

BRYAN DISPLAYS BITTER CHAGRIN Seaches Returns in Vain for Stray Crumbs of Comfort.

NEBRASKA STANDS BY HIM

Figures From New York Blast His Hopes and He Retires From GY Guests to Ponder Over His Third Defeat.

FAIRVIEW, Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—W. J. Bryan tonight received at his home, Fairview, the returns which early told him that for the third time he had been defeated in the greatest election of his life. Confident of victory to the very last, he was not prepared to believe that his cause was lost until the pluralities of his Republican opponent piled up in such portions as to leave no room for doubt. When the early returns came in, he made inquiry about the home state and found encouragement in the gains he made up in New York over the Democratic vote of 1904, but as the figures continued to be received he relied on Greater New York to offset the heavy Tatt vote above the Harlem River. Even in that he was bitterly disappointed and he soon realized that the state was hopelessly gone and with it his prospects of being elected.

Few Crumbs of Comfort. According to the predictions of his managers, he was led to believe that he would be elected without the aid of the Empire State and he turned his inquiries toward Ohio and Indiana. The heavy Democratic gain in the Thirtieth Ohio District was a source of satisfaction and prophesies that Ohio would go Democratic followed. He also got much comfort out of a telegram from John E. Lamb, member of the advisory committee, from Indiana, stating that the indications were that Indiana was probably Democratic and derived a good deal of satisfaction from the fact that his own prospects had given him a handsome majority and that the reports that he would again carry his state.

The sun parlor of his home turned into a temporary telegraph and news paper office. Bryan tonight watched the returns with manifest interest. He was, however, perhaps the most unconcerned among those who had assembled in the National committee and endeavored to hear the people's verdict. Mr. Bryan divided his time between the sun parlor and his library, where he got special reports from state chairmen and the National committee and frequently came upstairs and read aloud the reports he had received.

The returns from New York, particularly from the up-state precincts, were of more than usual interest to the candidate, who declared that the Democratic increase over the vote of 1904 about which had been expected. After nearly three hours spent in his library Mr. Bryan came upstairs and talked to the newspapermen and others who had assembled in the "workroom." The road soon after other returns, but they told the same story of defeat, and he announced that he would not have any statement to give out tonight.

A large number of voters of his precinct came in to congratulate him on its being carried for him, and after chatting with them for a while he went into the dining room, where he would retire at 10 o'clock.

Not One Word From Mack.

While a number of Democratic leaders from all over the country communicated with the candidate by telegraph, the absence of any word up to a late hour from Chairman Mack was the subject of comment.

During the evening the friends of the Bryan family from the surrounding country and from Lincoln dropped in, and, after being received by Mrs. Bryan, showed their interest in the election by remaining to hear the returns. The sun parlor presented a gay appearance, as the ladies, many of them in evening dress, eagerly scanned the building and endeavored to figure out a Democratic victory, while the men would assemble in little groups to talk over the situation. Mrs. Leavitt, Mr. Bryan's eldest daughter, would not concede that her father had lost his fight, and remained up until a late hour, believing that more favorable reports would be forthcoming.

At 11 P. M. Mr. Bryan sent downstairs the following statement: "It is very gratifying to receive so complimentary a vote in my home precincts of Nebraska and in the City of Lincoln. We appreciate very much this expression of good will on the part of our neighbors in Republican strongholds."

Gets Freak Messages.

At intervals during the early hours of the day, Mr. Bryan would come into the sun parlor and chat freely with the correspondents and by means of amusement he brought out a number of telegrams of the "freak" kind which he had received, giving him advice as to what he should do in case of his election. While waiting for the detailed returns, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan entertained a large company at dinner in honor of the correspondents who had been identified with his campaign and who accompanied him on his various tours. The election for the time being was forgotten. Previously to the dinner the guests assembled in the drawing-room and Mr. Bryan treated them to a concert on the piano.

OBJECT TO CATHOLIC AID

Ministerial Conference Thinks Non-sectarian Institutions Slighted.

That there is strong opposition to the appropriation made by the state for Roman Catholic institutions, and that an effort will be made to have such appropriations discontinued, was disclosed at yesterday's meeting of the Portland Ministerial Association. It was pointed out that five or six Catholic institutions receive state aid aggregating $25,000, while the non-sectarian institutions of the same kind, including the Baby Home, Patton Home and others, receive but nominal support.

TAFT WILL RETAIN MAJORITY OF PRESENT CABINET.

THREE WILL STEP DOWN

Bonaparte, Metcalf and Wright to Resign—Root Will Remain and Complete Policy With Latin-American States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(Special.)—With Mr. Taft's election some discussion is heard concerning his cabinet. Committed to carrying out the President's policies, Mr. Taft will make few changes in the present cabinet. His old associates are thoroughly trained and are familiar with the Roosevelt policies and will co-operate heartily in their development.

It is certain that Attorney-General Bonaparte will not be in the new cabinet. It is possible that he may retire even before the inauguration. Secretary of the Navy Metcalf is in bad health and he will not remain in the new cabinet any length of time.

Wright to Quit, Root Remains. Mr. Wright, a Gold Democrat from Tennessee, who has been filling the shoes of Mr. Taft since his retirement from the head of the War Department, will not remain, identified with the new administration. Mr. Wright desires to return to the practice of his profession.

Mr. Root will remain at the head of the State Department. He desires to carry through certain policies with regard to Latin America that he has been working out. The fourth international American conference will assemble in Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, in the fall of 1909, and Mr. Root has made it known that he would be willing to remain at the head until after the conference has concluded its work.

Keep Wilson, Garfield, Meyer. Secretary Wilson has made such a record with the farmers of the country that Mr. Taft will insist upon his retaining his portfolio. Mr. Cortelyou is making such a record as Secretary of the Treasury that Mr. Taft will ask him to remain, and Mr. Garfield, head of the Interior Department, will be reappointed. Mr. Straus will not be disturbed as Secretary of Commerce and Labor, and Mr. Meyer, Postmaster-General, who is a man of independent mind and has no special problems in his department to interest him and he will remain to carry some of them out.

Those in closest touch with Mr. Taft say that he will look around for only three Cabinet officers, a Secretary of the Navy, a Secretary of War and an Attorney-General.

WILL EXPERIENCE FIRST RIDE IN CAR TODAY.

Machine is a French Model of 90 Horsepower—Former Auto Burned in Garage.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 3.—Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, "mother" of the Christian Science Church, finds her fat, staid, comfortable horse with the famous carriage that has been the means of her daily rides for years, altogether too slow now that she has moved from the country into the city, and has purchased a magnificent imported French car of 90-horsepower, and had it sent out to her Chestnut Hill home.

A chauffeur from the agency went along and yesterday he spent several hours giving Secretary-Cochman Frye lessons in driving. Mrs. Eddy will have her first experience of automobile-riding today. Never before in her life has she been in an automobile, and when the car is substituted at 2 o'clock today for the carriage, Mrs. Eddy is likely to have some strange experiences.

The desire for an auto is not a sudden whim on the part of Mrs. Eddy. She decided on it several weeks ago and a car was bought for her then. It was sent out to her home and great plans were made for the next day's ride, but during the night the garage got afire and burned up the auto.
