CRY OF CORRUPTION

Nathan Straus Raises It Again in Loud Voice.

HUGE FUND FOR BRIBERY

Repeats Oft-Denied Charge That Republicans Levy Siding Scale Assessment to Buy Virtuous Bryan Voters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The charge recently made by Nathan Straus, president of the Business Men's Democratic League and subsequently denied by Treasurer Sheldon, of the Republican National committee, that Wall-street men are being assessed $50 each by the Republican committee, was reiterated by Mr. Straus in a speech before the Commercial Travelers' League today.

He declared that the Republicans in New York this year "have the largest corruption fund they ever had." He said that he was ready to prove that statement. "I am ready to prove now that they not only have levied a tax of $50," said Mr. Straus, "but that they have a sliding scale, which runs up to $2000. I am ready to prove this and the Republicans will not dare print what I say here. I declare here and now that the corruption fund to be used this year in New York is as large as it was four years ago.

"They won't make public beforehand the contributions, but they say it is for legitimate purposes. But they know they are raising the fund for bribery. They are using every unfair means to defeat Bryan," defy them. I defy the Republican party."

GIRLS LEAP FOR LIFE

Jump From Ten-Story Building to Escape Death in Flames.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 29.—A fire panic caused several girls employees of offices in the 11-story Neave building, corner of Fourth and Race streets, to leap from the windows at noon today.

At least ten of them were hurt, while more than that number were taken home. One of the firemen was also badly injured.

The fire started on the sixth floor, the flames soon bursting from the windows. Five times the flames burst and added to the panic of the girls. Among the injured were:

Irene Lucas, painfully burned; Marie Marty, burned and cut; Hilda Doerfer, burned; Charles Wleberding, tailor, burned; Louis Purten, fireman, badly hurt by fall from second story.

Miss Hofflander, forelady in dress-making room, badly burned about head and arms.

Anna Beulanger, badly burned.

Louise Boutel, dressmaker, seriously injured.

Marie Brandt, seriously burned.

Peering down through the smoke and flames at hurrying firemen, more than a score of women crouched on the broad window ledges trying to escape the flames bursting out in the offices beyond them. Below, fire ladders, life nets and all manner of other life-saving apparatus was being prepared for such as might leap from the horror of fire to the almost certain death on the street below. One young woman, crazed by fear, tore herself from friends, and jumped from the tenth floor to an adjoining roof five stories lower down, being dangerously injured.

LIGHT ON AFRICAN TREATY

Paris Paper Gives Details of Negotiations Between Powers.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—The Echo de Paris publishes this morning a lengthy article giving the other side of the story concerning the negotiations between France, Russia and Germany to call upon Great Britain to put an end to the South African war as told in an interview with Emperor William which was published in the London Daily Telegraph yesterday. France joined in the Russian attempt at mediation solely on the grounds of humanity. Russia acted as spokesman in the negotiations in the belief, from previous assurances, that Germany would unite with the other two powers on this basis. Instead the Emperor replied that intention by the three powers would be a lengthy affair and before it was undertaken France, Russia and Germany must enter into a mutual agreement to guarantee the integrity of their territories. Russia at once saw that this condition would not be acceptable to France and divined danger in Germany's design.

In transmitting Russia's decision to M. Delcasse, the French Foreign Minister, Count Moravioff declared that in the eyes of his government, acceptance of Germany's condition was inadmissible because it would imply in the first place the disappearance of the Franco-Russian alliance, which henceforth would be without object.

According to the Echo de Paris, Germany's object was clearly to form a new triple alliance against Great Britain and at the same time to destroy the Franco-Russian alliance, hampering France in her policy for all time by conditions which were tantamount to signing again the treaty of Frankfurt and giving an engagement never to attempt to regain Alsace-Lorraine.

DISLIKES HEARST LETTERS

Independence Committeeman Withdraws With Bad Taste in Mouth.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 29.—J. L. Woods Merrill, of Kansas City, National committeeman from Missouri of the Independence party, resigned that position today in a letter forwarded to William R. Hearst, National chairman. In his letter Mr. Merrill says:

"This is to notify you that I withdraw from all relations or connections as National committeeman for Missouri, with the executive board of the Independence party not wishing to have my name connected with any party or persons who purchase or otherwise obtain correspondence, stolen by other persons, for publication, to the detriment or downfall of other persons, for the upbuilding of yourself or the Independence party.

"Also I do not wish my name connected with a party whose affiliations are so closely connected with other parties, and whose only aim is to help defeat Bryan. Taft wanted Foraker put out of business and you played the part of 'remover,' and with a grandstand play to keep up appearances, went after Haskell, with no proof of guilt, to down Bryan and in my belief the Independence party receive its campaign money from Republican sources. I was led to believe the Independence party and platform was to advocate the principles of Jefferson and Lincoln and to build up from the better class from all parties, and stand for the better interests of the common people and not affiliate with, nor favor any party."

Mr. Merrill asserts that the Independence party has not kept these promises and adds:

"Bryan and the Standard Oil have been its only campaign issue."

BRAND BOYS WITH ACID

High School Students Suspended for Cruel Intimidation Methods.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 29.—Six students of the Polytechnic High School have been suspended and three others in danger of sharing the same fate, because they branded the foreheads of two students of the Los Angeles High School with nitrate of silver during the initiation ceremonies of the Kappa Delta Fraternity, a forbidden High School secret society.

The two boys who were branded upon the forehead and whose condition for a time alarmed their parents, are Frank House and Edgar Lusk. On Lusk's forehead the letters "K. D." were branded. On House's forehead were the figures "99." Ugly red scars were made, but it is not believed the boys will be permanently disfigured.

Fail to Elect Successor.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Oct. 29.—The synod of the Anglican diocese of Montreal met here last night to elect a successor to the late Bishop Carmichael. Four ballots were taken without an election, the majority of the lay delegates favoring the election of Dean Farthing, of London, Ontario, and the clerical delegates being divided among several candidates, the leading ones being Dean Evans, of Montreal, and Dean Farthing. An adjournment was taken without an election.

JOHN D. ABHORS VACATION

EXPECTS TO CONTINUE WORKING OUT PLANS, HE SAYS.

In Personal Reminiscences, Oil King Tells How He Met Archbold and Other Associates.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—In the November issue of the World's Work appears the second chapter of John D. Rockefeller's reminiscences, which he entitles "Some Old Friends." In this chapter he tells of his early associations with John D. Archbold, Henry Flagler, Stillman Witt, S. V. Harkness and others familiar in the industrial and financial history of America. Mr. Rockefeller says:

"It is not always possible to remember just how one first met an old friend or what one's impressions were, but I shall never forget my first meeting with John D. Archbold, who is now a vice-president of the Standard Oil Company."

He then describes how about 30 or 40 years ago he was traveling about the country, talking with men interested in the oil industry. While at a hall in the oil district he saw written on the register "John D. Archbold, H a barrel." This first attracted Mr. Rockefeller's attention to Mr. Archbold. Mr. Rockefeller gives a somewhat lengthy account of his relations with H. M. Flagler, for whom he expresses great admiration. In speaking of the value of friendship, he writes: "These old men's tales can hardly be interesting to the present generation, though perhaps they will not be useless if even these stories make young people realize how above the possessions in the value of a friend in every department of life without any exception whatever."

He excerpts from the rank of real friends those who when we come to them in time of need say, "I'd like to oblige you, but I can explain why at the moment, etc."

Once Mr. Rockefeller says he went to S. V. Harkness and told him that he might have to call for additional funds in furthering an enterprise, and was told "All right, J. D., I'll give you all I have got."

"In my early days I was always a great borrower," continued Mr. Rockefeller. Then he proceeds to tell how once, when the question came up at a meeting of bank directors what they should do in case more money was wanted, one of the directors, Stillman Witt, said:

"Here, gentlemen, these young men are all O. K., and if they want to borrow more money I want to see this bank advance it without hesitation."

As securities Mr. Witt offered to his fellow-directors his own strong box.

Mr. Rockefeller, as he passes to a discussion of some of his old favorite pursuits in life, including tree-planting, explains: "If I were 40 years younger I should like to go into business again, for the association with interesting and quick-minded men was always a great pleasure. But I have no dearth of interest to fill my days, and so long as I live I expect to go on and develop the plans which have been my inspiration for a lifetime."
