street, and had just passed the entrance to the Park Hotel. Mr. Carmack came up the street toward us, smiling as he recognized me. He was some steps away, and there were few people on the street. Mr. Eastman and I were near the edge of the sidewalk, and Mr. Carmack passed between us and the entrance. He raised his hat as we spoke. He had his right hand on his hat and was about to make a remark when somebody said—it was the older voice: "We've got you, all right, or something to that effect. I can't say positively what the exact words were. It never occurred to me that it was anything more than a friend speaking. Mr. Carmack raised his eyes instantly, put on his hat and ran his hand back, when the same voice said: "You coward! You are hiding behind a woman, are you?"

ROOT OPENS NEW COLLEGE

UNITED STATES NOT A MILITARY STATION, HE SAYS.

Secretary Declares in Dedictory Address his Country's Ideas Are Political Ones.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The formal opening of the Army War College today was made the occasion of simple ceremonies in the building dedicated to that institution. Secretary Root, under whose administration of the War Department the institution for military instruction was inaugurated several years ago, General Franklin Bell, chief of staff, and General W. W. Witherspoon, president of the college, addressed a distinguished company.

Secretary Root declared it was no strange thing that at the capital of a country devoted to peace there should arise this structure devoted to the science of the arts of war. Greed, jealousy and spite have not yet disappeared among men, and prosperity, he said, only invites attack unless there is also the virtue of manhood and courage to defend the nation possessing it. In order that this nation may be able to defend itself if need be, he said, the Army War College had been created.

"We are not a military nation and never shall be," said Mr. Root. "We are warlike enough to rise in defense of our rights. We are singularly like the English and singularly unlike most of the nations of the continent. Our ideas are political and not military. We do not therefore naturally run in the mould of military organizations."

Officers of the general staff, he insisted, should not allow their desire for power in military affairs to influence them to be absorbed by administration rather than by a study of military problems. He admonished them to leave their military questions within the walls of the military establishment and not carry their controversies either to Congress or to the people.

VOTED IN WRONG PRECINCT

U. S. Marshal, Friend of President, Faces Charges in Montana.

KALISPELL, Mont., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—County Attorney McKeown today filed an information in the District Court of Flathead County charging T. W. Merrifield, United States Marshal for Montana, a former business associate and a close personal friend of President Roosevelt, with illegal voting in the recent election. Merrifield formerly lived in this county, and came from Helena to vote. His former home was 40 miles out from Kalispell.

It is alleged that to save a long drive he had secured registration in a nearer precinct and voted there, but had never lived in the precinct where he voted. Merrifield had returned to Helena, but will come here probably at once.

NOT ADMITTED TO BAIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Charles W. Morse, who was rated two years ago as being worth more than $20,000,000, swore under oath today that he had not enough money or securities left from his vast fortune to pay his debts.

This revelation was made when Morse's attorneys appeared in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to argue for the admission of Morse to bail. Morse, who had been sentenced to 15 years' hard labor in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., was not permitted to leave the Tombs prison today, but an affidavit made by him was read. The motion was argued before Judges Lacombe, Ward and Cox, and decision was reserved.

were entirely unfounded; that she was a magazine writer and had no desire to do injury to Mrs. Phipps. She talked so kindly that Mrs. Phipps became reassured and they rode together for 15 or 20 minutes. Suddenly the woman produced two sticks of dynamite and commanded that Mrs. Phipps give her $20,000 within an hour or she would be destroyed.

Woman Trapped at Bank.

She directed that the automobile be driven to the Wolcott school and Mrs. Phipps' daughter be taken along, this evidently for the purpose of having a hostage. Mrs. Phipps agreed to go to her bank and get the money, whether the party headed after stopping at the school to get the little daughter of Mrs. Phipps. Arriving at the bank, all but the strange woman left the machine. Though this was evidently not intended in her program, the stranger made no protest. Once inside the building Mrs. Phipps hurriedly related her experience to a bank official, and police headquarters was communicated with. Two detectives hastened to the bank.

In the meantime a special bank detective had engaged the strange woman in conversation from the window of the enclosed machine next the sidewalk. The two city detectives quietly walked around the rear of the machine and slipped open the door on the street side. The woman saw that she was entrapped and dashed the dynamite sticks at the two officers. They struck against the machine and fell to the floor intact. Had they exploded great damage and loss of life might have resulted, for the scene is in the very heart of the city.
