

DRAMA ADDRESSES
MONSTER CROWD

Incessant Cheering at Madison Square Revives Tired Democratic Orator.

VOICE OF GREAT POWER

Drenched in Ride to Paterson, Kissed by Gushing Women, He Closes Day With Crowning Oration of Campaign.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, N. Y., Oct. 26.—At the close of a twelve day day of outdoor speaking in a drizzling rain, of fast-moving trips by automobile and special train, of receptions and formal dinners, and of three big evening meetings in different sections of the city, Mr. J. Bryan addressed in Madison Square Garden tonight the most notable gathering of his three campaigns. The great oval amphitheater of the Garden held an immense throng, limited only by the vast capacity. From platform to the furthest reaches of the loftiest four of the encircling galleries there was no vacant place. The pulpit early in the evening cut off all access to the building, with a disappointed, waiting line looking in length.

Notable as it was in the size and enthusiasm of its great crowd, the meeting took superior rank in the distinguished personnel of its speakers and party leaders who sat with Mr. Bryan upon the platform and cheered his every sentiment.

Fourteen Minutes' Cheering.—It was 10:15 o'clock when Mr. Bryan finally reached the Garden. His coming was heralded by eager outposts at the door and the first cry of "Bryan" brought all to their feet in one rising wave of humanity. A flag was in the hands of every person in the vast audience and the scene as the Presidential candidate made his way through the aisles to the stage was strikingly a repetition of the demonstration at Denver, when Mr. Bryan was nominated. The waving of the flags in a rippling sea of color, the cheering and the music lasted 14 minutes before Mr. Bryan, with uplifted hands, finally secured silence that permitted him to proceed.

Wet in Morning, Kissed at Noon.—The candidate began his long day with a dash through mud and rain in Paterson, N. J., in an automobile. He spoke in a downpour for 20 minutes and, like the thousands in his audience, was drenched to the skin. Returning to the city, he was the center of a demonstration at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where two impulsive women threw their arms about Mr. Bryan and kissed him. Next he made a flying trip through Westchester County, speaking at Yonkers, White Plains, Port Chester, New Rochelle and Mount Vernon.

Publicity Brings Climax.—In his Garden speech Mr. Bryan devoted a large part of his time to labor topics. The enthusiasm reached its height when he predicted that, whether the Democratic party won or lost, its policy of publicity of contributions would become the law of the land.

Lesser Lights Shine.—Ex-Governor Francis, who was Secretary of the Interior in Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet, referred to the fact that the Democracy was united this year and said it was time to change the administration of Federal affairs.

EXPECTS TO BE ELECTED.—"I expect to be in Washington after March 4," he said. "I am glad," he continued, "to be encouraged by the reports that come from your city and your state."

demand that the Senate submit to the will of the people expressed at the polls. Mr. Bryan once again took occasion to urge the election of Mr. Chandler and the entire Democratic ticket. Continuing he said: "I have watched the progress of this campaign. I wish, as you can see, to be drawn to a close, to leave with you some thoughts I believe worthy of your consideration before you vote. I charge that the Republican leaders no longer lead the Republican voters. I believe that our platform better expresses the real desire of a majority of the Republic of the United States than their desire is expressed in the Republican platform."

Honesty in Politics.—He called attention to what he said was the departure of the Republican leaders from the ideas of the early Republicans and declared: "The Republican party has claimed to be the party of morality. It has claimed to express the conscience of the Nation. I charge that today it misrepresents the general sentiment of the country and betrays the conscience of the American people."

Champion of Gompers.—Taking up the President's letter regarding labor, Mr. Bryan said the President, criticized Mr. Gompers the other day for criticizing the courts. "I submit," he declared, "that Mr. Gompers has never criticized the courts more severely than President Roosevelt himself has criticized the courts."

Talks to Women of Justice.—Bryan speaks on Equitable Distribution of Profits. NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—William J. Bryan spoke in the Astor Gallery at a reception of the Woman's Democratic Club at the Waldorf-Astoria today. He spoke in a hoarse and low tone and seemed very tired. Mr. Bryan was loudly applauded. He said in part: "I will appreciate the difference between now and the year when I began. When I was in New York, I was in a room with a reception, but there were not very many women present. This gathering today is very gratifying in that it shows an ever-growing throng which supports and holds in those principles which have the desire for justice as their inherent cause."

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 26.—On a special train, John W. Kern, Democratic candidate for Vice-President, spent the day campaigning from Indianapolis to Jeffersonville. He returned to Indianapolis late tonight and immediately went to his home to make ready for his second day, which will be spent in the northeastern part of the state.

LESSEY LIGHTS SHINE.—Governor Francis, who was Secretary of the Interior in Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet, referred to the fact that the Democracy was united this year and said it was time to change the administration of Federal affairs.

DREAM OF EMPIRE
Local Servians Would Change History of Europe.

SLAV KING COMING RULER
Mostly Slavonian and Eager for Fight—Sidelights on Balkan Situation by Local Leader.

"A new empire in Europe, Servia dominating Austria and Hungary to form a separate kingdom and to be used for the buffer state that the whole Austrian Empire is now used for by Germany and Russia, to ward off the attacks of a Napoleon; a new country, one of Slavonians with a Slavonian ruler, one of 35,000,000 Slavonians—why not? We can do it, and now is the time. We may change the history of Europe. Servia is the natural ruler of the Slavonians. We can make it the seat of empire if King Peter says so, and I am your man if King Peter wants to fight. Four thousand other Servians and Bulgarians in Oregon will go with me and other leaders to Servia, and 100,000 more in the United States will follow the banner if we start the march for home and war and liberty."

Mostly Slavs in Austria-Hungary.—"Austria and Hungary," he declared, "would be alone in the war. They could put in the field just about a couple of million men. Their total population does not amount to more than 15,000,000. How do you take sides?" "No side; I want you to tell the story."

Story of Ferdinand's Accession.—"Now, here is a story, known only to students of Bulgarian and Servian history and never published to my knowledge. In the latter '80s, or the middle '90s, Servia and Bulgaria were at war, King Milan against Prince Alexander. Then war was started by Austria, which then with the aid of Germany tried to get the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina, just as it has done now. As a result of that war Ferdinand came to the throne, against the wishes of Europe, so it was said at the time, but really with the acquiescence of all the powers except Austria and Germany, which did not want him at the head of the principality because they wanted to make it an Austrian dependency. Austria and Germany had to fall in line and so Ferdinand did not like him and they are willing to revolt against him."
