SCHOONER TAURUS MAKES FAST TRIP

Lumber-Carrier Sails From San Francisco to Astoria in Six Days.

CHARTERED FOR LUMBER

Foreign Business on the Increase. Millmen Not Anxious for Orders for 40-Day Deliveries—Coast Business Much Improved.

The American schooner Taurus, under charter for lumber outward from Portland, arrived yesterday after a fast run of six days from San Francisco. The Taurus was running before the wind practically all of the time after leaving the Golden Gate. While her passage is a long ways from a record breaker, it is still a smart one. The Taurus will be one of the early November ships.

Lumber business is on the increase and sawmill men are not in a hurry to accept orders. A well known buyer yesterday offered to place an order for upwards of a million and a half of feet but could not find a mill which would agree to cut the timber on 10 days' notice. Foreign business has been poor for the month of October and the coastwise trade has not picked up enough to permit sawmill men to dictate terms. November exports of lumber foreign will be good.

The Frank Waterhouse Company has agreed to send the steamships Foreric and Cymeric here for part cargoes during the month and, together with the boats in berth, the shipments will be big.

October wheat shipments have been looking up and all grain export records for the month have been smashed. November will put a number of cargoes afloat, and the record for the same period of last year will be broken.

COOLER WEATHER FOR TODAY

Heavy Rains Will Cause Rise in River for Few Days.

"High winds, a falling thermometer and a rising barometer, tend to indicate stormy weather in this section," said Inspector Beals yesterday morning. "I look for increased wind and cooler weather tomorrow without so much rainfall."

The Willamette River will rise, owing to the heavy rain of the last few days and a good boating stage on the upper river will result. There will be a slight effect on the Columbia below the mouth of the Willamette which will benefit shipping interests.

LIGHTS ON WILLAPA BAY

Board Orders New Aids to Navigation on That Harbor.

Charles F. Ford, Inspector of the Thirteenth Lighthouse District, has been ordered by the board to establish certain lights, as aids to navigation, on Willapa harbor. Orders were issued by the Lighthouse Board of the Department of Commerce and Labor and will be put into effect immediately.

About November 13, a fixed white post lantern light will be placed 20 feet above high water from an arm on a five-pile dolphin, and will be in 16 feet of water at low tide and will mark the northwesterly shoal of Ellen Sands Shoal. Beacons 4, 6, 8 and 10 will be permanently discontinued after the establishment of the light.

FOUND RIFLING MAIL BOX

Man With Penchant for Wives Is Placed Under Arrest at Burns.

BURNS, Or., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Frank Fuller, a printer, 40 years old, was on Monday held to answer to the Federal grand jury under $500 bonds, upon a charge of tampering with the mails. Fuller has been working on the Harney County News nearly a year, except when periodically drunk. Since the beginning of this month he has been on one of his sprees, and was at that time let out by the News. The mails at this time arrived very late and business men waited until next morning for the distribution.

For several days the News received no letters of importance and suspected Fuller of taking them. The lock-boxes at the postoffice are obsolete and useless, consequently anybody can get into them. Fuller was notified to keep away from the News box, but to no avail. He was seen later taking letters from it, but finally a climax was reached when a letter which had been stolen from the United States Land Office box was found in Fuller's satchel. The letter was official and important and was torn and badly mutilated. The arrest followed and Fuller has made a full confession.

It develops that Fuller has put in a great deal of his life trying to live by his wits; by various kinds of fakirs, sideshows, etc., and has never been content to work very long at a time. He has a penchant for wives obtained through correspondence. He brought one here and married her last Winter, but she left him in a few weeks. Another has been waiting at Portland and telegraphing him for some weeks, having come from California by appointment.

Dr. Semple Says Asylum for Insane at Medical Lake Overfull.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—In urging gross appropriations of $301,350 for the Hospital for the Insane at Medical Lake for the ensuing two years, Dr. J. M. Semple, the superintendent, in his biennial report to the State Board of Control, shows that in the two years ending September 30, 1908, there were 421 persons committed to that institution and that the Asylum is now crowded much beyond its planned capacity.

October 1, 1906, there were 518 in the hospital, so that the two years' admissions of 421 were more than four-fifths increase. Discharges in the two years numbered 199 and there were 98 deaths, so that the net gain in population was but 120, making 638 on the rolls the first of this month.

In his estimate for the ensuing two years, Superintendent Semple figures on an average population of 725 patients and for maintenance at 50c per day he asks an appropriation of $264,625. This includes salaries, fuel, light, clothing, food, drugs and general supplies.

The balance of the appropriation is for improvements and repairs.

HEAVY DAY'S GRIST FOR DIVORCE MILL

Decrees Granted Eight Wives and One Husband by Judge Morrow.

TALES OF WOE VARIOUS

Women Testify to Brutal Acts on Part of Husbands—Dr. Collins Says Wife Was Jealous and Extravagant.

The divorce mill ground steadily in the Circuit Court yesterday morning, for when the time for the noon adjournment came Judge Morrow had not finished with the grist. Nine divorce cases were heard during the morning, and eight decrees granted. One divorce was granted in the afternoon.

Katie Moser was one of those who obtained a divorce during the morning. She said she was disappointed in Charles A. Moser, discovering after the wedding that he had spent three years in jail for highway robbery, of which he had never told her. When she married him, in January, 1904, she said, he was in the Army, and told her his time would be up in six months. He served a year after that, said the wife, and is now in the Philippines. Mrs. Moser said her husband's disposition is mean, and that he abused her before deserting her in March, 1907, while they lived at Allentown, Pa. She is now working as a waitress in the A. B. C. restaurant.

Mrs. Henry Tells Tale of Abuse.

Guy Henry "couldn't hardly make his own living," but "braced" his father-in-law for cash, according to May Henry, his young wife, who obtained a divorce yesterday. They married in April, 1905, and set up housekeeping in a rooming-house at Twelfth and Washington. They decided to move, said Mrs. Henry, but "Guy" hindered her by bringing a male chum up for a visit. When his wife upbraided him, he referred to her, she said, as "white-livered," and dealt her a blow in the face with his fist.

In 1906 the couple went to live at the Hotel Northern. One night in May, said Mrs. Henry, her husband threw her around the floor like a football, and then told her to "shut up." When she wept he "punched" her in the face and told her she had something to cry for. The next day, she said, he refused to let her have a needle and thread with which to sew her clothing, so that she was obliged to go to a neighbor's. Soon afterward she paid a visit to her parents at Roseburg, and was compelled, she said, to give her father an off-hand answer when he asked the cause of her black eye.

Threatened to Throw Vitrol.

Nettie Stewart testified that H. J. Stewart forced her to provide for herself, and threatened to disfigure her for life by throwing vitrol in her face if she deserted him. She told of finding him in a saloon May 30, 1905. She said she left when he ordered her away, and boarded a streetcar, only to be dragged off and knocked down in the street. She married him in Chicago, September 19, 1904. The divorce was granted, and she was permitted to resume her former name, Brady.

Dr. R. A. Collins was given a decree after he had told how his wife, Nora Collins, objected to his professional calls upon women, and even when he was nursing in a local drugstore, before he obtained his degree, interrupted his sales to women customers, making it difficult for him to keep his place. Further than this, Dr. Collins said his wife is extravagant, making purchases far in excess of her needs, and harrassing him with unpaid bills. They were married at Harrington, Neb., July 19, 1902.

During the three months when Joseph D. Fanning courted Mary Jane Young he was taking a vacation from his business as traveling salesman for a wholesale grocery house. At least, so he told his sweetheart. But after she became Mary J. Fanning she discovered that he was a bartender. She was a schoolteacher in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where the wedding took place, November 23, 1904. The following year he deserted her and, after searching she has not been able to learn his whereabouts. She was given a divorce.

Threatened Her With Razor.

Frank J. Thompson, convicted of larceny and sentenced to a year in the County Jail last May, has been divorced from Ray L. Thompson. The decree was granted to her by Judge Morrow yesterday.

The wife said that last April she found her husband's razor lying on the bed, and was informed that he was tired of her and had a mind to use it on her. They were married June 9, 1907.

Dena Sovern said she was left to the tender mercies of strangers by Richard M. Sovern. She was in Chicago, sick, at that time, in 1903. They were married at Lafayette, Ind., December 16, 1902. The wife was permitted to resume her maiden name, Dena Evans.

The divorce suit of Bessie M. Welch against Elnathan Welch was taken under advisement by Judge Morrow. They were married at Prosser, Wash., November 16, 1897. He deserted, she said, while they were living at Verndale, Minn., in August, 1906.

Fay Catlin obtained a divorce from Robert Catlin, whom she married May 31, 1899.

Contested Divorce Suit.

The contested divorce suit of Della Ticer against R. L. Ticer went to trial before Judge Morrow yesterday afternoon, and was continued until this afternoon. Mrs. Ticer contends that she is the owner of the home at St. John, while Ticer contends that it is his, and that she owns but a third interest. He alleges that she sold it for $2800 without his knowledge, turning the clock back on the morning of the sale so as to get him off to work earlier than usual, have the deal consummated, and catch the morning train for Oklahoma. Ticer says he promptly bought the home back. He alleges his wife remained away eight months and kept company with Jap Anson during that time. He accuses her of consorting with Gamny Atchison, of Oregon City, upon her return to Oregon. He asserts that he once found Atchison's photograph between the mattress and springs of their bed. Mrs. Ticer denies the serious charges of her husband. Among yesterday's witnesses were Mrs. Katie Silcott, Mrs. Emma Frank and Mrs. Susan Horts, of St. John, and Gladys Wylie, a daughter of Mrs. Ticer.

Asks $5000 for Loss of Wife.

Walter O. Christensen accuses Edward Graton of alienating the affections of Anna Cecelia Christensen, in a suit for $5000 damages, filed in the State Court. Christensen says his wife was enticed away October 11. He married her at Astoria, December 12, 1906.

Potter Must Pay for Children's Keep

E. H. Potter must pay $502 to the Juvenile Court Detention Home, $400 of which is for the board and education of his three children the coming year. This was the order of Judge Gantenbein yesterday. Several years ago, Potter obtained a divorce from his wife, who afterwards died. The court found that the children were not receiving proper parental care, so took them away from the father and made them wards of the court. But the father, who is said to be a man of means, failed to pay for their care. A bench warrant for the man's arrest resulted in his being placed in the County Jail yesterday until the session of the Juvenile Court in the afternoon.

George T. Myers, Jr., Appeals.

The transcript of appeal in the George T. Myers will case was filed in the Circuit Court yesterday afternoon by Joseph Simon, the attorney for George T. Myers, Jr. This is the case in which Mrs. Georgia Frances Stevens, daughter of the elder Myers, contested the validity of her father's will on the ground that he was insane when he signed it. Judge Webster decided the case in her favor, declaring that Myers was insane, and that the will is not valid. Her brother will fight the case through the Circuit Court, and it is probable it will then go to the Supreme Court. The records and exhibits in the case are voluminous.

Answers Suit of Blind Man.

Answering the suit of William O'Donnell, brought in the Circuit Court, the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company contends that it should not be compelled to pay damages for O'Donnell's injury from collision with a streetcar. It is contended that because he is almost blind he should not go on the street unattended. O'Donnell was struck by an eastbound Morrison-street car, at the corner of Park street, February 6. The railway company says he stepped in front of the car so suddenly that the motorman had no chance to apply the brakes.

Suit for Mortgage Foreclosure.

Hartman Stein has filed suit in the Circuit Court against Lillie P. Lemcke and eight other defendants, including the Merchants Savings & Trust Company, to foreclose two mortgages on East Side property, aggregating $13,500. He also demands $350 attorneys' fees. The property is described as block 56, Stephens Addition. Besides Mrs. Lemcke, the defendants are: George C. Lemcke, M. Frances Murphy, Ernest Stein, F. H. Fleming, W. E. Lacy, George F. McClintock, Ulrich Michel and the Merchants Bank.

JACOBS FAMILY IS SUED FOR $200,000

Wife of Morton Jacobs Alleges His People Responsible for Separation.

SAYS THEY POISONED MIND

Hints They Objected to Marriage With Girl They Did Not Pick Out and Have Succeeded in Getting Husband Away.

Mrs. Suzanne D. Jacobs, a wealthy New York girl, has brought suit in the Multnomah Circuit Court to recover $200,000 from her husband's parents, brothers and sister, a well-known Portland family, because they have, on account of a difference in religious beliefs, brought about, as she says, a separation between her and her husband. Mrs. Jacobs was formerly Miss Suzanne D. Munsey. She met Morton B. Jacobs in New York, their mutual affection resulting in marriage, July 6, 1899. At the same time, it is said, Jacobs' parents had a wealthy Jewish girl picked out for their son, and, it is understood, were much perturbed when they discovered that he had married a Gentile without their knowledge. As a result he was constantly persecuted with threats of disinheritance if he continued to live with his wife, according to the complaint. The "other woman" is said to be still unmarried.

Family Well Known.

The defendants named in the suit instituted yesterday are: Isaac Jacobs, Clara Jacobs, Alfred G. Jacobs, Caston G. Jacobs, Garry B. Jacobs and Lillian Lang. Isaac Jacobs, Morton's father, has a large interest in the Oregon City Woolen Mill, besides a large amount of property in the East and in Portland. Among the latter is the building and property at Sixth and Alder streets, formerly occupied by the Commercial Club.

The plaintiff's husband is well known in Portland, having formerly been a member of the Multnomah Club and a football player. Mrs. Lillian Lang, his sister, is the wife of I. Lang, a member of the wholesale grocery firm of Lang & Co. Mrs. Suzanne Jacobs was reared in Virginia, being left an orphan. She inherited a large amount of property from her aunt. She is now about 30 years of age and her husband is three years her senior.

G. G. Schmitt, formerly of New York, appears as Mrs. Jacobs' attorney. The allegations of the complaint are as follows:

Allegations of Complaint.

That on or about the 6th day of July, 1899, in the state of New York, the plaintiff was lawfully married to one Morton B. Jacobs, who is the son of the defendants, Isaac Jacobs and Clara Jacobs, and the brother of the defendants, Alfred G. Jacobs, Caston G. Jacobs, Garry B. Jacobs and Lillian Lang. That at all times since said marriage the said Morton B. Jacobs and the plaintiff have been and now are husband and wife. That since said marriage and until September, 1905, said Morton B. Jacobs supported, cared for and was living and cohabiting with plaintiff. That by reason of said marriage the plaintiff became and was entitled to the support, company, society, assistance and aid of her husband.

That from and after the time of said marriage and until the interference on the part of the defendants hereinafter set forth, the said Morton B. Jacobs was deeply attached to his said wife, the plaintiff; and the plaintiff and her said husband lived happily together as husband and wife, and but for the wrongful and malicious acts of the defendants hereinafter set forth, would have continued so to live together.

Try to Poison Husband's Mind.

That shortly after the said marriage the defendants, knowing the marital relation of said Morton B. Jacobs and plaintiff, conceiving and harboring an intense dislike for the plaintiff, wrongfully and maliciously sought to poison and prejudice the mind of said Morton B. Jacobs against the plaintiff and to alienate his affection from her, and have ever since sought and endeavored, by subtle contrivances, by coaxing, inducements of money and threats of disinheriting the said Morton B. Jacobs, to induce and entice him to separate himself from the plaintiff and to leave and disregt her.

That defendants, by their continued said wrongful and malicious contrivances of coaxing, inducements of money and threats of disinheriting said Morton B. Jacobs, and intending to injure the plaintiff and to deprive her of his support, comfort, society, assistance and aid, induced and enticed her said husband away from her, the plaintiff, during the year 1905, and from her then residence in the city and State of New York, to a separate residence, and have since said time detained and harbored him against the consent and demands of the plaintiff.

Asks $200,000 Damages.

That by reason of the said premises the plaintiff was and still is wrongfully deprived of the support, comfort, society, assistance and aid of her said husband, and has suffered great distress of body and mind and her health has been seriously and permanently injured and impaired in consequence thereof, to the damage in the sum of $100,000, and that by reason of said wrongful, wilful, wanton and malicious acts, and as an example and warning to other wrongdoers, and as a punishment to defendants, they should be required to pay plaintiff exemplary and punitive damages in the additional sum of $100,000.

Wherefore, plaintiff demands judgment against the defendants, jointly and severally, for the sum of $100,000 as actual damages, as aforesaid, and for the further sum of $100,000 as exemplary and punitive damages, together with the costs and disbursements incurred herein.

ORDERING ROSE BUSHES

Peninsula Residents Start in Earnest to Make Section Vast Garden.

Orders for rose bushes are being received by M. C. Van Tyne, secretary of the Peninsula Rose Association, from many residents in that portion of the city. Mr. Van Tyne yesterday said that one resident ordered five dozen choice rose bushes, and others are making similar orders. He says that the outlook for making that section distinguished as the rose section of Portland is encouraging.

Mr. Van Tyne announces that rose bushes may be had at a reduced price by ordering through the association. The time for holding the next public meeting has not been set, and will not be until after the election. Then an active campaign will be started in an effort to interest every resident in growing roses and making ready for the Rose Festival next year. The Peninsular Realty Association also has held one meeting and is in line to work with the Peninsula Rose Association in raising funds and in other ways.

Road Work in Eastern Multnomah.

GRESHAM, Or., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—This year's new roadwork in Eastern Multnomah is practically at an end, with nearly 20 miles of new and permanent roads built, and as many more improved and repaired. Besides the crushed rock roads in the vicinity of Kelly's Butte, there are several other pieces that are now ranked as being among the best in the state. Some of them equal anything in the United States. A most important and costly piece of road building is just being completed between Powell Valley and Pleasant Home, where three miles of rock and gravel are being rolled down to a hard surface by the county's big steam roller. The work of building new roads and improving the old ones has been going on all Summer and in every district. It will be continued next year.
