

DOOR IS FORGED TO REACH HEARST

Deputy Serves Summons in Haskell Suit Under Difficulties.

MRS. HEARST SCREAMS

Officer Finds Editor in Bathroom on Train—Haskell Claims $600,000 Damages—Hearst Invites Others to Sue Him.

OMAHA, Oct. 16.—After a dramatic scene on the Union Pacific train No. 2 last night in which the door of his stateroom was burst open by a deputy sheriff, William R. Hearst, the millionaire editor, was served with papers notifying him that suit for $600,000 had been brought against him for slander and libel by Governor Charles N. Haskell, of Oklahoma, in the Douglas county, Nebraska, district court. The summons was served by Deputy Sheriff Stewart for Smythe & Smythe of Omaha, who are Mr. Haskell's attorneys in the damage suit.

The suit was filed in the district court at 10 o'clock last night, after which the papers were immediately withdrawn. It was known that Mr. Hearst would pass through Omaha last night on his way from Seattle to New York, and plans were laid accordingly.

Union Pacific train No. 2 was due at 8:30 o'clock, but did not arrive until 11:20 o'clock. Mr. Stewart was on hand with orders to serve the summons on Mr. Hearst, but had a trying time in doing so.

Mrs. Hearst Denies and Screams.

A knock on the door of Mr. Hearst's stateroom elicited the information through the door from the editor's wife that he was not in the room, but had gone to the depot to send a telegram. Not to be cheated, the deputy sheriff demanded admittance in the name of the law, saying that if he were not admitted, he would break down the door. Then ensued a dramatic scene. Mrs. Hearst, on the inside, screamed out that she was alone and would admit no man, and the deputy decided to carry out his threat to break in. Using his shoulder as a battering-ram, he crashed through the door and was met by Mrs. Hearst, partially dressed, apparently on the verge of hysteria.

Nothing daunted, although Mrs. Hearst rushed screaming through the door out into the aisle, Mr. Stewart started to kick in the door of the toilet-room adjoining the stateroom.

Hearst Found When Door Broken In

Then it was that Mr. Hearst emerged and accepted the papers which the deputy thrust out. Mr. Hearst said that the papers were entirely unexpected; that he had not the least suspicion that anything of the kind was to occur in Omaha. "Why did you not admit me to the office," he was asked.

"Because myself and wife were retiring for the night," explained Mr. Hearst.

"Frankly, I don't believe this case will ever come to trial, and the knowledge that this suit has been filed does not disturb me in the least. When Governor Haskell said not very long ago that the only reason for not bringing an action against me was his lack of funds, I offered to donate the necessary amount from my own pocket, and this offer still holds good."

Examination of the door of the stateroom disclosed the fact that no damage had been done aside from breaking the locks of the door.

Basils of Libel Suit.

The petition in the case is as follows: "Plaintiff for his cause of action states that all the time heretofore, defendant was and now is the owner and publisher of a certain newspaper, published daily in the city of Chicago, Ill., and known as the Chicago Examiner; that said newspaper is given a wide and extensive circulation in said city and state and in the entire United States and especially in the States of Illinois and Nebraska."

LABOR COUNCIL ELECTS

Called Him Standard Oil Tool.

"I have shown how the Democratic party altered its platform to suit the Standard Oil Company and made Mr. Haskell, who was an agent of the Standard Oil Company, the chairman of their committee on platform."

"I have shown how the Democratic party first held out its hand to the Standard Oil Company and then repudiated this small Haskell as its National treasurer to take up the collection."

"Here we have a President who apparently does not heed his advice and then we have a Standard Oil tool made chairman of the committee on platform at the National Democratic convention and treasurer of the Democratic campaign fund."

"Why was Mr. Haskell placed in these important positions in the Democratic party? It was first to make a platform that will hold the Standard Oil and then to make a proposition that will hold up the Standard Oil."

"Mr. Bryan says that the Republican party cannot possibly be sincere in its attitude against the trusts with Mr. Duggan, a member of the governing committee, at the head of its speakers' committee."

"My friends, Mr. Mooney, who is one of the best editorial writers in the United States, emphasizes that point in this morning's Commercial Appeal."

"I am going to subscribe to his paper in the hope that he will tell me some time later how the Democratic party possibly be sincere in its attitude against the trusts with a Standard Oil tool placed at the head of its platform committee and then at the head of its treasury."

Injurious Meaning of Charge.

"That by said statement and publication the defendant meant and intended to insinuate and charge, and did insinuate and charge, and was by the readers of said article, understood to mean and charge, that this plaintiff, Charles N. Haskell, while Governor of said state of Oklahoma, and while chairman of said platform committee, was an 'agent' and 'tool' of the Standard Oil Company, and that as such he 'knowingly, wickedly and corruptly formed and framed, and assisted in forming and framing the platform" of the Democratic party, or a part thereof to protect and promote the interest of said Standard Oil Company to the prejudice and injury of good government and of the people at large; and that as treasurer of said Democratic National Committee he knowingly, wickedly and corruptly, without honor and integrity, took up the collection from and 'held up' said Standard Oil Company, the defendant insinuating, meaning and charging thereby, and was by his readers of said article understood to mean and charge thereby, that said Charles N. Haskell, wickedly disregarding his duties and obligations to the people at large, did corruptly collect enormous funds from and dishonorably incur improper political obligations to said Standard Oil Company.

Good Name Damaged $600,000.

"Plaintiff states that the publication above quoted, in all its meanings and innuendoes, was wilfully, wantonly, wickedly and maliciously made by defendant and concerning the plaintiff, Charles N. Haskell; that the same was and is false and untrue; that the facts were well known by the defendant at the time of the publication thereof, and that the same was and is designed to expose the plaintiff to public hatred, contempt and ridicule, to deprive him of the benefits of public confidence and social intercourse, to blacken his name and destroy his good name and reputation."

"That the false statements above quoted were published and circulated in the Nebraska and in Douglas County. That by reason of said publication above quoted plaintiff has been damaged to the sum of $600,000, and that by reason of said willful, wanton and malicious act, and as an example and warning to other wrongdoers, and as punishment for the defendant, said William R. Hearst, should be required to pay plaintiff exemplary and punitive damages in the additional sum of $200,000."

"Wherefore, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant for the sum of $800,000 as actual damages, as aforesaid, and for the further sum of $200,000 as exemplary or punitive damages."

"SMYTHE, SMYTHE & SHOLA," "JAMES A. READ," "RALPH F. LOZIER and "VIRGIL CONKLING," "Attorneys for Plaintiff."

DENIES HEARST'S STATEMENT

Haskell Says He Never Offered to Pay Expense of Suit.

GUTHRIE Okla., Oct. 16.—Agent the statement accredited last night to William R. Hearst, Governor Haskell upon his return home from Ohio today, said:

"As to Mr. Hearst's Omaha statement that he sent me a letter stating that he would help pay expenses of my prosecution of him, and would accept service of summons by a notice mailed to him at any time, both statements are falsehoods. He has not sent me word of any kind, neither by letter nor telegram, nor in any other way. When I found that he had left his spectacular caravan on the Pacific Coast and was traveling Eastward through the mountains, I immediately guarded every trunk line gateway, St. Paul, Omaha, Kansas City, Port Worth and Houston, determined that he should not escape me."

ALL ARE WELCOME TO SUE

Hearst Only Condemns Officer's Methods—Wants Trial Soon.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Upon his arrival in Chicago today, W. R. Hearst dictated the following statement regarding the service upon him at Omaha of Governor Haskell's libel summons:

"I don't at all care whether the method of serving the summons was contrary to law or not, and I am perfectly willing to receive the summons. I don't hold anything against the Deputy Sheriff except the fact that he did not say that he was an officer of the law, and I don't say that he had a summons of any kind or a legal paper of any kind to serve."

"I was in the bar room at the time, not avoiding any one, nor suspecting any one. Some one knocked at the door and Mrs. Hearst went to the door. She thought he was a drunken ruffian. She declined to let him in and he broke open the door. I stepped out and asked what the trouble was all about, and the man said he had a summons in a civil suit to serve. Of course, my action was high-handed and contrary to law, but I accepted the summons notwithstanding, and I invite Mr. Haskell's suit immediately before election."

"I am going to New York late today and will pass through Indiana. If Mr. Taggart has any suit to bring, I will be pleased to accept his service."

"I am then going through Ohio, and if Mr. Foraker has anything in the way of a suit, I will be on the platform waiting to accept his service."

"I make these statements and give you my itinerary in order that, if any suits are to be brought, they may be served without any unnecessary annoyance to my family."

"Mr. Hearst also declared that he is willing to accept service from Senator Baile and Mr. Bryan, asking only that the suits be brought at once, so that the facts may be established before election. He also asserted that, if Governor Haskell desires to bring a criminal action, he will welcome it."

Perfects Organization and Chooses J. R. Ledwidge President.

With the final adoption of a constitution and by-laws and the election of officers, the Central Labor Council, the new central body of organized labor in this city, last night perfected an organization. LYNN, Mass., Oct. 16.—More than half of the 15,000 operatives employed in 87 shoe factories in this city returned to work today.

DENVER IS AGITATED IN BRYAN'S HONOR

Colorado Capital Pours Its People Into Auditorium and Streets.

HAND SORE WITH SHAKING

Candidate Boasts of Democratic Honesty in Publishing Campaign Donations and Calls for Light on Republican Platform.

DENVER, Oct. 16.—W. J. Bryan, Democratic candidate for President, was the guest of this city for several hours tonight and was given a most cordial reception. In spite of a threatening storm accentuated by fitful rainfalls, great crowds lined the streets through which the candidate rode to the Auditorium, where he delivered the principal speech of the programme of speakers planned for him. All along the line of march he was received with enthusiastic acclaim. More than two scores of marching clubs from all sections of the state followed the candidate through the city's streets, and as he progressed the glow of red fire and other pyrotechnics added to the brilliancy of the electrical effects arranged for the occasion.

Three Overflow Meetings.

On the way Mr. Bryan halted three times to address the crowds that lined the streets along the line of march, where it had been arranged that he should stop and briefly speak to overflow meetings. It required three quarters of an hour to reach the Auditorium, in which were assembled 14,000 people. As many more were compelled to content themselves outside with a glimpse of the candidate as he passed through the entranceway.

One of the features of the parade was an effigy of an elephant, representing the Republican party, being dead from the shafts of Democratic assault, each spear being labeled with Democratic arguments, such as "Anti-publicity," "Ananias Club," "Tariff revision."

Crowds Throughout Trip.

Mr. Bryan boarded a Burlington train for Omaha immediately after the Auditorium meeting. A delegation of local Democrats accompanied him.

Unexpected crowds in many of the Nebraska and Colorado towns and cities greeted Mr. Bryan on his trip from Plattsmouth to Denver today. Every stop drew a crowd assembled and a speech was called for and given.

The publication of the campaign contributions gave Mr. Bryan a text at many of these places, and he varied his short speeches on the guaranty of bank deposits with a discussion of the publicity plank of the Democratic party and called on the Republican party to be as honest with the people.

Hands Sore With Shaking.

The heartiness of the western handshakes has shaken Mr. Bryan and today his hands are sore and swollen from the heavy grasps given him by his admirers. Notwithstanding this fact, he extended his hand as willingly as ever, but frequently winced with pain as a big Westerner would come down hard with an affectionate greeting.

In his speech here tonight Mr. Bryan referred to the fact that the Democratic National committee had published a list of contributors and he said that the Republican party did the same. He asked that the Republicans make known their positions on needed labor legislation and "not betray the toiler with a kiss."

Calls for More Light.

"What is it going to do on the Philippine question?" he inquired. "It has enormously increased the appropriations for the Army and the Navy in preparation for wars that ought never to come. It has boasted of possessions in the Orient, while the Filipinos clamor for an announcement of the Nation's policy. Let them be light."

Mr. Bryan said that the Democratic convention declared for the popular election of Senators, and he said that the convention overwhelmingly voted against it. The Republican candidate had merely expressed a personal inclination in his favor, but he said that the Republican platform deals in generalities and its purposes are not made clear. In conclusion, he said:

"The Democratic party takes the public into its confidence and submits its policies to their judgment. Let the Republican party be equally candid and open its books and its plans. Let them be light."

MACK SAYS FIGHT IS WON

Bryan Manager Claims New York, Indiana and Ohio.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—National Chairman Mack, who has been in Chicago for nearly two weeks, directing the fight in the West for the election of the Democratic ticket, left tonight for the East. After registering at his home, Buffalo, Mr. Mack will leave for New York to look over the situation in New York and the East. Mr. Mack said, before his departure:

"I have not received one discouraging report. Mr. Bryan will not only receive the majority of the electoral votes, but one of the greatest popular votes ever given a candidate. The fight is won, but we must keep everlastingly at it for the remaining two weeks of the campaign."

"It is too early to give out figures, and I will not attempt to do so, but I will say right now that New York, Ohio and Indiana are Democratic this year, and my prediction does not take into consideration a number of other states that will swing from the Republican to the Democratic column, two weeks from Tuesday."

MARKS NEW ERA, SAYS BRYAN

Nebraskan Comments on Publication of Campaign Contributions.

MCCOOK, Neb., Oct. 16.—This was supposed to be a day of rest for William J. Bryan. No speeches were scheduled until tonight, when he is to speak in Denver. Hardly had he awakened at Holdrege this morning, however, than he was called upon to address a crowd of several hundred people gathered at the depot. Then, too, there were short speeches at Oxford and McCook, where crowds listened to the nominee.

The publication of the contributions by the National Democratic Committee was commented upon by Mr. Bryan, who freely this afternoon in his address at Holdrege.

"This will inaugurate a new era in American politics," he said. "It shows that nearly 60,000 people of the United States contributed less than $200,000

DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE RAISES $12,744.

Representatives and National Committee Contribute Bulk of Fund so Far Reported.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The Democratic National Congressional Committee today made public the list of campaign contributions of $100 or more. They aggregate $12,744, while smaller contributions bring the total to approximately $20,000. Among the contributors were one of $3000 from the Democratic National Committee.

James T. Lloyd, chairman of the committee in making public the Congressional campaign fund, stated that in order to complete the work the committee is in urgent need of at least $15,000. Mr. Lloyd says:

"The Democratic National Congressional Committee received prior to the Denver convention in contributions of $100 and over, the sum of $3500. It has received in sums of $100 and over in addition to the above amount, for which it makes specific report, on account of the action of the Denver convention in regard to publicity of campaign funds, the following amounts:

Congressman R. C. Davy, Louisiana, $2,000; J. P. Felt, South Carolina, $1,000; W. Saunders, Virginia, $100 each; Morris Sheppard, Texas, $100; Jack Bell, Texas, $100; J. G.
