GRAND OPERA SINGER DENIES RUMOR OF ENGAGE-

GERALDINE FARRAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 .- (Special,)-Geraldine Farrar came back to

NEW YORK, Nev. 28.—(Special.)—Geraldine Farrar came back to America this week pouting because the newspapers had her engaged again—this time to Scotti, the baritone of the Metropolitan Opera. House. But her face broke into its customary smile when she had deciled the report with the one word: "Silly!" Miss Farrar has been reported engaged to the Crown Prince of Germany (now happily married), and the gossips will not be happy unless they are attaching some interesting romance to the singer's name. Miss Farrar's reported engagement to the Crown Prince was due to her popularity with the royal family of Germany. She is a great favorite with the Kaiser, as well as with his son and with the wives of both of them, and she is entertained at Potschum a; the royal palaces whenever she is filling an engagement in Berlin. Miss Farrar returns to sing at the Metropolitan Opera House, where she is a great favorite, not only for her very beautiful voice and her histrionic skill, but for her charming personality.

The association has been fortunate enough in several cases to find consumptives in the first or curable stage and by private subscription has been able to place such patients in the Open Air Sanatorium, already established for patients in the that stage of tuberculosis.

The present time is one of crisis in the war against consumption. Each state needs education and awakening in the subject, and money for the work. The Red Cross threfore with the approval of the pestal authorities, took up the Christmas stamp last Christmas, and tried it in one state. This was the little State of Delaware very small, very conservative, not given to enthusiasm and having only a few shacks in a woodinad meadow near Wilmington as a tuberculosis hospital. The state as a whole was ignorant and uninterested on the subject, yet the stamp, printed and put on the market only 18 days hefore Christmas amassed everyone by its sometional record. Fifty thousand had been printed to sell at I cent aplece. They went in a week, and then the stamp pot into Philadelphia, where the Pennsylvania Red Cross welcomed it and backed it, and the North American gave it splendid aid.

The Delaware schools sold it, the Women's Clubs in Delaware took if up, the newspapers gave columns to it, the depariment stores, banks, drugatores and bettels sold it. It was sold in the corridors of the Wilmington Federal building, by permission of the Government, though not in the Poatofflee itself. The presses in the last few days before Christmas ran night and the business firms on their correspondence. Nearly 400,000 were sold, and nearly $3000 cleared from this small unobtrusive penny stamp.

With this money the Delaware Red Cross first hunder of the property and desired anticoherent and the penny stamp.

Nearly 400,000 were sold, and nearly $3000 cheared from this small unobtrusive penny stamp.

With this money the Delaware Red Cross first brought an educational anti-tuberculous exhibit to Delaware, which was visited by 20,000 people in ten days. The clubs, granges, city boards, isachers, chergymen, labor unions, state officials, were all specially invited on special days, and the whole state was waked up. A nurse was sent to the sanitarium and a free dispensary supplied with milk and eggs, drugs and a visiting nurse for the consumptive poor, and this has gone on all year. One thousand dollars has been set aside as a nucleus toward building a hospital. Delaware is now decidedly interested in tuberculosis work and all this done in 18 days by a penny stamp.

The American National Red Cross this year has decided to issue the Christimas stamp in every state. A beautiful stamp has been especially designed by Howard Byle, the famous artist. It bears a wreath of holly and "Merry Christman and Happy New Year." Signs of Coming Conflict Between Them.

GERMAN RADICALS PROPOSE It Involves General Policy to Be Pursued During the Taft Administration-Sherman

> Washington Special to New York Times Washington Special to New York Times. Authentic information received in Washington from Hot Springs, Va., makes it practically certain that President-elect Taft has made up his mind to have it out with Speaker Cannon right at the outset of the new Administration, which means that the biggest fight the Republican party has seen for years is impending. By force of circumstances the fight will be over the election of the Speaker of the next House, which will meet in special session under the call of Mr. Taft soon after the inauguration of the new President.

On the surface it will be a fight between Taft and Cannon, but in fact it will be a fight between the progressive or radical Republicans and the conservatives or reactionnries. It is not against Cannon merely that Mr. Taft will array the power of his administration, but against the entire system which the Speaker represents, and of which he is the head in the House of Representatives. Nor is it merely a fight for an honest Nor is it merely a fight for an honest revision of the tariff. Its purpose em-braces all the whole line of progressive policies for which Mr. Taft stands. The fact is that he stands for one tendency Government and legislation and Mr. in Government and legislation and accommon stands for another. The two are radically opposed to each other, and Mr. Taft means to have it settled right at the start, if it is possible for him to do so, which line shall be followed during his Administration. To do that he is willing to join issues with the Speaker now and put it to the crucial test of the Speakership election.

This is a brand-new Taft. His frien This is a brand-new tast. His friends here have known for years that Mr. Taft is a great fighter when once he becomes involved in a contest. They know of some hard struggles which he has conducted. But they have never before seen him engaged in any great contest on his own be-half. Now he is not only willing to be-come engaged, he is actually stirring up the row and preparing to lead it in person.

And it is solely in the interest of his own Administration that he is inviting the battle, Moreover, it is primarily in behalf of the one policy he has advocated which more than any other can be said to be entirely his own, as distinguished from the "Roosevelt policies" which he so offen during the campaign pledged himself to carry out. Tariff revision of the sort advocated by Mr. Tatt was not in the Roosevelt quiver. Mr. Tatt has gone well beyond the point where Roosevelt would have stopped on that line, as even the President would admit.

This question alone, however, might not have induced Mr. Taft to undertake so serious a proposition as a fight with Mr. Cannon. If that had been the only point at issue between them some compromise might have been arranged.

Speaker Cannon has shown himself able, at other times, to bow to the inevitable more or less gracefully, and if he found submission on the tariff the only thing necessary to avoid an open raptude And it is solely in the interest of his own evitable more or less graceling, and it he found submission on the tariff the only thing necessary to avoid an open ruptude with the official head of his party he would no doubt find the way to yield with every appearance of grace now. But submission on the tariff will not begin to satisfy Mr. Taft. There is a long list of natters on which the two men differ widely.

"How will the Speaker be able to satisfy Mr. Taft?" asked one of the strong adherents of the President-elect this evening. "What list of promises can be make that would cover all the contingencies of the next Administration? It is not merely on the matters which are at issue now that Mr. Taft and the Speaker are opposed to each other. From everything that is known of each it is easy to see that the same opposition would arise on everything that comes up. No list of specific pledges could be made that would offer a satisfactory guaranty to Mr. Taft. Moreover, it is not merely Mr. Cannon alone who represents this opposition. It is the entire system that he same for." sition. It is the entire system that he stands for."

Fortunate Time for Conflict.

Thus it eccms that a new irrepressible conflict has begun in carnest, a conflict which has been threatening every seasion of Congress for the last four years, but which Mr. Roosevelt has never been able to make up his mind to undertake. Mr. Taft has a fortunate time in which to begin it, right at the outset of his administration. It is predicted by politicians in Washington that victory will render him even more popular throughout the United States than Mr. Roosevelt has For it is recognized that everywhere in the country Cannon is most unpopular, and the American tendency to idolize the fighter for what the country wants, es-pecially when he is successful, will have ample opportunity to manifest itself in this case ample opportunity to manifest itself in this case.

The Camnon men realize already what the fight may mean to them. They are talking confidently, but it is observable from the action of some of them that a good part, at least, of the talk is in the nature of loud whistling in the dark woods. Ever since the election, the friends of the Speaker, Including Vice-President - elect Sherman, have been hustling among the Republicans of the next House for piedges to support Cannon for the Speakership. An illustration of their activity is found in the way they worked with the New Jersey delegation. Within two hours after the announcement by Representative Fowler that he would be a candidate for the Speakership, every other Republican in the New Jersey delegation had been piedged to Cannon.

Over two weeks ago it was reported to the Cannon managers that enough votes had been pledged to him to insure his rethe Cannon managers that enough votes had been pledged to him to insure his reelection. But it is evident not only that the Cannon men do not trust to their pledges, but that they have reason not to. That they do not trust them is apparent from the fact that right now Congressman James R. Mann, of Chlesgo, one of the stanch adherents of the Speaker, is sending out letters to Republican mem. sending out letters to Republican mem-bers of the pext House urging them to support Cannon for re-election.

Pick Burton as Taft Candidate.

Pick Burton as Taft Candidate.

And that there is ample reason for distrusting the pledges already given is found in the great number of letters from Republican members of the next House daily received by Mr. Tart asking his opinion in the matter. Letters also have been received in numbers by Mr. Burton, who is popularly picked as the Taft candidate in opposition to the Speaker. The writers want to know from Mr. Burton where he stands, and whether he is likely to make the race against Camon or not.

Mr. Burton, however, is not talking Speakership now. He got in from Hot Springs to attend the meeting of the Monetary Commission here. He comes directly from a series of conferences with Mr. Taft, at which a number of the problems of the next Administration were discussed, but he declined to say anything about his talks with the next President.

"I am not a candidate for the Speaker-

"I am not a candidate for the Speakership." he said. "You may make that as emphatic as you like. I am a candidate for the Senate to succeed Foraker, and I am going home to make a fight for that place."

It was pointed out, however, that Mr.
Burton is not essential to Mr. Taft's plans regarding the Speakership contest.
The President-elect feels that there are plenty of good men in the next House who would make admirable Speakers. And besides, he is not advocating the election plenty of good me in the next House who would make admirable Speakers. And besides, he is not advocating the election of any particular man, nor will he. He is not going to undertake to dictate what the organization of the House shall be. His opposition is to the present system, which he means to defeat if he can, that is all. He feels that he is perfectly justified in taking this attitude now. He is not President yet, but he has been chosen by his party as its leader for the next four years, and he feels that under that warrant he is justified in taking any steps which seem to him best for the welfare of the party.

He has been told by close friends and shrewd observers that unless he makes the fight and overthrows the Cannon system right at the opening of his Administration it will be doemed to failure. And he is convinced that this view is correct. He knows that no matter what sort of a lariff bill is passed at the special session of Congress it will not existly the country.

The succeeding long session would be dominated by the same infliences, and a situation would be framed up where the almost inevitable. Then, with the Democratic for the president and nothing could help it.

Cannon as Speaker of the next House who had not not a speaker of the whole Administration, President Taff's legislative programme would be defeated and the whole Administration would be a failure. Taff would be a one-term President and nothing could help it.

tles which have made him so unpopular throughout the country now, and Cannon-ism would be the vital issue of the Congressional election two years bence. On that issue the mid-term election would certainly be lost to the Republicans. The Cannon men are already making rigorous protests that "Uncle Joe" will be good during the next Congress. Cannon himself is making what is practically a similar declaration in his public speeches, although he limits himself to the tariff pledge of the Republican platform.

situation which is daily reflected in Mr.
Taft's mail, and which is set forth tonight by Mr. Burton.

De Not Show Sincere Effort.

Do Not Show Sincere Effort.

"There is undoubtedly an impression prevalent in the country," said Mr. Burton, "that the present tariff hearings of the ways and means committee do not show a sincere effort to investigate conditions with a view to remedy possible abuses by a judicious revision of the schedules. "The Chicago platform committed the party to an earnest and sincere effort to revise the tariff. To illustrate what the country understood by that pledge, objections are now being made that the ways and means committee apparently is not digging into the question of difference between the coat of production here and abroad. This is regarded as important, judging from the letters and protests mentioned.

Of the outcome of the fight, there can be but one conclusion. The only question all along has been as to whether Mr. Taft would make up his mind really to undertake such a contest. Now that he apparently has done so, the power of his Administration is practically certain to carry him through. It will be a desperate

It will leave deep scars and insure It will have a warfare that probably will endure throughout the Taft Administration.
