STATUE IS UNVEILED

Immense Figure Raised in Honor of General Sheridan.

PRESIDENT GIVES ADDRESS

Roosevelt Lands Dead Hero, Picturing Details of His Life as Types Which Future Generations Should Emulate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—With military pomp and splendor an heroic statue of General Philip Henry Sheridan was unveiled in this city today. The President of the United States and members of the cabinet, the diplomatic corps, justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, Senators, Representatives in Congress, veterans of the Civil War, and many others prominent in official life, as well as a large concourse of citizens, were present. Thousands of soldiers of the regular army and of the National Guard and United States marines and bluejackets from the Navy, were assembled as a tribute to the dashing soldier of the Civil War, whose effigy was displayed to the public gaze for the first time in this city today.

Statue of Huge Size.

The statue, the work of Galzin Borglum, was admired by everyone who saw it. It represents General Sheridan on horseback, his sword being shown in a position of action rather than scanning placidly, as is the case with so many of the equestrian statues of this city. The statue is one and three-quarters times larger than life, and depicts General Sheridan at the age at which he performed his greatest deeds. The pose is taken from the occasion when he returned to the field at the battle of Cedar Creek. He had been defeated by General Early, and as he reins in his horse he turns to his men, waving his hand, and shouts to them to turn back. He is mounted on his celebrated horse REX.

Special interest was given the occasion by the presence of the widow of the dashing soldier, and her son, Lieutenant Phil Sheridan, of the Army. The statue was unveiled by Mrs. Sheridan herself pulling the cord that held the drapery in place. President Roosevelt addressed the assemblage and pronounced a splendid tribute to the valor and the military genius of Sheridan. Horace Porter, formerly ambassador to France, also spoke in honor of the soldier and patriot, and told of his daring deeds on the field of battle.

Statue to Give Honor.

President Roosevelt said: It is eminently fitting that the Nation's illustrious men, the men who loom as heroes before the eyes of our people, should be fittingly commemorated here at the National Capital, and I am glad indeed to take part in the unveiling of this statue to General Sheridan. His name will always stand high on the list of American worthies. Not only was he a great general, but he showed his greatness with that touch of originality which we call genius. Indeed, this quality of brilliance has been in one sense a disadvantage to his reputation, for it has tended to overshadow his solid ability. We tend to think of him only as the dashing cavalry leader, whereas he was in reality not only that, but also a great commander.

Rose to High Position.

His career was typically American, for from plain beginnings he rose to the high position of a great Union General. His memory lives; and moreover, as in the case of the other great commanders of his day, his career symbolizes the career of all those men who in the years of the Nation's direst need sprang to the front to risk everything, including life itself, and to spend the days of their strongest young manhood in valiant conflict for an ideal. President Roosevelt said: It is fitting that the loss of the Civil War. Yet it stands among the greatest monuments of the world, the monuments that are the symbols of the mighty deeds of valor performed on one side or less than on the other has become the common heritage of all our people in every quarter of this country.

Devoted Country United.

The completeness with which this is true is shown by what is occurring here today. We meet together to raise a monument to a great Union General, in the presence of many of the survivors of the Union Army; and the secretary of War, the man at the head of the Army, who by virtue of his office, occupies a special relation to the celebration, is himself a man who fought in the Confederate service. Few indeed have been the countries where such a conjunction would have been possible, and indeed, indeed, we see that in our own beloved land it is not only possible, but seems so entirely natural as to excite no comment whatever. There is another point in General Sheridan's career which is good for all of us to remember. Whereas Grant, Sherman and Thomas were of the old native American stock, the parents of Sheridan, like the parents of Farragut, were born on the other side of the water. Any one of the five was just as much a type of the real American, of what is best in America, as the other four. We should keep steadily before our minds the fact that Americanism is a question of principle, of purpose, of idealism, of character; that it is not a matter of birthplace, or creed or line of descent.

CASE GOES TO JURY

Lamphere May Have Any One of Six Verdicts.

INSTRUCTIONS BY COURT

May Find Lamphere Burned Gun-ness House, Though Woman Was Not There, or May Convict of Murdering Family.

LAPORTE, Ind., Nov. 25.—

The trial of Ray Lamphere for the murder of Mrs. Belle Guinness and her three children, which contained 23 paragraphs, required 15 minutes. The greatest stress was laid on the following: If you should believe that these parties met death in any other way than that alleged in the indictment, still you may find the defendant guilty of arson under this indictment provided you believe beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant burned the said dwelling and that the said dwelling was of the value of $20 or upward.

The jury is instructed that if they believe, from the evidence, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the defendant Lamphere set fire to the dwelling house owned by Belle Guinness, as charged in the indictment, then you can find the defendant guilty of arson, regardless of whether or not any human being was killed as the result of such burning.

The giving of these instructions was a victory for the prosecution. The state scored another victory when it secured the incorporation in the instructions of a paragraph by which, if the jury finds that any one of the four persons in the house lost his or her life as a result of the fire, and that Lamphere set that fire, then it must find Lamphere guilty of murder or manslaughter.

Has Choice of Six Verdicts.

The jury was given six forms of verdict and instructed to sign the one on which it agreed. The forms were: Guilty of murder in the first degree—Death. Guilty of murder in the first degree—Life sentence. Guilty of murder in the second degree—Life sentence. Guilty of manslaughter. Guilty of arson. Not guilty.

MAUD POWELL —PREFERS THE— Steinway Piano

The recital at the Heilig last evening was an artistic success. Miss Powell is a great favorite with Portland people and the sweetness of the music was enhanced by the beautiful blending of tone coloring from violin and Steinway piano. Miss Powell has written:

Dear Mr. Steinway: After reading your booklet "Portraits of Musical Celebrities," containing the remarkable encomiums given your pianos by the master musicians of the world, it seems difficult to pay further tribute to the Steinway. However, I want to endorse everything said in its praise, while as a violin player I might add that, considering that an artist ought never to appear before the public except under the most perfect conditions, one of those conditions, in lieu of a good orchestra, should be a Steinway grand (for accompaniment) which by reason of its beautiful tone quality, its fullness of vibration and the perfect balance of registers, more nearly approaches orchestral support than any other piano made. Its superb blending qualities, so necessary in association with bowed instruments, makes it indispensable for the perfect presentation of chamber music. I prefer the Steinway piano above all others and I have used it during my entire musical career. I have had both uprights and grands (some of the latter having been close upon twenty years old), and my experience in the fundamental qualities of your pianos has been the same in all cases. With compliments, believe me, yours very truly, MAUD POWELL.

These superb pianos are sold exclusively by Sherman, Clay & Co. SIXTH AND MORRISON STREETS, PORTLAND, OR.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women. It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants. THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath. It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.
