SERVANS FOR WAR

Those Living in Oregon Offer Services to King Peter.

CABLE TO RESIST AUSTRIA

Mass Meeting Declares for Holding Provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina and Will Send Troops and Money if Needed.

At a mass meeting of Servians at Epworth Hall, Seventeenth and Marshall streets, yesterday afternoon, a message was drafted and cabled last night to King Peter, urging war to resist Austria's annexation of the Provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and promising both money and men in case of war.
There were between 200 and 400 Servians at the meeting, and many are said to have come from various parts of the state, so deeply interested are they in the affairs of their fatherland. Patriotic addresses were delivered, and enthusiasm expressed itself in vociferous applause and hurrahs.
There are said to be perhaps 500 Servian citizens in Portland, and the meeting was attended by both men and women. The women were as patriotic as the men, and joined in the general acclamation for war on the part of King Peter.
The message was cabled to King Peter last night. It urged him not to permit the annexation of the two provinces by Austria, and asked that he resist such action by force of arms. It also assured Servia's ruler of aid, both in money and men, and declared that there are at least 150,000 Servians in the United States, who would respond to the first call to arms.
Committees were appointed to canvass the various Servian citizens of this and adjoining cities, to ascertain how many men could be enlisted in case war is declared between Servia and Austria. The resolution adopted protests against the proposed annexation of the provinces, and claims that they are part of Servia, not only because their histories are the same, but because of natural geographical and social conditions.
The meeting was called to order by Rev. Marich, and among those who spoke were: Peter Gumba, Baanko

WRIGHT'S LEG IS KNIT

Injured Aeroplane Pilot Will Soon Leave for His Home.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Orville Wright, the aeroplane pilot, who narrowly escaped death during a flight at Fort Myer, Va., five weeks ago, will soon be able to leave for his home at Dayton, O. His most serious injury was a broken thigh and the splint was removed from this today. It was found upon measuring the left leg, the one injured, that it is but a quarter of an inch shorter than the other. An X-ray examination showed that the knitting of the broken bones has been perfect.

OREGON NATIVE SON DEAD AT COLORADO SPRINGS.

The Late Robert Wilkinson.
Robert Wilkinson, a printer, died at Colorado Springs, at the Printers' Home, October 7 last, of consumption. He was born in Jacksonville, Or., May 1, 1849, and in early boyhood learned the printers' trade and for years worked in Jacksonville on the Times. He went to California, but soon his health began to fail and the doctor ordered him to go to the Springs in Colorado, where it was thought he would improve, but his health failed rapidly until death ended his sufferings. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Thomas Granlinna and a sister, Mrs. Della Goodman, both living in Baker City.

TAFT'S LEAD GROWS

Butler Predicts Republican Margin of 25,000.

HAS HELD MANY RALLIES

Candidate for Presidential Elector Finds No Evidence of Apathy in Southern and Western Parts of State.

After speaking for two weeks to interested audiences throughout Southern Oregon and the Willamette Valley, R. R. Butler, nominee on the Republican ticket for Presidential elector, returned to Portland yesterday feeling confident that the voters of the state will give Taft and Sherman a plurality of at least 25,000. Having come in personal contact with the electors of the southern and western sections of the state, Mr. Butler declares that his observations fully warrant him in predicting a plurality for the Republican ticket in excess of the claim of the members of the State Central Committee, based on estimates received earlier in the campaign.
"General interest in the Presidential election has been manifested by the voters in every section I have visited during the last two weeks," said Mr. Butler at the Imperial yesterday. "While it is true none of the political meetings in Oregon this year are being marked by any great degree of enthusiasm, yet the voters are coming out in large numbers to hear the political issues discussed. There is every indication that the voters are thinking and the majority already have made up their minds how they shall vote next week."
"Reports that the Republicans of the state are apathetic are entirely unfounded. I have yet to find a community where the members of the majority party are indifferent. At the beginning of the campaign the interest probably was not as apparent as it is now but the voters very generally have become aroused to the importance the pending election bears to this state and its interests. For that reason, they will be found voting right. I am convinced that Oregon will give Taft not less than 25,000 plurality."
On his tour of Willamette Valley points last week, Mr. Butler was accompanied by Henry M. McKinney, representative-elect from Baker County. Although this is Mr. McKinney's first experience as a public speaker, he has made good and won the applause of his audience. Mr. Butler has been doing some of the most effective work of the campaign.

HUMPHREY TALKS TONIGHT

Taft's Decisions to Be Discussed at Armory.

M. E. Church South Closes Columbia Conference.

APPOINTMENTS ARE MADE

Bishop Atkins' Delivers Address at Final Meeting, Praising Fraternal Spirit Among Churches of Portland.

The Columbia Conference of the Methodist Church South, which has been in session in the Grand-Avenue United Presbyterian Church since Thursday, closed last night with a sermon by Rev. W. E. Vaughan, of San Francisco, an address by Bishop James Atkins and the reading of the appointments for the coming year. Bishop Atkins declared that he had never visited a place where there was so much fraternal spirit among the Protestant churches as he had found in Portland. He also reviewed the work of the Methodist Church South, setting forth that in the Southland the work among the negroes and ex-slaveholders had been a great burden, but it was a burden the church has carried successfully. The bishop further said that the Southern Methodist Church contained 1,700,000 members, the flower of the land, and hoped to extend its work more generally on the great Pacific Coast.
In the appointments made, the announcement that Rev. E. H. Mowbray was returned to Portland was received with satisfaction by the large audience. He will, therefore, bring to completion the great church started two years ago. Rev. C. L. McCausland, formerly presiding elder, goes to Seattle, where a work of importance is under way. Rev. E. E. Jones, of Coquille, was made presiding elder. A commission of three was appointed to co-operate with like commissions from the Montana and West Columbia Conferences to unite all three in one conference. Following are the appointments:
Presiding Elder, E. B. Jones; Portland First Church, E. H. Mowbray; Seattle, C. L. McCausland; Corvallis, N. D. Wood; Lebanon and Tangent, George M. Gardner; Harrisburg, W. N. Lyons; Oakland, A. J. HORSE IS ORDERED KILLED

Teamster's Animals Found to Be Affected With Glanders.

Marion Black, a teamster of Hillsboro, brought his two horses to Portland Saturday to have them examined by a veterinary surgeon, as they had been illing for some days. When Dr. Brown made an examination of the animals he diagnosed glanders, one of the horses particularly being seriously affected. The owner was ordered to take the animal to the garbage crematory to be killed and buried. The other horse is not so badly diseased and is to be kept isolated until the State Veterinarian passes on its condition.
A question has been raised as to the liability of the state in instances of this kind, it being said by the owner of the team that his horses were infected through no fault of his own, and he endeavored to prevent further infection by coming to the nearest veterinary to have them examined.

WOULD USE OLD BRIDGE

Engineer Suggests Improvements to Present Structure.

Engineer W. A. Grondahl has a plan to solve the problem of erecting bridges across the Willamette River that would not be obstructions to navigation. He said: "Now it is probable that the Steel bridge will have to be rebuilt anyway, and while I have not prepared sketches or made an estimate, I think that a double-deck structure could be built for 400,000, or a trifle more. I would suggest building it some higher and maintaining the draw at the present location. Under my idea the lower draw only would be opened for most of the time for the passage of smaller craft, no wide interior draw between the O. R. & N. Company, the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company and the taxpayers of Multnomah County, would not be onerous. I would suggest a bridge 60 feet wide, ten-foot sidewalks, 30 feet for vehicles and 20 feet for streetcars. The present draw piers would not have to be rebuilt, but could be built higher. This would effect a considerable saving. With such a bridge traffic could be cared for, it seems to me, for years to come, and a great saving would be effected."
