been working to this end for several months. Mr. Reinstein since taking the management of the store, has succeeded in greatly increasing its business, and has introduced many innovations that have added to its popularity. By combining the two houses, he has put the new concern in the front rank among the retail firms of the city, and given Portland an establishment of which any Eastern city would be proud.

The firm of Sealy, Mason & Co. has been in business for over a quarter of a century. It first occupied a store on First street between Morrison and Yamhill, later moving to Fourth and Morrison streets. The store at the present location will be closed Wednesday night and the stock removed to Dresser's. Francis Sealy and the entire force of employees of the old house will go to the new firm.

The business of both houses will be conducted on the same plan as formerly and the customers will take no change except in the name of the firm. The same solicitors, drivers and employes will be in evidence and the routes will be covered as heretofore. A total of 75 men and women will be employed by the consolidated firm. The business will be conducted on the department-store plan, the departments being those of groceries, liquors, delicatessen, fruits and vegetables, meats, fish and poultry, and bakery. The bakery, which is now on an upper floor, will be moved to the center of the first floor, where the operations of baking will be conducted in full view of the customers. A number of other important changes are contemplated by Manager Reinstein. The store vacated by Sealy, Mason & Co. at Fourth and Morrison streets will be taken by R. M. Gray, the cashier, who will also occupy the store of Swatland & Son, confectioners, the latter firm moving one door east and taking the premises now held by R. M. Gray.

WHISKY MAKES MAN BLIND

Deputy Game Warden Applies to County Board of Relief.

Rendered almost blind by taking 21 grains of quinine and a pint of whisky cure a cold, L. C. Black, a deputy game warden of Forest Grove, applied to the County Board of Relief yesterday for aid. Although he is employed in Washington County, Black's wife lives at Woodstock, and he has his residence here. He was sent to the County Hospital, where it is thought he has a chance of recovery.

Black was a saw filer in a logging camp before his appointment as a deputy. He took the heavy dose about a month ago, but the matter has only lately been reported to the county officials. The man is 38 years old. He is a brother-in-law of W. L. Gatens, private secretary to Governor Chamberlain, and is also related to A. L. Mendenhall, a local attorney.

Rob Postoffice of $250.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 5.—Two armed robbers just after midnight broke into the postoffice at Ladner and got safely away with $250. Ladner is a fishing town 20 miles from Vancouver.

CHINESE SLAYER TO DIE

HIGHBINDER IS SENTENCED BY JUDGE BRONAUGH.

When His Doom Is Pronounced for Shooting Lee Dal Hoy, the Prisoner Is Unmoved.

Lem Woon, the Chinese highbinder, convicted of shooting Lee Dal Hoy, was sentenced in the Circuit Court yesterday afternoon to be executed November 20. Just before pronouncing sentence, Judge Bronaugh asked the prisoner if there was any reason why sentence should not be pronounced. Through an interpreter, Lem said no.

Judge Henry McGinn, Lem's counsel, then made a motion in arrest of judgment, which was promptly denied by the court, exceptions being allowed. Judge Bronaugh then said: "It is the sentence of this court that you be confined in the Multnomah County Jail in the custody of the Sheriff for 46 days. At the end of that time you shall be removed by the Sheriff to the State Penitentiary at Salem, and confined in that institution until Friday, the 20th day of November, 1908. Upon that day you will be removed by the proper official to an enclosure within the Penitentiary, and then and there be hanged by your neck until you are dead."

Without further ceremony, the prisoner was taken in hand by a deputy sheriff, and hustled off to jail. Then the court's words were interpreted to him. Only a few Chinese were in the courtroom.

Throughout the trial, Lem bore up with stoicism characteristic of his race. There was no change yesterday. Before the time for pronouncing sentence, Judge McGinn took a volume of the Oregon laws, and explained to the prisoner through an interpreter the penalty for murder. Relying on an alleged flaw in the new grand jury law, Judge McGinn says that his prisoner

WILL NEVER HANG.

Registers His Full Name.

Henry Alexander Clarence Archibald Edwin Wise writes a fine hand, very fine in fact. If this were not the case, it would have been impossible for him to have written his name in the space assigned to it in the registration book yesterday. Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on Rural Route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw; one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c at Woodard, Clarke & Co. drug-store.
