DITCH HOUSE AGAIN

Water From Eldorado Acquired for Pine Creek Mines.

LONG LITIGATION OVER

Burnt River Company Gets Full Control and Will Proceed to Develop Mines That Have Turned Out Great Nuggets.

BAKER CITY, Or., Dec. 6.—(Special.)—A deal has just been closed here that affects the waters of what is known as the Eldorado Ditch, one of the oldest and longest irrigation ditches in Eastern Oregon.

According to papers just placed on file, the Burnt River Gold Mining & Breeding Company has now full control of the Eldorado Ditch water which insures extensive working of the Pine Creek placers. These placers have long been rated very rich and during early days, and even after the Auburn gold excitement, the Pine Creek property was considered among the best in Baker County.

This is the locality that yielded the famous Oregon $100 nugget, which occupies a prominent place in the state's mining history. P. Baruch, now County Treasurer of this county, and H. C. McClelland of Baker City, were the men who washed out the boulder nugget. Many $75 and $100 nuggets have been found there, several of which will be seen in the Oregon mineral display at Seattle next spring.

For several years efforts have been made to obtain possession of water from the Eldorado Ditch in order to maintain continuous work of the placer mines. Long terms of litigation and other causes have blocked the way until now, when the matter has been successfully adjusted.

It is interesting to know that one of the first big undertakings with a view to irrigating Eastern Oregon dry lands was the construction of the 120 miles of the Eldorado Ditch more than 30 years ago by W. H. Beckwood, Mr. Beckwood, though quite old, is still living and is assistant postmaster of Baker City at the present time.

Underwood is destined to be the main shipping point for the whole White Salmon Valley, for traffic of all kinds seeks a down-hill haul at all times, and when, in addition to a down-grade, there is a saving of several miles in distance, any other route is out of the question.

The directors of the union feel much encouraged over the outlook and are preparing for the future by arranging to erect at Underwood a cold-storage warehouse 100 by 100 feet, a portion of this to be completed in time to handle the berry crop of 1904.

Another car is being loaded for the Harvey Hotel Company of the Santa Fe system, of such varieties as Ben Davis, York Imperial, Baldwin, etc. for which high prices have been received.

UNDERWOOD SHIPS APPLES

CARLOAD OF WINTER VARIETIES SENT TO NEW YORK. White Salmon Fruit Union Proposes to Build Cold Storage Warehouse—To Ship Berries.

UNDERWOOD, Wash., Dec. 6.—(Special.)—The first carload of apples to leave this section was shipped by the White Salmon Valley Fruitgrowers' Union of Underwood, on November 23. This was rather quick work, as the union had been in shape to do business less than two weeks ago.

The apples were mostly Newtowns and Spitzbergas, and went to Rose & Hatfield, of New York, who paid for them 1.00 a bushel. Underwood the same price they paid for Hood River apples this season.

Another car is being loaded for the Harvey Hotel Company of the Santa Fe system, of such varieties as Ben Davis, York Imperial, Baldwin, etc. for which high prices have been received.

The directors of the union feel much encouraged over the outlook and are preparing for the future by arranging to erect at Underwood a cold-storage warehouse 100 by 100 feet, a portion of this to be completed in time to handle the berry crop of 1904.
