Hall Association Organized.—T. A. Retchum, D. V. Hart and M. C. VanTyne have incorporated the Williambia Hall Association with a capital stock of $1000. This association was organized to error a public hall on Dawson street, between University Park and Portsmouth stations, on the St. Join line, to be used also for a volunteer fire company yet to be organized. The University Park Board of Trade took initial steps toward forming the association at its last meeting in order to get fire protection for that portion of the city and also to get a home for the Board of Trade. A lot will be leased on Dawson street, near the achoolhouse, and a huliding $0x90 will be spected. A volunteer fire company will be organized and apparatus secured from the city. Meanwhile the local Board of Trade will urge the city to secure a site for a permanent fire engine-house, as the hall association is only a temporary arrangement to supply the present needs. Policeman Lectured in Court.—Altention of the Police Department was again called yesterday to the fact that its members are merely public servants and not public dictators. Patrolman Burri was mildly rebuked by Acting Municipal Judge Seabrook for having arrested C. R. Bird, a young man residing in East Portland. The arrest, as shown in court, was a rank overstepping of authority and the only offense of which Bird could possibly have been guilty was that of failing to show an awad respect for an overbearing policeman. Bird, it appears, was standing at Sevenih and Ankeny streets, waiting for a streetcar. Burri waiked up and asked him what he was doing. Bird said he was waiting for a car, The officer told him that he was on the wrong side of the street to be walling for a car, and ordered Bird to move on. After repeating the order several times the officer eating the order several times the officer ook it upon himself to arrest Bird. He uppeared against him in the Municipal fourt, but could not get a conviction.

CLEARED OF STEALING COAT.—Thomas levine, the one-time banker who was ar-seted early in the week on a charge of tealing a cheap overcoat from P. E. stealing a chasp overcoat from P. E.
Alken, did not steal the coat after all.
His innocence was established yesterday when the missing overcoat was found in a Fourth-atreet barber ship, where Davins had left it. When arrested the old man said he must have taken the coat hy mistake from the Chamber of Commerce block. He recalled having left it in a barber shop but could not remember the name of the shop. This looked very susricious to say the least. And while the circumstances were quite against Devine, yet he had been known so many years as "Honest Tom" that the police had back the larceny charge pending an effort to locate the coat. Yesterday forenoon the cost was found harging in a barber shop as Devine said he had left it. He was promptly released from custody.
