F. X. MATTHIES! IMPROVING.—F. X. Matthieu, pioneer, who has been quite ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles L. Bergevin, 19 Union avenue, is glowly improving. After his first sickness, at St. Vincent's Hospital, he went to the home of his daughter where he continued to improve, but overtaxed himself last week which resulted in a relapse. From this relapse he is now improving. Having always been an active man Mr. Matthieu cannot content himself to remain quiet. Mr. Matthieu received an interesting letter written from Cashow, O., from his old friend J. H. McMillan, also a well-known ploneer. The letter speaks kind words for Mr. Matthieu, and says of himself, now over S years old, that he is only walting for the summons from the "other side."

ELECTRICAL SOURTY FORNED.—An organization known as the Electrical Society of Fortland, composed of students of the new trades school and others has recently been formed. Meetings at which subjects relating to electricity and its uses are discussed, are held on the first and third Tuesdays in each month in the rooms of the F. M. C. A. The officers are: President, A. H. Hine: vice-president, J. L. Blaisdell; secretary, Joseph Hallock; treasurer, Fred Johnson; business manager. Otto Guildmeister; sergeant-at-armis, John Albertson. Persons interested in electricity are invited to join the society. This can be done by comperting with any of the officers or by communicating with Howard Rigler, 1022 Thurman street.

Completing East Twelfth street, between Hawihorne avenue and Clinton street, is being completed, and it will be thrown open to the public the latter part of the week. Gravel was used on this street. Clinton street, which connects with East Twelfth, also will be improved, first between East Twelfth and Twenty-sixth and then on to Forty-first street. Grading is being done between East Twelfth and Twenty-sixth and Twenty-sixth streets at present. These improvements are important owing to the rapid settlement along them. Improvement of East Twelfth street had been delayed for governal years.

DR. C. H. CHAPMAN WILL SPEAK.—Dr. C. H. Chapman will deliver the address at the Sellwood Methodist Church, East Ninth street and Tacoma avenue, to norrow night, it being the opening meeting of the Mothers' and Teachers' Club, of the Sellwood school, Mrs. R. Filling or East Morrison Resumed.

Gravel trains yesterday began filling in the ravine on East Morrison, between East Seventh and East Ninth streets. Just before the fire which destroyed the East Portland Mill & Fixture Company's plant, the company obtained an injunction restraining the Pacific Bridge Company from going ahead with the work, as the fill was wrecking the company's buildings, but the plant was burned and the work can now go forward. The Montgomery Hotel is near the fill, but it has been thoroughly braced and guarded against damage. The old roadway through the slough has been removed and the gravel trains are operated direct in the slough along the top of the fill. As a result there will be no timbers left in the embankment to give trouble some time in future. Unless unforseen difficulties should be encountered this fill will probably be completed inside of two months. The company is prepared to handle several thousand cubic yards of material every day. At night the dump trains are used to fill up East Salmon street, between East Water street and Union avenue.

SUNNYBIDE REPUBLICANS RALLT.—Choice cigars and an informal programme of addresses, including remarks by Senator Bourne, formed an entirely agreeable combination at a meeting of the Sunnyside Republican Club, at Hunter's hall, last night. The Republicans of Sunnyside organized a cinb when the campaign first opened and last night's meeting was the first of a series of two rallies that will be held before the November election. There was a good attendance last night and there was a general discussion of the political situation.

INSPECT ORIGINATOR TRUNK—W. F. Nelson, of the Oregon Trunk Line, accompanied by R. J. Martin, president of the Oregon Valley Land Company; K. A. Martin, an irrigation engineer, and H. A. escape during the excitement of the chase after the man.

Gill, whose face and career are unknown to the Portland police, if not a professional check "artist," certainly started out yesterday well equipped and equally well posted for an amateur. In his possession was a handful of checks made out in various sums from $16 and $20 and all bearing the date of yesterday, showing his intention to make a coup and then a "getaway." He is a man of middle age, has a pleasing address and speaks with a slight German accent.

About 3:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon he entered Le Palais Royal accompanied by a blond woman of about 40, of prepossessing appearance, gowned in a stunning Alice blue tailored suit of broadcioth, cut with kimono sleeves and edged with a braid to contrast. She looked as though she had been melted into it and this fact was more especially noted because of the purchase the pair desired to make. One of the salesgirls attended them and the man asked for a cheap skirt for his fair companion. They selected one or he salesgris attended them and the man asked for a cheap skirt for his fair companion. They selected one valued at $5. He then told the girl that he could not buy it unless they could cash a check for him.

Suspicion Is Aroused.

The girl called Mrs. Becker, who was uperintending affairs during the tem-orary absence of her husband. Mrs. Becker was surprised at the contrast Eighteenth and Ninetenth streets. The excavation for the foundation had almost been completed and Lind and a score of other workmen were finishing up their work at the Nineteenth end of the block. Without warning a large section of dirt caved in. Lind, being nearest the bank of earth, was caught and pinioned under it. He was not entirely covered up, and was quickly dug out by his companions. He sustained several broken ribs and his lungs were crushed. Becker was surprised at the contrast in the appearance of the woman and the cheap quality of skirt they had picked out. The check was for $20.50. It was made payable to Charles Gill and was signed by William Schneider and drawn on the Canadian Bank of Commerce of this city. There would have been $15.50 in change to be paid to the man. In reply to Mrs. Becker's questions Gill said that he was a cook and worked for a restaurant at 327. and worked for a restaurant at 237 Williams avenue, on the East Side, and that the reason be had come to Le Palais Royal was because all the stores H. K. Lundstrom, a contractor, of 431 Worcester building, Lind's employer, called an ambulance and had him conveyed to the Good Samaritan Hospital. The case was taken in charge by Captain of Detectives Baty who assigned two men to investigate the operations of the pair. Up to late last night the woman had not been located but the police are confident that they will secure her arrest some time today. The checks which Gill tried to get rid of were found and given to Captain Eaty. No other victims were reported yesterday and it is believed that Gill met his Waterloo at the hands of the first store he visited. He refused last night to reveal anything regarding himself, his real anything regarding himself, his upanion or where they came from.
