New Bills at Vaudeville Houses

ORPHEUM.
SOME remarkable feats of legerdemain are being shown this week at the Orpheum by Valdon, who introduces various and unique conceptions of modern magic. Five attacks of the magician's rapid-fire changes in which he reproduces out of apparently nothing articles enough to start the average bride and groom in housekeeping. One of the most interesting acts is that of Top, Topsy & Tops, including their performing dogs. Fred Bauer sings his illustrated song well and the pictures hold the attention.

PANTAGES.
THERE is a troupe of eight genuinely voiceful Austrians at Pantages this week who give a very well selected program of grand opera selections and sing them so well that music-lovers are justified in becoming somewhat enthusiastic over their efforts. The list includes the Toreador song from "Carmen," a quartet from "Rigoletto," the familiar "Lucia" sextet, some Italian folk songs, the waltz song from "Rome and Juliet," "The Last Rose of Summer," a German drinking song and the greatly overworked Miserie from "Il Trovatore." This act alone is sufficient to make the bill acceptable.

STUCK TYPE IN GOOD OLD DAYS OF "CASES"
Walter Sutton, Old Composer, Sees Linotype and Other Electrical Devices of This Age for First Time.
It was many years ago, - almost half a century, - that Walter Sutton "held a case" on the Oregonian, setting type with the best of them, turning in the "setting" at the end of the week as long as any. Yesterday he called at the Oregonian to find some of his old friends who had worked side by side with him when hand composition was the only method of typesetting.
