Root Says Reorganization of State Department Needed.

WANTS DIVISION OF WORK

Says Subdivisions Are Necessary to Deal With Various Foreign Questions-Country Occupies Place Among the Largest Nations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.-Since the con ideration of the legislative, executive and judicial bill was taken up in committee, the House has been much impressed with the growth of the United States among the sister nations of the world. The request upon Congress by the Secretary of State for an additional force to constitute the sister of the sister of the secretary of State for an additional force to cope with the problems of state has been ex-plained on no other basis and the state-ments of Secretary Root on the growth of this country as a world power have attracted consideration. Secretary Root startled the members by referring to the State Department orwhen it will be desirable to make material changes in the organization of the State Department," said the Secretary. He predicted the time would soon come when the enlarging business would justify and require a politico-geographical divi-sion of the work for the departments. This would mean various divisions equal to deal with European, Latin-American, Far Eastern and British colonial ques-

Secretary Root demonstrated that the work of the department was growing by stating that there was an increase of 120,000 pieces of mail a year; that the trade of the United States has increased from $1.962.000,000 in 1806, to $1,315,000,000 in 1907, and that the outgoing foreign travel from the United States has increased from 245.411 in 1896 to 583,822 in 1897.

It was now uncessary, he said, to have cierks to index the precedents for the convenience of the officials. Congress was informed that the proposed revision of the tariff meant an immense amount of work for the State Department.

Farm Labor Shows Greater Increas Than Manufacturing-Gain Over 1907 in Farm Products Is $290,000,000-Few Losses.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.-After 12 years of service as head of the Department, the Secretary of Agriculture in his annual report issued today presents a review of the progress of agriculture in the United States during this period. Concerning the farm production of 1908, he says that the farmer has created wealth says that the farmer has created wealth by the billions. Production has been above the average of recent years with few exceptions; and while some prices have fallen, others have risen.

The farm value of all farm products of 1908 reaches the most extraordinary total in the Nation's history—$7,778,090,000. This is about four times the value of the products of the mines, including mineral, oils and precious metals. The farmer contributes 57 per cent of the raw materials used in those manufacturing industries which depend mostly or considerably upon agricultural materials, and these industries use 42 per cent of all materials used in all industries.

The gain in value of farm products in 1908 over 1907 is $290,000,000 and would have been much larger had not the prices of cotton and hay been low. The value of products in 1898, the census year, being taken at 100, the value for 1903 stands at 125; for 1904, at 131; for 1905, at 134; for 1906, at 135. During the last ten years the wealth production on the farms of this country has exceeded the fabulous sum of $80,000,000,000.
