GOGORZA AT THE HELIG

Spanish Baritone Will Appear in Song Recital Thursday.

One of the numbers on Gogorza's programme for his recital tomorrow night is the notable "Aria de Thomas" from Gluck's love great work, "Iphigenie en Tauride." This aria is interesting to the students of great music because of its proof that Gluck had broken away from all the rules which restricted the writing of operatic arias in his day. It was the "Iphigenie" opera that stirred the clamor of Gluck's critics and drove his rival, Puccini, away from Paris. It is an extremely beautiful song and in Gogorza's glorious voice is doubly attractive. The remainder of the programme is no less absorbing and of special interest attaches to Gogorza's giving of the group of Spanish songs, which he sings with such exquisite tenderness. The recital is under the direction of Louis Steers-Wynan Coman and will begin at the Helig theater at 8:30.

DEAD MAN IS DEFENDANT

Papers Filed Before Attorneys Learn of Prahl's Death.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.) It is unusual for a dead man to be made defendant in a suit for damages, yet this happened today, when William Hardrath brought suit against F. W. Prahl for $500. Prahl died at Portland last night, but Hardrath's attorneys, George C. Brownell and Latourette & Latourette, did not become aware of it until after the papers were filed. Hardrath is a bridge carpenter and was employed in the construction of the Oregon Electric Company bridge across the Willamette at Wilsonville. He states that September 1907, he was ordered by Prahl to stand upon a pier and move a stringer, when Prahl, who was in an intoxicated condition, carelessly and negligently stepped over the stringer and Hardrath lost his balance and fell, sustaining injuries that will make him a cripple for life. The suit was withdrawn this afternoon.
