

SPEAKS DAY THERE ON WAY TO SOUTH

Governor-Elect Cosgrove Rests at St. Vincent's Hospital During Stay in City.

APPEARS VERY FEEBLE

Has to Be Assisted From Train to Carriage and Looks Worn—Hopeful, However, of Gaining Strength in California.

Governor-elect S. G. Cosgrove, of Washington, reached Portland yesterday morning over the G. R. & N., a very sick man. After resting here all day, he was placed aboard the Southern Pacific train at 7:45 last night and continued his journey. Accompanying him are Mrs. Cosgrove and Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Keylor, of Walla Walla. Mr. Cosgrove's son, Elliott E. Cosgrove, accompanied his father to Portland from Pomeroy, the home of the Governor-elect, but returned last night, confident that his father will stand the trip south.

The Governor-elect looked pale and worn yesterday. He could not carry on conversation without difficulty, owing to his breathing. He appeared to be in good spirits, however, considering his serious condition, and insisted that his friends have exaggerated his illness. He maintained he will regain his health as soon as he gets down into Southern California, where the climate is warmest. Mrs. Cosgrove was driven directly to St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday morning upon his arrival and spent the day there resting.

The Governor is a very sick man," said Dr. Keylor yesterday. "He is accomplishing the trip so far very well, however, and there seems to be every reason to believe he will complete the journey into Southern California. He has great endurance and that is standing him in good stead on the trip. "We do not know just where he shall go, but probably to Paso Robles Hot Springs. The exact location will depend upon the condition of the Governor's health when he reaches California, and the section that is best suited to him. "The Governor is 61 years old, but his strength appears to be better than that of a man of his age. He has been through a hard campaign. I consider that his greatest danger now is that complications may arise. His disease may be bronchitis, but there is always the danger that another disease may attack him when his bodily vigor is low, and his constitution least able to resist it. His son Elliott expressed himself as satisfied that the campaign for Governor is responsible for his father's condition."

Worked Too Hard in Campaign. "My father overestimated his strength," said Mr. Cosgrove. "He has always been very energetic and during the campaign he did the work of three or four men. He did not realize how hard he was working and this brought him down. However, I feel confident that when he gets down into the warm climate he will be much better. He is standing the trip in good shape and the physicians feel confident of his return to health."

ABERDEEN STAYS IN LEAGUE WILL RAISE $27,000 TO KEEP TEAM IN FIELD.

Grays Harbor Metropolis Enthusiastic Member of Northwest Baseball League.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Nov. 12.—(Special)—At a largely attended meeting of baseball enthusiasts tonight it was decided to hold Aberdeen's franchise in the Northwest League. And the assurance was given of active and generous support. One heretofore liberal subscriber offered to pay four times what he did last year and others promised likewise.

A motion to keep the team a strictly Aberdeen enterprise was carried and an effort to ask Hooplum to come in was voted down.

It was indicated by President MacFarlane that it required $27,000 to carry the team through the year and that the deficit is about $2700. It will be necessary not only to meet this deficit, but to raise $600 above the probable income unless the business men of Aberdeen MacFarlane appointed a committee of five to circulate a subscription list in every section of the city and to make a report December 1 of the success of the effort.

The promise of Portland's having a team was received enthusiastically, as was the assurance of assistance favoring the continuance of baseball.

Employees Taken to G. C. Fields. Employees of the Oregon Water Power division of the Portland Railway Light & Power Company presented G. C. Fields, manager of the Portland division, with a valuable diamond ring Thursday night as a token of their esteem. About 300 employees of the road met at Milwaukee City Hall Thursday night at 8:30, and the ring, valued at $50, was presented to Mr. Fields on behalf of his former employees by Judges Gordon E. Hayes, of Oregon City, and W. C. Brown, of Astoria. Mr. Fields was regaled with warm friendship by the men who worked under his direction on the local and interurban trolley lines.

Circuit Court Notes. D. C. Rogers cannot recover from the city of St. John because a saloonman of that place, in flushing out his sewer, turned the hose in such direction as to force the sewage into Rogers' basement. Judge Cleland handed down this decision in the Circuit Court yesterday morning. He did not deny that if this was done Rogers was damaged, but said St. John was not the proper party defendant.

The question as to whether or not Justice of the Peace has the right to enter up a judgment rendered by his predecessor, but which he had failed to enter, was settled yesterday. Judge Cleland decided that the successor in office has the right to order his clerk to make the judgment entry. The case in which this question came up was that of Joseph Runach against Anton Delgross. The matter is to be taken to the State Supreme Court.

OF THE PORTSMOUTH MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL, HE WAS HAILED BEFORE THE JUVENILE COURT YESTERDAY, AND PLACED ON PROBATION BY JUDGE GANTENBEIN.

Walter Kothlinger was before Judge Gantenbein, in the Juvenile Court yesterday, for selling tin horns without a license. The boy was placed on probation. Joseph Le Barge, who has a reform-school and penitentiary record, pleaded guilty before Judge Gantenbein in the Circuit Court yesterday to the theft of $40 worth of jewelry from the store of V. Fredericksen. He will be sentenced Monday. After having been sent to the Reform School, Le Barge was given a five-year sentence at the Penitentiary for stealing, and was paroled. He broke his parole, and was obliged to serve out the term. It went to the Penitentiary next week it will be the third time he has been there.

Charles R. Dent pleaded guilty to the larceny of $100 by embezzlement from Wobardi, Clarke & Co., and was sentenced by Judge Gantenbein yesterday afternoon to serve a two-year term in the Penitentiary. He was paroled, however, upon the plea of his attorney, Dr. N. Mosessohn.

The case of W. H. Biggerstaff, who pleaded guilty to larceny, will be for a while investigated by Judge Gantenbein and passed upon in the Juvenile Court.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN LAID AT REST.

The funeral of James Le Tellier, a pioneer and veteran of the Civil War, who died November 12 at his home, 1115 East Salmon street, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Le Tellier, 1115 East Salmon street, and the interment was in Lone Fir Cemetery. Mr. Le Tellier was nearly 82 years of age. He had been ill only a short time, and the interment was at the very end. He served through the Civil War, with a creditable record, as a member of Company No. 1, 7th Wisconsin Infantry. In 1873 he removed to Oregon with his family, settling at The Dalles. The family then went to Lane, leaving thence to California. For the past four years he had made his home in Portland. He is survived by a son and daughter, the former a resident of Eastern Oregon, and the latter living in Montana.

FRIDAY THE 13TH DAY OF BIG JOKE

Few Things Out of Ordinary Happen in Portland as Result of Hoodoo.

STEAMER SAILS AS USUAL

Captain of State of California Scauts Idea of Bad Luck—Sheriff Nearly Loses Whiskers—Other Minor Happenings in Town.

Friday, the 13th, famous in history and feared in legend and superstition, passed, locally, with no untoward event. Instead, it was the day of the big joke, for everyone was on the look-out for a piece of hard luck, and nothing happened.

Three undaunted couples made the journey to the County Clerk's office and procured marriage licenses, but whether the ceremonies were performed yesterday is not known. At any rate, the licenses will always bear the supposed date of ill-luck, and the interment was in Lone Fir Cemetery. Mr. Le Tellier was nearly 82 years of age. He had been ill only a short time, and the interment was at the very end. He served through the Civil War, with a creditable record, as a member of Company No. 1, 7th Wisconsin Infantry. In 1873 he removed to Oregon with his family, settling at The Dalles. The family then went to Lane, leaving thence to California. For the past four years he had made his home in Portland. He is survived by a son and daughter, the former a resident of Eastern Oregon, and the latter living in Montana.

There was no unusual demand at local shops and stores for rabbits' feet, and if any such orders were given, it was not demanded that a left or right hind foot, or the rabbit killed in a graveyard either in the light of a full or half moon.

Captain Nopander Not Superstitious

Captain Nopander, of the steamer State of California, appears to be free from the superstition common to sea-faring men. Captain Nopander sailed yesterday, Friday, November 13, on the 13th voyage of his steamer, from this port to San Francisco. Furthermore, this is the last trip of the steamer between Portland and San Francisco.

Captain Nopander's attention was called to the date of the day by a passenger, but he laughed at any significance attaching to M. J. Roche, the up-town agent of the steamer line, suggested that Captain Nopander should take out some life insurance, for he might never reach port. The steamer sailed at 4 P. M. yesterday with a full passenger list.

Sheriff Nearly Loses Whiskers.

The hoodoo of yesterday nearly cost Sheriff Stevens his life; furthermore, he nearly lost his whiskers, a fact which made him nervous all of the afternoon. Fortunately, he was not injured, but considers himself simply lucky. These are busy days for the Sheriff, and he cannot plan any minute so that he loses no time anywhere. After lunching downtown, he boarded a Fifth-street car, bound for the Frenchtown. Just after crossing Yamhill street, a fuse on the front platform blew out, making a loud report and sending out a great volume of flame in all directions. The Sheriff occupied space near the seat of trouble, and while he "kept his head," he nearly lost his whiskers. However, as if by magic, for to all outward appearances he went about his usual work. Close call No. 3 occurred when Sheriff Stevens leaped to the opposite side of the courthouse, and started to cross the street. A car immediately following the ill-fated one from which he had just alighted, was in such a swift speed, and the Sheriff had to make a record jump to clear the track.

"By George," said he, as he stopped on the corner, "I can't congratulate myself on this Friday, the 13th. I'm certainly going to keep my whiskers until midnight."

John Coffey Born on Friday, 13th. "Do you know that this is Friday, the 13th day of the month?" was asked John R. Coffey, State Senator-elect. "Why, that is a fact, and I was born on a Friday and on the 13th day of the month, too, and that accounts for it." Just what the Senator meant is probably the hoodoo that he keeps under his hat, for to all outward appearances he is about as free from hard luck as any man in Portland. Not only is he a member of the next Legislature without a statement, No. 1 tag attached to his person, but he is the big boss of the Portland herd and the smile he wears on his countenance is of the sort that won't wear off.

Money Sticks to His Hands.

Mark Levy, of Front street, when reminded that yesterday was Friday, November 13, said: "By Jingo, that counts for my experience today. I have had money stick to my hands in spite of my best efforts to be square with my customers. About ten minutes ago a man gave me a dollar to pay a bill amounting to the enormous sum of 90 cents and would you believe it, he left without getting his change. Now I verily believe that if it hadn't been Friday the 13th he would be banging around here waiting for that dime. Hard luck, nothing, I think this is a great day for us Irish."

Bride Has Hard Luck.

The bride of a year, Mrs. Nettie Pickering Jones, spent yesterday, unluckiest of unlucky Fridays, at the County Poor-farm. This hard luck has befallen her notwithstanding the fact that she has been a devoted member of the Salvation Army, and a helper of the unfortunate. She married a worker in the Army, known as the Salvation Army, about a year ago. "By Jingo," she said, "they purchased a little home in Vernon on the installment plan, but Jones proved to be thrifless and failed to keep the wolf from the door. Then Jones was attacked with paralysis and was left in this condition by her husband, according to her story. She told her troubles to County Relief Officer Carr, who was convinced she needed assistance. Her husband has not been located.

Child Is Unfortunate.

Eather Lewis, 15 years old, who lives at 625 Clackamas avenue, in Sellwood, told Judge Gantenbein, of the Juvenile Court, such a hard luck story yesterday that he placed her in the care of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society until he can more thoroughly investigate her case. The girl's story was one of a desertion by her father and stepmother. The girl said that she was beaten over the head and scalded with hot water until she fled to the neighbors for protection. She says her mother left her a fortune and that her stepmother and father are seeking to take it away from her. She has not been sent to school regularly.

IF IT DISAPPEARS, IT'S ECZEMA

How to Tell Whether a Skin Affection Is an Inherited Blood Disease or Not.

Sometimes it is hard to determine whether a skin affection is a sign of a blood disorder or simply a form of eczema. Even physicians are often puzzled in their diagnosis. The best way for any one afflicted to go to the skinners Drug Co., or any good druggist who handles pure drugs and obtain 50 cents' worth of poslam. Apply this, and if the itching stops at once and the trouble is cured in a few days it may be set down as having been eczema, as this is the way poslam acts in the worst cases of eczema, and in curing acne, herpes, blotches, leather, piles, scurf, rheum, rash, barber's and other forms of itch, scaly scalp, and all surface skin affections. Those who will write to the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York, can secure, by mail free of charge, a supply sufficient to cure a small eczema surface or clear a complexion overnight and remove pimples in twenty-four hours.

Crede's guardian in the left field, had a little touch of Friday, the 13th, yesterday afternoon and now he is looking for the hind foot of a cross-eyed rabbit that was born in the dark of the moon. Bassey was again appointed inspector by J. H. Barbour, Immigration Inspector for Oregon.

Armed with his papers, Bassey went before United States Commissioner Cannon to be sworn in and the hoodoo took hold. Commissioner Cannon signed his name to the Commission and then gently requested the ballplayer to come through with 50 cents, which he did under protest. Bassey took his commission and went away. He got down to the docks and began looking for Chinamen who were trying to steal into America, when it suddenly occurred to him that he had no commission and he discovered it did not bear the seal of the United States Commissioner. Bassey never made the circuit back to the Federal building.

"Brown's in Town," at the Star. Tonight for the last time, this week's comedy success, "Brown's in Town," can be seen in the city. The show and company have more than made good.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Rose Eyting Testimonial. In theatrical and social circles such interest is being shown in the big testimonial matinee to be tendered Rose Eyting, the beautiful girl who died last week of diphtheria, it will occur Thursday at the Helix, and the best professional and amateur entertainers will participate. Seats are already selling rapidly and the attendance promised for the matinee is a record for all the principal seats in town. Help hands, for to all outward appearances he is about as free from hard luck as any man in Portland. Not only is he a member of the next Legislature without a statement, No. 1 tag attached to his person, but he is the big boss of the Portland herd and the smile he wears on his countenance is of the sort that won't wear off.

"Little Johnny Jones" Matinee Tomorrow. An novel and biggest of them all—"Little Johnny Jones," George M. Cohan's greatest success, and it is likely that the Baker Stock Company will be seen for the last two performances of "Ski Farm" this afternoon and tonight at the Bungalow. The beautiful autumn scene of the third act showing the stage director falling leaves is one of the loveliest ever seen on the stage and Stage Director Bowie deserves great credit for his artistic arrangement of it.

"The Man on the Box" Tomorrow. Ever since Manager Baker announced the celebrated play, "The Man on the Box," for a popular matinee, there has been a great demand for seats at the Bungalow box-office. This is the case with the matinee, which will be all the more interesting.

"The Old, Old Story" at Orpheum. "The Old, Old Story" will be seen at the Orpheum next week, and will be presented by the late Felix Morris and her company, are presenting it. The late Felix Morris was one of the most distinguished American character actors that ever lived, and his daughter has inherited much of her famous father's histrionic talent.

European Novelty. For next week the Grand will offer a novelty in the form of a musical farce, "The European Novelty," which is the most brilliant act of its kind that has been imported into the city. The Eye Musical, "The European Novelty," will provide a feature and Dick and Jane, the greatest burlesque act in vaudeville.

"Too Proud to Beg" Coming. "Too Proud to Beg," Lincoln J. Carter's striking and interesting drama of police life in a large city, will be given at the Grand matinee, November 15.

Now I verily believe that if it hadn't been Friday the 13th he would be banging around here waiting for that dime. Hard luck, nothing, I think this is a great day for us Irish."

AT THE VAUDEVILLE THEATERS.

Hall McAllister at Orpheum. Hall McAllister and company, presenting "The Girl of the Times," at the Orpheum. It is scoring a big hit. The little one-act playlet abounds with many laughable situations. It is bright, clever, clean, wholesome, intensely interesting and deserving of the plaudits it is receiving.

Special Children's Matinee. There will be a special matinee for the little folks at Pantages Theater this afternoon—the attraction is "Fink's Performing Mules," including Maud the Mule, as seen in the funny papers. The entire programme consists of laugh-producing comedy acts, that will amuse both the young and the old.

Girls at the Grand.

There are more girls than men on the program in the Grand and they are all talented and clever performers. The Four English Rockers, with Laura Jaffrey, the moods, a sensation "The Dimple" and a specialty which arouses enthusiasm.

FINES ARE IMPOSED

Curry County Land-Fraud Operators Are Assessed.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR SOME

Kerr, Stewart, Miller and Johnson Are Fined, and Smith, Hedderly and Hynes Given Time Also.

Sixty Days Given for Appeal.

Judge Wolverton yesterday morning passed sentence upon Dr. A. H. Hedderly, William H. Smith and Richard Hynes, the three defendants found guilty in connection with the attempt of the Pacific Furniture & Lumber Company to secure Oregon timber lands by fraud. Fines and jail sentences were imposed upon Dr. Hedderly, Smith and Hynes, and fines only were imposed upon the four other defendants, who pleaded guilty before the trial. Those who were fined were William J. Kerr, $200; Frank A. Stewart, $100; John R. Miller, $100; and A. M. Johnson, $500. All those fined are residents of Curry County.

The trial and conviction of the three defendants grew out of the attempt of Richard D. Jones, who died before he could be brought to trial, to defraud the Government out of over 30,000 acres of timber lands in Curry County. The Pacific Furniture & Lumber Company was organized in Los Angeles, and the scheme was to sell stock in the company and then have the purchaser of the stock come to Oregon and take up timber claims. The money to make the filing and for the payment at the time of final proof was to be furnished by the company. Perhaps the scheme would have worked out, but money ran short and some of the employees of the company began to talk. The matter was finally brought to the attention of the Government officials, and after a long investigation some 18 men connected in one way and another with the deal were indicted. It took two hard-fought legal battles to bring the guilty parties to justice. Most of the defendants lived in California. Those who lived in Los Angeles fought removal. Some of them were successful, and some fled the country and have not as yet been arrested. Dr. Goodwin and Jones, who was, according to the evidence, the real promoter of the scheme, died after they had been indicted. All of the defendants have been out on bonds. Yesterday, when sentence was imposed, the bonds of Smith and Hedderly were increased from $5000 to $10,000, and Hynes to $1000. All were given until today to furnish a new bond.

Will Make Appeal.

Attorneys McLemore and Manning, who appeared for the defendants, asked for a stay of execution, and were granted 60 days in which to make an appeal. Dr. Hedderly, before sentence was pronounced, made a statement to the court and said that he had been drawn into the company by Goodwin, who died some time ago. He said that representations had been made to him concerning the holdings of the company by Dr. Goodwin, that he had found upon investigation had not been true, and stated that no lands had come to the company after he had joined it. A statement in behalf of Smith was made by Attorney Manning.

A Strong and Sturdy Race. Scotland reared a strong and sturdy race on oatmeal porridge. The brawny Scot was an out-door man with a digestion like an ox. But you don't have to wear kilts and live out of doors to digest H-O. It's different from the raw oatmeal that is sold as "rolled oats." It is steam-cooked three hours under high pressure by a patent process. It retains all the nutriment in the oats without hulls or dirt—the cleanest and best oatmeal on the market, and the only kind that's steam-cooked. Ten minutes' boiling prepares it for the table. Ask your grocer for H-O.
