Keith pleaded that his bar was boxed off and that no drinks were being served. Attorney John H. Sevenson, representing the liquor man, contended that when the place was being put to use for a moral purpose ne law was being violated; that boxing off of a bar of a room removes it from the pale of the saloon. Deputy District Attorney Hennessy contested the point but the jury agreed with Mr. Sevenson.

IRRIGATED LAND SHOULD BE EXPLOITED, SAYS EXPERT.

D. H. Anderson Says Government Is Handicapped in Opening Up Its Reclamation Projects.

D. H. Anderson, editor of the Irrigation Age, Chicago, spent yesterday in Portland on his way to Spokane. Mr. Anderson is one of the most active workers for irrigation in the country today. He has served as secretary of the National Irrigation Congress and has attended probably 100 meetings in the past 15 years in various parts of the country in the interest of irrigation. He has devoted his life to the work and ans lived to see the move attain mammeth proportions in this country.

Mr. Anderson believes there should be

Mr. Anderson believes there should be a provision made whereby the Government may spend a part of the reclamation funds in attracting attention to newly-opened irrigated tracts. He says the Government is at a disadvantage in this regard, compared with the private projects, which spend large sums in advertising their tracts. Mr. Anderson believes the next National Irrigation Congress should pass a resolution favoring the setting aside of sufficient money annually from the reclamation fund to provide for advertising the opening of Government projects and attracting settlers.

"While I am not sufficiently fumiliar with the Oregon situation to discussit," said Mr. Anderson, "I recognize that the state is fortunate in having private projects in addition to the Government reclamation work. It seems to me every condition is favorable to the best agricultural development of this state along all lines. There is splendid soil in the valleys of the state and there are plenty of valleys.

"I believe the attracting of agricultural implement manufacturers to this territory would have a good effect and, with that end in view, I have carried on correspondence with a number. I expect we will have two Pullman cars full with that end in view, I have carried on correspondence with a number. I ex-pect we will have two Pullman cars full of these manufacturers visit Portland and Spokane at the time of the next Congress, September, 1995. I think their visit here will have an excellent result and may attract factories of that nature to this territory."

Pastor's Auto Carried Off Piecemeal

Rev. W. T. Euster Misses Lamps and Other Trimmings and Expects Entire Machine to Disappear.

Almost every night his garage is broken into and some portion of his touring car carried away. Thus far the thieves have confined themselves to the trimmings but he considers it only a matter of time until they'll get away with the whole machine unless something is done.

During the early hours of yosterday morning the thief or thieves got in and carried away the reverend gentieman's auto lamp—the one on the left side. Since there is a law against operating automobiles without lights it will be necessary for Rev. Mr. Euster to get a new light before he is able to pay pastoral calls by night. And as pastor of the Sunnyside Methodist Episcopal church he has frequent need of the machine.

"I can get over more ground and there," he says proudly.

The clergyman was at the Police Station bright and early yesterday morning to protest at the frequent visitation of the thieves. He said it is a small thief for only small things are taken. But there's no telling how soon the small thief may evolve into a big one and get away with the suto.
