

FIRST FEINT IN AN FEDERATION

Unseating of Flint Glass Men Starts Stormy Session in Denver.

BITTER WORDS SPOKEN

Mitchell Favors Disbarment of Association, Which Action in Turn Is Denounced as Government by Injunction.

DENVER, Nov. 10.—The first real fight in the 28th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor occurred this afternoon in the report of the credentials committee and resulted in the unseating of the delegates of the Flint Glass Workers by a practically unanimous vote.

The first day of the convention the credentials committee reported seating all delegates except those of the Electrical Workers, whose case was referred to a special committee. The Executive Committee of the American Federation of Labor, which was referred to a special committee by the Flint Glass Workers' Association and the Flint Glass Workers.

The Operative Plasterers' case was referred to a special committee this afternoon. The reason for refusing them seats was the late arrival of their application for a charter, it having arrived too late to be acted upon.

The other cases being disposed of, the fight over the seating of the Flint Glass Workers began. The report of the credentials committee was read, and the delegates of the Flint Glass Workers were unseated. The delegates of the Flint Glass Workers' Association, who were unseated, were the delegates of the Flint Glass Workers' Association, who were unseated.

Mr. Rowe protested in vehement language against the action of the committee. He said that the enforcement of the letter of the constitution against himself and comrades was equivalent to "government by injunction."

Other delegates whose seats were contested spoke along the same lines, one of them contending they were entitled to representation in state bodies.

John Mitchell spoke in support of the exclusion of the Flint Glass Workers. He said he stood firmly upon the constitution and the law of the Federation.

Dennis Hayes, of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association, also took the same stand, and declared that the Flint Glass men were not only seceders, but that they had waged an incessant war upon the glass blowers. A war even more bitter than contests with non-union men.

Several other delegates spoke against the admission of the Flint Glass men and President Gompers closed the discussion with a statement of his position, in which he expressed the hope that the difference between the warring unions would be adjusted.

The vote was then taken which unseated the Flint Glass men. A number of resolutions were sent to the secretary's desk just before adjournment, one of which was being introduced by the California delegation, declaring for an exclusion law for all Asiatic laborers.

Several other delegates spoke against the admission of the Flint Glass men and President Gompers closed the discussion with a statement of his position, in which he expressed the hope that the difference between the warring unions would be adjusted.

I have frequently requested an audience with him regarding matters of import to the federation and its membership, and have been well received and treated courteously. There, however, my relations with the President ended.

"I by virtue of the trust imposed upon me by the federation, represent the millions of people of the country who toll with their hands—the hired men and women, so to speak. If the President or any other person cares to say that I don't represent the membership of the American Federation of Labor, so be it. I don't care to become involved in a controversy or criticism such a stand.

"When the need presents, I shall meet President Roosevelt or any other President or public man as the representative of the American Federation of Labor so long as I am invited to do so, and I shall respect me and care to have me represent them."

The other Federation officials decline to discuss the matter, but many labor leaders in Denver declare that the action of the President is simply a part of a plan to divide the forces of organized labor so that they will be ineffective in future contests.

John Mitchell, James Duncan and Daniel J. Keefe, who were invited to be in Denver at the convention session next Tuesday, but would decide whether or not to accept the invitation when they received the President's letter.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Corvallis, Or., Nov. 10.—(Special.)—On the eve of the big football game between Whitman College and Oregon Agricultural College the city is in a state of wild excitement. The students paraded the streets led by the college band and then returned to the college campus, where a big bonfire was started, which was followed by speeches, songs and college yells. The demonstration lasted until a late hour.

The two teams are in perfect condition for the big battle. Coach Blanchard and his men arrived here a short time before noon today and rested until 4:30 o'clock, when they did some light practice work on the college athletic field. The men showed snap and speed and came from their work in high spirits.

The local team reported for practice and worked for an hour at signal work and practice formations. Every man is in perfect physical condition and all seem anxious to get into the fray. Norcross gave the men their final instructions and sent them to their quarters at an early hour.

Both teams seem equally confident of victory. Coach Norcross, when interviewed tonight, said: "We have nothing to offer except that we expect a hard game."

Coach Blanchard said: "We have great respect for O. A. C. Our team is suffering some from injuries sustained in the Idaho game, but will be in condition to play a good game. I think we are somewhat lighter than our opponents, but we hope for victory."

The teams will line up as follows:

Landing on complaint of A. D. Cole, the lad's stepfather, who alleges the boy has made frequent threats against his life. The lad is in the County Jail tonight and will be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

Dauforth repeatedly threatened to shoot Cole and the threats became so serious yesterday and today that the father decided that his own safety demanded that the boy be taken into custody. Dauforth is 15 years old and is the son of the former husband of the present Mrs. Cole. Though young, he weighs over 300 pounds.

Dauforth was in the Fishers school, in which he is a pupil when Deputy Sheriff Johnson arrested him. He started to draw his revolver, but Johnson was too quick for him and himself took the gun, which was loaded, from the boy's pocket.

The boy complains that his adopted father is "cranky" and that he insisted on his not staying out at nights. Young Dauforth has the reputation in the neighborhood of an impetuous and headstrong character, but he has been able oftentimes to secure liquor.

HEPPNER, Or., Nov. 10.—(Special.)—Circuit Court was convened here yesterday morning by Judge Bean and will probably hold sessions the most of the week. The docket in equity, civil and criminal cases is light so far and unless some hurry, now in session, is successful in finding more indictments, this term of court will be far less eventful than the one of last May.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 10.—Official confirmation has been received from Tehran of a reactionary plot to abolish the Persian Parliament. Russia, which has repeatedly warned the Shah of the dangers of such a course, has decided to renew her energetic representations against the contemplated coup d'etat.

The situation in Northern Persia is the source of great anxiety to the Russian foreign office. Revolutionists from the Caucasus who have flocked to St. Petersburg, are manifesting an open spirit toward the Russian officials and commercial representatives which may force foreign intervention.

Hart, treasurer; John F. Cahalin, secretary; Rex Connor, captain; B. E. Loomis and Vivian Dent, directors. In addition to being selected as director, Dr. Loomis was also named as chairman of the house committee.

The meeting had a large attendance and considerable enthusiasm was manifested at suggestions offered for improvement in the club and its equipment. The handsome new quarters of the club are to be the scene of numerous winter festivities in the way of socials and dances, to be given under the auspices of the organization and its members, and it is also proposed to commence laying plans for the big regatta of next season at once.

The regatta president, Percy W. Stowell, while declining to serve as a member of the board of directors, gave the members some good advice, in a short talk, wherein he pointed out the needs of the club.

R. W. Wilbur, ex-president of the club and president of the North Pacific Rowing Association, also made a few remarks for the benefit of the club. He pledged himself to assist the club in any manner possible and suggested various means of solving problems now confronting the organization. President Wilbur also took occasion to call attention to the fact that next year will witness a number of big regattas to be held in the Northwest, especially those under the auspices of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle, and urged the members of the Portland Rowing Club to do all in their power to assist in developing their country.

The Portland Rowing Club enjoys the distinction of ranking third in point of members among the rowing organizations of the United States. It is in a splendid condition financially and possesses one of the finest club sites in the world. CLUB IN BASKETBALL LEAGUE Multnomah Will Have Strong Team for Indoor Sport. With the exception of football, basketball is now the chief topic of conversation at the Multnomah Club. Six teams have been formed and are now playing for the club championship. Last night Captain Bellinger issued the first call for first team players and a large number responded. Prospects for a championship team look bright, as all last year's players are on hand again this year, as well as a number of new men. The club has entered the Oregon State League, which consists of Dallas College, last year's state champions; Pacific College, Willamette University, McMinnville College, Portland Y. M. C. A., and the Multnomah Club.

Morris at center is faster and stronger than ever; Bellinger, Dent and Fisher at forwards will be a hard combination to beat, and with Allen, Hathaway and Barton at guards the club will have one of the best teams it has ever turned out. Hathaway is an old player, having played for three years on the crack Oregon State League game will be with Newberg in this city on November 28.

School Teams Fail to Meet. No game was played yesterday in the Grammar-School League, on account of a misunderstanding of the schedule. The Thompson eleven was on the field, but the Montavilla boys failed to appear. A practice game was held for the benefit of the Thompson team, their opponents being a team picked up from the crowd of spectators. Most of the scrubs were ex-Grammar-School players, and after a fierce struggle, they

Salem to Play East Side High. Multnomah Field will be the scene tomorrow afternoon of another Inter-city High School football game, which should prove a most interesting contest. The teams matched for this game are the Salem High School and the East Side High School, of Portland. Last season the East Side boys were defeated at Salem by the score of 29 to 0, but as they are much stronger this year and the game is being played in Portland, they expect to have revenge on the Capital City eleven. STAR TACKLE ON ALBANY COLLEGE TEAM

ALBANY, Or., Nov. 10.—(Special.)—There is probably no better tackle on the Oregon gridiron this year than Victor Yates, big right tackle of the Albany College football team. He has been playing a remarkable game and has been the terror of Albany's opponents this season. He was easily the star when Albany defeated Pacific University, and also played a strong game against Willamette University and the Chemawa Indians. In the latter game he opposed and outplayed Smith, physical director at Chemawa, and former center on the Carlisle Indian eleven.

He is a son of C. W. Yates, a prominent farmer living near Oakville, and comes from one of Albany's oldest and best-known pioneer families.
