

CURRICULUM OF NIGHT SCHOOLS

Academic Studies Will Be Added and Teaching Corps Increased to 13.

NO ACTION ON SALARIES

Board of Education Takes Fire Marshal Roberts to Task for Protest Against Heating Plant at Woodlawn.

By unanimous vote of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon, high school branches were added to the course of instruction in the night schools, and the corps of instructors was increased from nine to 13. The additions to the staff were in response to a demand made to City Superintendent of Schools Rigler and by him presented to the Board. Thirty-one applicants for higher education had asked that they be given an opportunity to study algebra and classic English.

"That would mean a rapid extension of the night school system," would it not?" asked Director Beach when he heard the application.

"But the city is extending rapidly," remarked Chairman Witterberg. "It is done in all cities of the size of Portland," explained Mr. Rigler. "Of 500 pupils in the night schools in Seattle last year a great many were doing high school work."

Night Enrollment Is 270.

Mr. Rigler said there were 270 pupils in the night schools and the number of instructors only nine. One of the instructors, Mr. Wiley, was acting as a specialist in conversational English, and his time was fully occupied. "There are more teachers needed besides an instructor in the higher branches," Mr. Hayes, of the High School corps, would have these branches. The Board authorized the Superintendent to make the appointments.

Fire Marshal Roberts presented a complaint against the condition and the heating equipment of the old Woodlawn school. Some of the stoves, Mr. Roberts said, were cracked and had to be held together with wires. The physical condition of the building was such, so he had been told, that when the children were taking exercises the structure swayed and a stove or two toppled over.

"Another blast from Roberts," was the acknowledgment Mr. Witterberg gave to the communication.

Did Not Visit Woodlawn.

"I don't think he has," answered the chairman. "He says he has only been told of what he reports. I shall refer the matter to the superintendent of buildings with instructions to Mr. Roberts and tell him to make a personal investigation before he reports next time."

Director Fieschner, of the finance committee, to which committee the question of increasing teachers' salaries had been referred, asked and was granted farther time in which to report.

New Teachers Are Engaged.

Miss Gertrude Camp, of Lansing, Wis., and Miss Eselle Patton, of Los Angeles, were engaged as teachers to fill vacancies caused by the resignations of Miss L. Kaye and Miss Nellie Tuttle. Only two bids for school furniture were received. One was from the Northwest School Furniture Company at from $2.33 to $2.45, to be installed as the district needs them, and the other from A. A. Andrews & Co., of Tacoma, from $2.50 to $2.54. The bids were referred to the supply committee.

Amusements

Special Matinee at Helig.

There will be two performances at the Helig Theater today. A special matinee will be given at 2:30 o'clock and the last time tonight at 8:15. The attraction will be Joseph and William Jefferson in "The Road to Yesterday," the first production in the West of this fantastic musical play, which minutes supposedly double lives of persons who lived in both the 17th and 19th centuries.

"The Road to Yesterday."

Every regular theatergoer will want to see the Baker stock company's production of the much talked about play, "The Road to Yesterday," this week at the Helig Theater. This is the first production in the West of this fantastic musical play, which minutes supposedly double lives of persons who lived in both the 17th and 19th centuries.

Bargain Matinee Today.

This afternoon the first bargain matinee of the season will be given at the Baker and the lowest uniform price is to be charged for the entire house. The attraction is "The Road to Yesterday," the first production in the West of this fantastic musical play, which minutes supposedly double lives of persons who lived in both the 17th and 19th centuries.

"The Flaming Arrow."

Lincoln J. Carter's border drama, "The Flaming Arrow," which is playing at the Helig Theater, is said to possess the true Western melodramatic flavor, depending for its success upon the exciting, together with an excellent plot. The company numbers 25 people and has elaborate paraphernalia.

"Pink Dominoes" at Lyric.

One of the most delightful performances seen in Portland during recent seasons is being offered at the Lyric this week by the Blunkall company, which has never failed to make a hit. Each member of the company seems to be striving to outdo the other. Go tonight and see a great show.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Willard in "A Poor Relation."

Lee Willard, together with his capable company of players, will present Sol Smith Russell's successful comedy drama, "A Poor Relation," at the Helig Theater, next Saturday and Sunday nights. Mr. Willard is so well and favorably known in this city that large audiences will no doubt be the rule.

"The Squaw Man" Coming.

Portland theatergoers are again to enjoy a delightful treat in the coming of the De Witt actor, Dustin Farnum, to the Helig Theater for one week, beginning next Monday night, November 2. In the past week Western play, "The Squaw Man." The only matinee will be Saturday.

"Men and Women."

One of the best-known plays on the modern stage is Heliasov's "Men and Women," which the Baker Company will present all next week at the Bungalow. It has not been seen here for six years, and those who still hold pleasant memories of it will naturally want to see their present favorite play the different roles.

James J. Corbett Coming.

Next Sunday matinee at the Baker James J. Corbett, the world-renowned ex-champion prize fighter, who since retiring from the prize ring has developed into a thoroughly clever actor, will give an Eastern success, "Facing the Music." Mr. Corbett is supported by an excellent company.

"Montana Limited" Coming.

One of the notable productions of the theatrical season will be the presentation of "The Montana Limited," at the Star Theater next Sunday matinee November 1. It is a play of the West, written especially for Klum & Gazzolo, by Charles Ulrich and V. L. Roberts.

Lee Hawkins Coming to Orpheum.

Lee Hawkins has rightly earned the title "The Chesterfield of Minstrelsy" by his clever and original work in the foremost best work on the stage. He is now at the Orpheum in his great Eastern success, "Facing the Music." Mr. Corbett is supported by an excellent company.

Parisian Dancer Coming.

Lind, the Parisian dancer from the Folies Berger, will come to the Grand next week at the head of a big bill. Lind's costumes are among the most gorgeous ever worn by an artistic dancer. "The Parisian Dancer" is a play of the West, written especially for Klum & Gazzolo, by Charles Ulrich and V. L. Roberts.

Over the Hills to the Poorhouse.

The offering at the Lyric for next week is an extraordinary one in which the Blunkall company has undoubtedly made one of the greatest successes of the season. It is a play that sells all classes of audiences, being thoroughly American, clean and entertaining. The first performance is Sunday afternoon.

AT THE VAUDEVILLE THEATERS.

German Comedy at Orpheum.

Frank and Joe Wilson, who are now appearing as the Wilson brothers, were formerly members of the Wilson trio, well known in vaudeville as singing comedians. They are offering a German comedy act called "Tadpole Comedy," in which, besides telling the English language into almost impossible situations, they sing new vaudeville warblers and songs in German and yiddish.

D'Amon to Read Poems.

There will be a special matinee for women at the Grand next Friday between 1 and 2 o'clock, when D'Amon will read poems. This will not conflict with the regular matinee. No men will be permitted in the theater until 1:30. D'Amon is one of the greatest mind readers in the world, and if there is any question you are anxious to ask him any afternoon or evening during his engagement, he is surrounded on the bill by a strong list of vaudeville features, embracing comedians, musicians and singers. The critics declare this a great vaudeville entertainment. If there is anything you want to know ask D'Amon.

Eva Fay at Pantages.

Mrs. Eva Fay's wonderful exhibition of thaumaturgy is drawing thousands to the Pantages this week. She is not a fortune teller, palmist or pretender of any kind; she is not infallible, but the program she has arranged is such that the management firmly believes that no more mystifying, remarkable or artistic presentation has ever been given.

GOING AFTER COURTHOUSE

PUSH CLUBS TO BEGIN CAMPAIGN FOR BUILDING.

Delegates Hold Meeting and Formulate Plans for Organized Effort to Secure Structure on East Side.

At an open meeting of delegates from the East Side push clubs last night at the Seaside Hotel, Grand and Hawthorne avenues, plans were adopted for a campaign to secure the building of a new Court House at some point on the East Side. Two preliminary meetings of the presidents of the clubs had been held to discuss the feasibility of the undertaking, and a committee composed of W. L. Boise, M. G. Munly, A. G. Bushlight and L. C. Rice was appointed to report on a plan. This committee reported through Mr. Boise.

It is recommended that between $5500 and $5000 be raised to defray expenses of the movement, that offices be secured for two or three months and public meetings be held in all portions of the county, starting at Sellwood and including Gresham, Troutdale, Fairview and St. John. The committee also recommended that on active steps be taken until after the result of the Presidential election is known. When headquarters have been secured a schedule of public meetings and speakers will be announced.

The object of the agitation will be to show the County Judge and Commissioners that the people of the East Side want the new Court House erected on the East Side when it is rebuilt. W. L. Boise said that the location of the Court House was not a matter to be referred to a vote of the people, but was in the power of the County Commissioners, as it was a judicial act. The meeting decided that no club should advocate or endorse any particular location. The matter of raising the money was referred to W. L. Boise, who said that there would be no trouble in securing whatever was needed to meet the expenses, and that he would undertake to get the money.

SENATOR BOURNE LOSES HEAVILY IN FRIENDLY GAME OF POKER

Solon Bets Limit on Full House and Wins Hundreds, but Eventually Drops a Neat Little Sum, Maybe $4,000, Maybe Less.

IT WAS a $50-limit and a six-handed game. Gus Simon was dealing, and Dr. C. H. Wheeler, who sat next him, glanced cautiously at his cards, saw three aces, and placed four blue chips in the center of the table. The pot was opened, for each blue chip represented $100.

"I'll raise it," said I. Lowengart, who sat next to the opener and held a small straight. He stacked up eight blues beside the opener's four.

"I'll stay," said United States Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., who thought a pair of kings backed up with a pair of fours looked pretty good in that pot. The other three players, including the dealer, passed and disgustedly tossed their cards in a heap. The Senator carelessly placed eight blue chips in the center of the table.

There were 20 blue chips, $2000 in the pot when it again got around to the opener, who was immediately pleased with the three big aces he still held. He met the raise, and added four more blue chips.

Association Asks Legislature to Provide Six for Circuit Court.

Lawyers Declare That Long Postponement of Trials Works Unjust Hardship on Litigants and Asks for Relief.

The Multnomah Bar Association, at its meeting at the Courthouse last night, unanimously adopted a resolution recommending that the number of Circuit Judges be increased from four to six. Dan J. Malarky offered the resolution early in the meeting, the motion to adopt it being seconded by A. E. Clark. In the discussion that followed not one dissenting voice was heard, all being agreed that the delay in the trial of a case which a hardship on worthy litigants. The resolution as adopted is as follows:

Text of the Resolutions.

Whereas, The Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Multnomah County is unable, with its present complement of judges, to properly handle the business coming before it, as is evidenced by the fact that the trial calendar is so crowded that cases now at issue cannot be tried until next March and April;

And whereas, The business of said court will continue to increase in proportion to the growth of said county, and said court, if its membership remains the same, will probably be still further behind in its trial calendar, such enforced delay in the trial of cases works a hardship on litigants and often operates as a denial of justice to worthy suitors and should not continue; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Multnomah Bar Association, in meeting assembled, that the Legislature of the State of Oregon should, at its next session, by appropriate legislation, provide for two additional judges or said court.

Wants to Consult Judges.

Alex. Bernstein suggested that it might be a good plan to appoint a committee to arrange with the four Circuit Judges to meet with the association, and state the need for two additional judges, and that they should be consulted as to the weight with the Legislature. This did not meet with the approval of other lawyers present, it being thought a delicate matter for the judges to present their own side. It was voted to have Chairman Ralph Fisher, of the association, appoint a committee of five to confer with the Multnomah delegation to the State Legislature, the character desired will carry, if the 20 members from Multnomah County favor it.

Speaking in favor of two more judges, Mr. Malarky said:

"Argument upon this point is not necessary. We sit here in the courtroom Monday morning as we did yesterday morning, and hear cases set for trial the last of March. Things are going from bad to worse. We are glad our city is growing so rapidly, and if it were an indication of the city's growth we might be able, for a time, to put up with the setting of cases a year or two in the future. But as the matter stands, unless we get relief next January, when the Legislature meets, we shall obtain no relief until 1911. We ought to have at least six judges in this county. I am frank to admit that if the judges came out and said that they did not need assistance, a measure of the character proposed would get a "black eye." But to ask for an increase, places them in a delicate position. If the request from the lawyers is to be regarded with suspicion, that suspicion would be increased if the request came from the judges, gentlemen, it is a question of our clients obtaining justice, and obtaining it speedily. We are aware of the situation, and we ought to take the initiative in the matter. There should be no trouble in carrying such legislation."

Statistics Will Be Prepared.

Attorney Fowler suggested that a committee from the Multnomah Bar Association wait upon the Oregon Bar Association, and obtain its indorsement of the proposition, but Mr. Clark opposed this saying that it is purely a local matter. Mr. Malarky also held to this view. Mr. Clark suggested that statistics showing the amount of work done by judges in other Coast cities be presented to the Multnomah delegation, with the amount of work done the past year by the Multnomah Circuit judges. A detailed statement of this kind, he said, would carry weight.

During the course of the discussion it was stated that Seattle has six judges, San Francisco has 12, besides four in the police court. Statistics are to be obtained by the committee of five, to Threatened dissolution of the Portland Board of Trade will not take place. Despite the resignations of President Townsend and Secretary Muller this week, both have been asked to reconsider and the critics of the organization will be resumed as if nothing had happened.

Directors of the Board met in special session in the rooms of the organization last night to act on the resignations of the two officers, which were tendered Monday. The resignations were read and the causes leading to them were discussed at length. The directors decided unanimously not to accept the resignations. Expressions of appreciation of the efforts of President Townsend and Secretary Muller were made by the directors, who were of one mind in wishing them to continue in the work.

It is considered probable, however, that the trading in options by the grain exchange conducted by the Board of Trade will be discontinued. But this is not fully settled. There will be a meeting of the grain committee Friday night to consider this proposition. Some of the members feel that this feature of the operations of the exchange has been detrimental to the best interests of the organization and has alienated some support that would otherwise have been gained for it. Members of the grain committee who will decide whether or not to abandon the trading in futures are: I. C. Sanford, chairman; D. A. Fattullo, F. W. Swanson, F. A. Shull and Tom McKee.

The financial report of the Board was submitted to the directors at last night's meeting and it was found that never before has the Board been in better shape to carry on its work than at present.

Every director pledged his full and undivided support in carrying on the work of the Board in future. It is said that the recent trouble will really result in the strengthening of the organization, for it will enlist the interest and united effort of the directorate to a degree never before attained.

Almost every director was present at last night's meeting. The directorate is composed of the following men: J. A. Bell, F. E. Beach, G. W. Cummings, R. Chilcote, John F. Daly, Willis Fisher, W. B. Glafke, C. L. Goodrich, T. S. Townsend, A. E. Steinbach, D. A. Fattullo, E. Lee Faget, Fred Muller, G. F. Johnson, E. C. Johnson, J. E. Murphy, W. H. McCorquodale, F. W. Swanson, T. N. The chairman appointed a committee to offer suggestions as to the desirable legislation. The members are: W. W. Cotton, C. H. Carey, R. G. Morrow, L. R. Webster and Dan J. Malarky. The meeting of the association November 1 is to be devoted especially to the receiving of such measures as the members of the bar may see fit to offer.

These are to be referred to the legislative committee, which will print out the undesirable parts, and report upon the bills. The members of the legislative committee are: L. E. Crouch, L. A. McNary, George W. Stapleton, M. C. George and S. B. Huston.

W. T. Gardner applied last night for membership in the association. The need of new courthouse was suggested at the meeting last night, but was not formally taken up.

EIGHT TIMES CONVICTED

G. B. Hansard Guilty of Violating Local Option Law.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special).—G. B. Hansard, who was convicted in the Justice Court at Lebanon recently of selling liquor in violation of the local option liquor law and given the maximum penalty of a fine of $500 and a sentence of 30 days in the County Jail, was convicted today in the State Circuit Court on an appeal from the Justice Court verdict. The jury was out an hour and a half. Judge Burnett will impose sentence Friday morning.

Hansard has been sentenced seven times for violation of the local option liquor law since the Linn County went "dry" $700 in fines and 20 days in the County Jail. He pleaded guilty on all of the seven former charges, but fought the present charge.

Vinol Restored This Man's Strength

"Several years ago I was attacked by a severe case of grippe, which left me with a hacking cough, soreness in my chest, and bronchitis. I took nearly every kind of cough syrup sold on the market, besides medicine given me by physicians.

I received no permanent relief until my druggist asked me to try Vinol, and after taking three bottles I was entirely cured.
