TEDDY R., JR., VOTES

President's Son Cast First Ballot at Oyster Bay.

JUST PAST TWENTY-ONE

Father Waits for Theodore Outside Booth—Pats Boy on Shoulder. People Crowd Around to Shake Hands.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Nov. 3.—On what, in all probability, will be his last trip to his home town, while he holds the office of President of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt today returned to this little village to cast his vote for William H. Taft, his final act in support of his warm personal friend. With him came Mrs. Roosevelt, who desired to see her eldest son, Theodore, cast his first ballot. Young Roosevelt, who became of age during the Summer, journeyed from Thompsonville, Conn., where he is learning the carpet-making business, to be with his father when he voted. In the President's party also came his secretary, William Loeb, Jr., and several of the White House executive staff, who have a voting residence in Oyster Bay. A large crowd was on hand at the station to welcome home the President and they surged forward when the train pulled in, eager to grasp his hand, knowing it probably would be the last time they might shake hands with a resident of their village. Following their usual custom, they formed in line and passed before the President, who shook hands with every one. Some of the villagers, knowing the President's love of flowers, presented him with bouquets. As he drove away to the business part of the town the crowd applauded. The President responded by waving his hat enthusiastically. Mrs. Roosevelt drove to the family home at Sagamore Hill. It was 9:23 A. M. when the President and his son appeared at the polling place in Sleet Hall. He shook hands with everybody at the polls and then walked up to the table where the ballot clerk announced: "Theodore Roosevelt, ballot No. 141." The President remained in the booth one minute, and when he emerged carefully watched the clerk deposit the paper in the ballot box. The President then walked outside the railing and chatted with bystanders. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was handed ballot No. 142 by the election clerk. He took twice as long as his father to make it. When he had deposited his ballot the President greeted him smilingly and patted him on the shoulder. After Secretary Loeb had voted, the President and his son drove to Sagamore Hill.

GOT THEM BEATEN TO FRAZZLE

Roosevelt's Reply to Railroad Men. No More Big Stick.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—"Where's the big stick?" shouted one of the 30 railway mechanics covered with oil and grime who had congregated on a stone wall near the car of President Roosevelt when his train stopped at West Philadelphia this afternoon while on the way from Oyster Bay to Washington. The President, who had appeared on the observation platform of his car in response to the cheers, immediately began to laugh and shouted back in response: "No use for the big stick any more, boys."

The President then told the men he was glad to see them all. Someone in the crowd then asked: "How is the election going?" To this Mr. Roosevelt gave his latest and blithe answer: "We've got them beaten to a frazzle." Further remarks was prevented by the train pulling out.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—President Roosevelt arrived here from Oyster Bay at 6:15 o'clock aboard his special train. He was immediately driven to the White House. Secretary Strauss accompanied him.

Sherman and Three Sons Vote. UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 3.—James S. Sherman, accompanied by his three sons, went to the election booth at 10:30 this morning and voted. Mr. Sherman suggested that at least four straight Republican votes had been cast. He left a handful of cigars for the election officials. Mr. Sherman said he had nothing to say except that he felt confident that his party would win.

Rockefeller Has to Wait. NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—John D. Rockefeller had to stand in line in a Sixth-avenue tailor shop for 40 minutes before he had a chance to deposit his ballot. Almost directly behind him in the waiting line stood Judge Alton B. Parker, the Democratic Presidential candidate of four years ago. Mr. Rockefeller cast ballot No. 138, Judge Parker No. 222.

Aged 92, Has Voted 18 Times. COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 3.—S. W. A. Conant, 92 years of age, cast his 18th vote for a Republican candidate for President of the United States today. He attended the convention in 1821, which gave birth to the Republican party.

FUTURE FIRST LADY

Mrs. Taft Is Gracious, Hospitable Woman.

GIVES OFF FLASHES OF WIT

Great Lover of Music and Can Talk to Foreign Visitors in Own Languages—Has Advantage Over Predecessors.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—(Special.)—"The first lady of the land. What manner of woman is she?"

This, the all-absorbing question in the feminine mind—and in the masculine, too, for that matter—is readily answered. Mrs. Helen Herron Taft, the Democratic Presidential-elect, and next mistress of the White House, has been for years a well-known figure in Washington society, where her graciousness, intellect and womanly ways have won her a warm place in the hearts of those who have met her.

The characteristic of the Taft home lies in its atmosphere of hospitality to friend and to stranger alike. Mrs. Taft is of a genuine type of the American woman. She has no fads; she has not a trace of affectation. She possesses a refreshing sense of humor; she has a wealth of information on subjects ranging from the gamut from politics to art. Her manner is frank and direct. She radiates graciousness.

Hospitable and Witty.

In these qualities of temperament the next mistress of the White House is remarkably like her husband, whose genial smile has been pictured from one end of the land to the other during the campaign. Both the next President and his wife like to welcome visitors at their home. Close friends are made to feel that the Taft hearthstone is their own, and business callers receive the utmost courtesy—no one ever leaves the Taft home feeling that he has been an intruder.

In appearance, Mrs. Taft is tall and youthfully slender. Her hair is brown and her eyes are blue-gray. Serenity lies in her expression, and she has a way of smiling when she is amused which makes her face a charming picture. It has often been said that Mrs. Taft has as keen a sense of humor as her husband, and that her flashes of wit often set her husband off into explosions of laughter.

Loves Music and Languages.

Reading and music are Mrs. Taft's pet diversions. She devotes some part of each day to study of languages. French and Spanish being her favorites. Few mistresses of the White House have been familiar with Continental languages, which has prevented them from absorbing a familiar knowledge of that fascinating part of Washington society. Mrs. Taft speaks several languages fluently. She reads musical reviews from every country where music is a power, and in addition she peruses magazines devoted to politics and the best literature of the day.

The next lady of the White House believes to a certain degree in higher education, but she says that the woman who has studied earnestly makes a more useful member of society than one whose accomplishments are varied, but mostly artificial. So, from a study of Mrs. Taft's character and personality, it is easily seen that the country need well be proud when she assumes the title of the leading lady of the land.

Board Assigns Bishops.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 2.—The sessions of the board of bishops of the Methodist Church here yesterday were devoted to the assignment of bishops to preside over the various conferences to be held next Spring in all parts of the United States and in foreign countries in which the Methodist Church is established. No changes were made in assignments for the missionary bishops. Assignments include: J. W. Bashford, conferences in China. C. W. Smith, Hawaiian mission. W. S. Lewis, conferences in China. M. C. Harris, conferences in Korea. Bishops Warren, Osham, Robinson, conferences in India and the Philippine Islands.
