

NO LONGER COUNT ON CHAMBERLAIN

Democratic Campaign Leaders Do Not Expect Governor to Take Stump.

SEEK ORATORS ELSEWHERE

"I Have Not Fully Made Up My Mind." Replies Executive When Asked if He Will Make Bryan Speeches — Clark Coming.

Depressed spirits pervaded Democratic headquarters yesterday. The substitution of gloom for the atmosphere of pleasant contemplation resulted from the report that Governor Chamberlain will not stump the state for Bryan, as he had announced he would. The assistance of Governor Chamberlain on the stump was the essential lever on which the Democrats were depending to carry Oregon for the Nebraskan.

"It is rumored at Democratic headquarters that you will not stump the state for Bryan, in accordance with your announced plans of a fortnight ago," was asked Governor Chamberlain last night.

"I have authorized no such announcement," replied the Governor. "But the time is short, Governor. Do you intend to canvass the state for the Democratic nominee?" was asked.

"I have not fully made up my mind. I have not determined fully just what I will do," was the reply.

However, the Democrats have not despaired. The minority party has a resourceful organization in the men it has entrusted with the management of the campaign. Disappointments are factors with which the minority always has dealt, and the state and local managers of the party are prepared for any emergency. The fortunes of the Democratic ticket in this state this year are confided in a quartet consisting of National Committeeman M. A. Miller, State Chairman Alex. Sweek, State Secretary J. B. Ryan and County Chairman George H. Thomas. Apparently they have abandoned the assistance of Governor Chamberlain, for they have been negotiating for some time with the National Committee and insisting that additional patriots of National reputation be assigned to this state.

Repeated applications to the National organization have brought the assurance that probably two campaign speakers will be sent to this state before the campaign is ended. The local managers are counting definitely on Congressman Champ Clark, of Missouri, one of the foremost campaign speakers of the country, as one of the two speakers to be furnished by the National Committee. As to the second one, no choice has been expressed, although it is possible that ex-Mayor Dunne, of Chicago, may be requested. The Chicago man is considered a valuable campaign orator and with the services of him and the Missourian, the Democrats are still counting on carrying Oregon for Bryan, whether or not Governor Chamberlain abandons his non-partisan policy long enough to aid his party in its efforts to overcome a 43,000 Roosevelt majority.

The Democrats have not yet given up their hopes of inducing the National committee to send John Worth Kern, their nominee for Vice-President, to Oregon. Their hopes, however, are based on the Indian sentiment which pervades entirely on their ability to convince the members of the National committee of the possibility of carrying this state. It remains to be seen if this representation can be made convincingly to Chairman Mack and his associates.

Dolliver at Salem Friday Night.

Elaborate arrangements are being made by the Republicans at Salem for next Friday night, October 16, when United States Senator John P. Dolliver, of Iowa, will deliver an address. Senator Dolliver will reach the Capital City at 9:15 P. M. on the night of the rally and the audience will be entertained pending the arrival of the distinguished Iowan by other speakers. At the conclusion of the Salem meeting Senator Dolliver will take a special train for Eugene, where he is scheduled for another address the following night. The Senator will be met at the state line by State Secretary McCarty, or some other Republican, and escorted through the state. En route from the California line, Senator Dolliver will probably make several short addresses at the principal stations from the car platform. The Senator's itinerary will not permit him to make an address in Portland, a fact that is of considerable regret to the members of the party in this city.

Congressman Ellis' Appointments.

C. N. McArthur, secretary of the Republican State Central Committee, yesterday announced the incomplete itinerary of Congressman W. R. Ellis, one of the distinguished Republicans of the state who has tendered his services to the party during the pending campaign. The following appointments have been made for Congressman Ellis: October 12, Clatskanie; October 13, Houlton; October 14, Rainier. Congressman Ellis will spend the week beginning October 19 in Coos County. During the week he will speak at Marshfield, North Bend, Bandon, Myrtle Point, and Coquille City.

Democrats Plan Rallies.

The successful rally held by the Republicans last Tuesday night and addressed by Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, has served to spur the Democrats to greater activity. The minority party, through its county chairman, George H. Thomas, has arranged to hold meetings next week in the country precincts, with rallies scheduled for Gresham, St. John, and Troutdale. In addition to these meetings, rallies are being planned for Portland, which will be addressed by local speakers if outside talent cannot be secured.

PLANS FOR CONFERENCE

Charities and Corrections Meeting to Be Held Next Week.

The Fourth Oregon State Conference of Charities and Corrections to be held in the Unitarian Church, corner of Seventh and Yamhill streets, next Monday and Tuesday will be one of intense interest to all charitable workers. The programme, which will be published tomorrow, embraces papers and discussions on nearly all phases of philanthropy and is in the hands of people of long experience in the particular line of work on which they will speak.

The Honorable Samuel J. Barrows, of New York City, secretary of the Prison

Commission and also president of the International Prison Congress, together with his wife, Mrs. Isabelle C. Barrows, are recognized the leaders of the conference. Dr. Barrows has studied the science of a true reformatory system for a long period in foreign countries as well as the United States and is prepared to give his audience the benefit of his researches.

The conference sermon will be preached on Sunday evening next at the First Congregational Church by Rev. Luther R. Dyott, D. D., and will be in reality the first act of the conference, and it is hoped that all interested in sociology will be present on that occasion.

On Monday morning Mrs. E. H. Trumbull, of our Associated Charities, will speak on "Charity and Relief Work," and E. J. Carr, secretary of the Multnomah County board of relief, will open the discussion. At 11 o'clock Mrs. S. M. Blumauer will tell her audience what is being done in settlement work.

Monday afternoon will be devoted to children, dependent and delinquent. Rev. L. J. Covington, superintendent of the Washington Children's Home Society, and his assistant, Rev. C. S. Reynolds, will probably be present and join in the discussions. Dr. Barrows and wife will be the guests of Dr. T. L. Elliot during their stay in the city.

BRYAN IS NOT TRUSTED

WALL-STREET MAN SAYS HE WILL BE DEFEATED.

Finds No Sentiment for Democratic Leader in Western States—New York Afraid of Hughes.

"I am satisfied that Bryan will be defeated worse in the November election than he was the last time he ran for the Presidency," said Frank M. Dick, a Wall-street operator, at the Portland yesterday. "In the East there is very little sentiment for the Nebraskan, while there exists practically a unanimous preference for the election of Taft, and the progressive policies for which he stands."

"When I left New York City I was told to wait until I reached the Western states, where, it was represented, I should find practically unanimous sentiment for the election of Bryan and Kern. I took particular notice after leaving Chicago and was greatly surprised to note the absence of talk favorable to Bryan and his running mate. The result of straw votes taken aboard the train, conversations with railroad employes and with people in the different cities I visited en route to the Pacific coast, all revealed a strong preference for the Republican nominee. Another significant fact I observed was that practically every newspaper with which I came in contact, and I bought them freely, was openly supporting Taft and Sherman."

"From my observations I found it is an incontestable fact that the people do not trust Bryan. They have no confidence in his policies and do not propose to substitute an untried and uncertain leader for a statesman of the recognized ability of Taft and the progressive policies he represents."

"There is no question but that Taft will carry New York, but I have serious doubts that Hughes will be elected. Tammany Hall is not plying fair with Bryan. In the election next month they undoubtedly will be found trading Hughes for Taft. They do not want Hughes and, so far as the state is concerned, do not care who is President so long as they can retain control of municipal affairs in New York City. If Hughes is elected at all it will be because of the fact that this is Presidential year, not because the people of the state want him."

"The support by Hughes and his enforcement of the law prohibiting race-track gambling will cost him thousands of votes in his candidacy for re-election as Governor. The people of New York resent having what they consider their personal liberties curtailed by such legislation."

"The same voters are suspicious of Hughes for the reason that they suspect that should he be elected he will suspend stock exchange operations and eventually give the state prohibition."

"Normal business conditions have about been restored in New York, following the panic of last fall. As a result of that financial disturbance we were hit a great deal harder than were the Pacific coast states and it has been only during the last few weeks that we have begun to recover. During the last 20 days business conditions in New York State have improved substantially and the future outlook is decidedly encouraging. But reversal of Presidential election business conditions with us would now be normal.

"In a great many ways your city reminds me of Boston. I have visited Portland several times but I made my last visit 14 years ago. Naturally I am surprised with the remarkable growth of your city during the intervening years. An inspection of your business and residence districts today has indeed been a revelation to me."

TEST FIRE-ALARM BOXES

Rival Companies Will Demonstrate Before Executive Board.

During a special session of the City Executive Board, yesterday afternoon, at which bids for fire-alarm boxes were under consideration, Mayor Lane told A. C. Long, of Portland, and F. C. Woods, of Seattle, representing rival companies, that they should get baseball bats and fight out their differences before coming into the presence of busy men to transact business. After the session the Mayor said that he would be willing to provide the bats if the men would agree to use them freely on each other.

After wrangling for two hours, the bidders and members of the Board taking part, the decision was reached that the demonstration of boxes will take place at 8 o'clock this afternoon, and the bids will be opened thereafter. Charges and counter-charges were hurled back and forth by the rival representatives for the Gamewell and Star Companies, until Mayor Lane was obliged to call Mr. Long to order for indulging in personalities.

The Board reviewed the action recommended by the old fire committee, which recently resigned because of differences between themselves and other members of the Board. In the matter of a water tower, the old committee deemed it wise to order at once a tower, and bids were advertised for, when the trouble arose and the old members quit. At the first opportunity, Mayor Lane secured reversal of the action. He named a committee, consisting of Sweet, Montag and Smith to secure a location for storing the tower, but the tower was not ordered.

Had a Close Call.

Mrs. Ada L. Croom, the widely-known proprietor of the Croom Hotel, Vaughn, Miss., says that several months ago she suffered with a severe cough, and consumption seemed to have a grip on her. When a friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery, she began taking it, and three bottles effected a complete cure. The fame of this life-saving cough and cold remedy, and lung and throat healer is world-wide. Sold at Woodard, Clarke & Co. druggists, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The carrot grows spontaneously throughout Europe, Asia Minor, Siberia, northern China, Abyssinia, northern Africa, Madeira and the Canary Islands.

At 1 o'clock today there will be a general meeting of the various members of the committees conducting the campaign to raise a guarantee fund for next year's meeting of the Pacific National Show. The meeting will be held in the convention hall of the Commercial Club for the purpose of discussing plans and arranging further details in connection with the campaign.

During the week the various committees have been busy calling upon different business-firms and firms in the districts allotted to them. Many have withheld the reports of their efforts until today, when it is expected that a large number of subscriptions will be reported. Others, however, have submitted reports of their progress, and the large number of tickets disposed of shows the results.

It is proposed to sell 5000 season tickets for next year's meet at $5 each, the proceeds to be used as a guarantee fund for the big show. A large number have already been subscribed for, and it is believed by those in charge of the campaign that the desired number will soon be sold.

Yesterday the committee representing the printing firms of the city submitted its report, which showed that the printers are also deeply interested in the success of the big show.

Throughout the state there have been evidences of deep interest in the proposition and letters are being received daily by The Oregonian including subscriptions from various sections of the state.

Following are the letters received yesterday including subscriptions:

Will Address Sunnyside Rally.
R. R. Butler, Presidential elector, and Judge J. E. Mazers will deliver addresses good supply of cucumbers, peppers, peas and beans—string, wax, shell and Lima—mostly from California, the front having checked the local supply. Celery is very good and so is cauliflower. The remainder of the available list includes eggplant, spinach, Brussels sprouts, okra, corn, celeriac, artichokes, oyster plant, several sorts of squash, cabbage—red and white—and the usual root vegetables. Tomatoes are getting steadily higher in price. Green ones are about 40 cents a box, and red ones are about 10 cents a pound. Poultry prices tend somewhat lower; that means that there are plenty of the cheaper grades of "chickens" to be had at 15 or 16 cents a pound.
