NEW YORK, Oct. 20,-Mrs. William Astor, who for 30 years has been re-garded as the social leader of New York, died tonight of heart disease at her home on Fifth avenue. For nearly four weeks Mrs. Astor, who was 52 tion, owing to the return of a heart af-fection that had given her trouble for years. Despite her advanced years, she continued to hold her social domination un to a year ago, when falling health compelled her to retire into comparative

It was in the Summer of 1897 that Mrs. Astor's friends learned of her ill health. While she was abroad last year her son, John Jacob Astor, made the announcement that Berchwood, the Summer home of Mrs. Astor at Newport, would not be opened, and this led to the discovery that she was in poor health. Word came later from Mrs. Astor, while she was in Paris, that she would open her Newport villa after all and that she would make the meason there one of the gayest in years. This promise was not fulfilled, for, when she came back from abroad, she broke down in Boston and had to return to New York.

The acclety functions given and pre-sided over by Mrs. Aster were among the most brilliant on record. It is said that the ballroom in the mansion on Fifth avenue would accommodate 1000 persons. It was Mrs. Aster who estab-lished the famous "40," her visiting list being confined to that number of names. In 1966, however, she was said to have "let nown the bars," when she invited 1269 persons to one of the most memorasocial events ever given in New

William Astor, who died in Paris in 1922, took little part in the social activi-ties his wife enjoyed.

Had One Son, Four Daughters.

Mrs. Astor before marriage was Miss Caroline Schermerhorn, daughter of Abraham Schermerhorn, a well-to-do merchant. She was married to William Astor September 23, 1853. John J. The meeting at Utica today between Mr. Taft and James S. Sherman and the magnitude and enthusiasm of the reception the Republican Presidential candidate received in this city tonight were features of the campaign Judge Taft is making in Northern New York. At Batavia late this afternoon he left his car in a driving snow storm to speak to many thousands of people.

Buffalo has two enormous mesting places—Convention Hall and the Broadway Arsenal. Two hours before the time set for the meeting these two places were filled and on the outside many were clamoring for admittance to fill the speaking places a second time.

At Convention Hall Mr. Taft took up the Standard Oil subject.
