

STANDARD GAINS ANOTHER VICTORY

Appeal Court Refuses Rehearing on Great Rebate Case.

SUPREME COURT TO DECIDE

All Government's Pleas Overruled and Prosecutors Severely Lectured—Appeal to Be Taken and New Cases Tried.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A rehearing of the appeal of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana from the sentence of $25,000 fine imposed by United States District Judge Landis in the Government's prosecution for receiving rebates from the Alton Railroad was denied today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, presided over by Judge Grosscup.

NEW SUITS TO BE TRIED.

Meanwhile additional suits against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana have been fully prepared, and trials may be demanded within two weeks. Two of the suits charge rebating in connection with shipments on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois and in two the Evansville & Terre Haute Railroad was the line of shipment.

SEVERE CENSURE FOR LAWYERS.

The court severely censured the government attorneys in the following paragraph: "The court has the right to expect that counsel accustomed to practice in the courts of this country will observe the highest standards of professional conduct and will not attempt to circumvent the law by means of technicalities."

SINGLE OFFENSE DEFINED.

Judge Baker thus defined a single offense of rebating, a point raised by the court's condemnation of the imposition of a separate fine for each carload.

MRS. REED, HEIRESS

Had No Need of Money From Woman She Tried to Kill.

INCOME $12,000 MONTHLY

Insane Wife of Denver Druggist Is Found to Be Daughter of Eastern Millionaire—Tries to Commit Suicide.

DENVER, Nov. 10.—Further developments as to the identity of the woman who yesterday threatened Mrs. Genevieve Chanler Phipps with death unless she delivered over $30,000 within an hour, show that it was not the need of money that influenced her to attempt blackmail, but must have been the suggestion of a diseased mind. After learning that the woman was the wife of Allen Reed, druggist of this city, the police investigated further and discovered that Mrs. Reed is one of two daughters of a Pittsfield (Mass.) millionaire woolen manufacturer named Campbell, who died recently, leaving a large estate to his daughters. Mrs. Reed's income from her share is more than $2,000 a month. Her sister is Miss Jessie Campbell, a teacher of languages at Vassar College.

INSANE FROM USE OF DRUGS.

The police are convinced that Mrs. Reed is insane, perhaps from the use of drugs, and late today they turned her over to the care of her husband, who arrived from Buffalo Park, Colo., as soon as he learned that his wife was in trouble. Mr. Reed suggested that perhaps he would place his wife in a private sanitarium for treatment. Although Mrs. Reed displayed mental control toward the last of her interviews with Chief of Police Armstrong, she is unable to explain her attempt to coerce Mrs. Phipps into giving her a large sum of money and cannot remember where she procured the dynamite with which she threatened the life of Mrs. Phipps and her daughter, Helen. One theory is that Mrs. Reed was returning from Pittsfield to Buffalo Park where she was to join her husband at the country home and, while stopping off there between trains, she was struck with the idea of extorting money from Mrs. Phipps. It is evident that she intended to go on to Buffalo Park at first, for all her trunks and baggage had been checked for that station.

TRIES TO KILL HERSELF.

To Chief Armstrong and all others who talked with her, she told an incoherent, rambling, unsatisfactory story. "I don't know who I am; I don't know where I am from," she moaned. "I came to Denver from somewhere in the East with Madame Leroy. She had a strong influence over me and said that she would help me. I met her on the train. I was once very ill and nearly died of brain fever and became accustomed to the use of morphine. Madame Leroy made me Mrs.

Cones by suggestion. She was going to cure me of that terrible morphine habit. I know that she told me to do things and that I started out to do them, but I don't remember what they were."

Taking advantage of Chief of Police Hamilton Armstrong's momentary absence from his private office, where he had been investigating her case for some time today, Mrs. Reed made an attempt to end her life by swallowing a quantity of morphine. That she was not successful was due to the prompt action of Chief Armstrong, who knocked the tablets from her hand just as she was in the act of placing them in her mouth. About 50 tablets, containing enough morphine to kill six people, were scattered about the room.

HELD TO GRAND JURY

Charles A. Straus Gives $5000 Bond and Maintains His Innocence.

Charles A. Straus, ex-cashier of the Portland Postoffice, accused of embezzlement, was yesterday afternoon held to await the action of the Federal grand jury, under a $5000 bond, which he immediately gave. United States Commissioner A. M. Cannon, after hearing testimony for several days, took the case under advisement and held Straus to the grand jury. Straus, until April 17 of this year, had been cashier in the finance department for almost eight years. In April he was granted sick leave on account of falling eyesight, and it was after he had taken his vacation that a shortage of $4000 was discovered. Last night Mr. Straus made a statement to The Oregonian, declaring that he was absolutely innocent of the charge of embezzlement, and that he was confident that the investigation of the Federal grand jury would result in his complete vindication.
