

TAFT WILL TELL
DEEDS AND VICES

Three Supreme Court Members Will Probably Retire Within Year.

LONG RECORD FOR HARLAN

Was Appointed in 1877—Together With Chief Justice Fuller and Two Others He Is Eligible for Retirement.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Nov. 14.—Four members of the United States Supreme Court have passed the retiring age, and it is probable that before the close of the next administration, it is therefore probable that Mr. Taft, as President, will be called upon to make appointments to the Supreme Bench, and possibly more, depending upon how many Justices show a willingness to retire.

Age Limit Reached.
Chief Justice Fuller and Associate Justices Harlan, Brewer and Peckham are now eligible for retirement and in three years Justice Holmes will have reached the 70-year mark, when he, too, can step aside the duties of the bench and be assured of a net income for the remainder of his days.

Justices of the Supreme Bench are not required to retire when they become 70 years of age; it is entirely optional with them. Chief Justice Fuller could have retired six years ago, but he has held on all this time, hoping for another Democratic administration so that his mantle might fall upon a man of his own political faith. But the election of a Democratic President has twice been prevented since Fuller reached the retiring age, and it is quite likely that he will not wait another four years in the hope that a Democrat may yet be appointed to succeed him. And yet, Justice Fuller, notwithstanding his 73 years and his snow-white hair, is a man of exceptional vitality and would readily pass for a man not over 60. If his health craves with him, he may once more tempt fate. In the hope that the Democrats may come into possession of the Government in 1912.

Thirty-one Years' Service.

Justice Harlan has been on the Supreme Bench longer than any other member, having been appointed November 29, 1877. He is four months younger than the Chief Justice, yet in spite of his years he is the most enthusiastic golf fiend in Washington, and the first one on the links in the morning. With Justice Harlan his work is his pleasure, as much as his golf, and that accounts for his failure to retire.

A BORN NEWS-GATHERER

Rapid-Action Career of Harry L.
Beach, Chicago.
Kansas City Star.
There is a new news editor in the Chicago office of the Associated Press and some of the facts of his career of profession are so interesting and so remarkable that it is worth while to give a brief account of his life. He is Harry L.
Beach, of Chicago, who has been in the news-gathering business for 31 years.
The new news editor's name is Harry L. Beach and his experience is not unusually long among those of his profession. He is a native of Chicago, yet it is worth noting because it is suggestive of the energy, resourcefulness and courage characterizing the daily task of providing the news that the reader receives with as little wonderment as attends his hearing a church bell ring or watching a horse show.

Mr. Beach was born in Iowa, and he reported for the Chicago News, Tribune, Times and Globe before he joined the staff of the Associated Press in 1882.
He was one of the Associated Press staff in Cuba during the war with Spain.
He witnessed the three days of land fighting in front of Santiago, and his narratives, published in the Chicago News, were the first to appear. He was in Santiago, Cuba, when the Spanish fleet was destroyed. He was in Manila, Philippines, when the Spanish fleet was destroyed. He was in Manila, Phi-
destroyed.

Will Choose Capable Men.

But no such criticism will be made of legal appointments made by President Taft. Mr. Taft, whose greatest ambition until lately was to succeed Chief Justice Fuller on the Supreme bench, is so well versed in the law that he knows the requirements of the Court, and he is unusually well equipped to select men of sufficient talent to reflect credit both upon themselves and upon the Court. This fact is appreciated by the members of the Supreme Court, and the very assurance that his trainees, capable men will be chosen by President Taft may induce Justice Fuller and his older associates to retire during the next administration. There is, however, not the slightest indication that any vacancies will occur in the Supreme bench, through retirement, until after Mr. Taft is inaugurated.

WOMAN AND A CAREER

She Is Best at 55 or 60, Declares
Amelia E. Barr.

New York World.
"A woman has no right to a 'career' until she has had children. I know, for I have had five. The girl who doesn't marry is the girl who is best at 55 or 60. At 55 or 60 a woman should find herself at her brightest and best. Genius is a luxury; it's the plain citizens who keep the world going, not the geniuses.
I believe in the Bible from cover to cover, but I declare I don't know about the church and the ministers." These gems from the wisdom of experience were uttered today when a reporter dropped in to see Amelia E. Barr, that promising young authoress, who now, though barely 50 years of age, has just published her 20th successful novel.

we should find New York's patriotism disappointing if it comes to a test in these days. Behind patriotism lies principle, and behind that lies the sense of reverence. And the men of New York, and even the smaller places, have come to reverence nothing —neither God nor their fathers, nor the memory of their father's deeds.
"New York," said the father in his Bible, "it has no God of righteousness, no faith in the power of principle. Its reverence is gone. And reverence is the foundation of good citizenship. You cannot have good citizens unless you have good children; you can't have good children unless they revere their parents, and they won't do that unless their parents are worthy of it."
"Now, what sort of parents have New Yorkers trained up in their apartment-house life? This father in his Bible, who was a reverent and toler-erates all of these qualities in his child.
The mother has her head full of theaters, shopping, amusements and society. Both are connoisseurs in cocktails. Card-playing for money is a companionable of the evening at home.

"Let me tell you," said Mrs.
Barr, with a slap of her capable old hand on the table, "that when a little child in a nightgown comes to kiss his mother and father and-night and finds them playing poker, with tumblers alongside of the chips, you can't expect him to grow up into a good citizen. He'll be a reverent and toler-erates all of these qualities in his child.
aters, shopping, amusements and society. Both are connoisseurs in cock-
companionable of the evening at home.

Dec. 22d, first day of Winter.
Winter will look all right to you if you look all right to him, that is, if you're dressed to meet him.
Today a special in Men's Suits and Overcoats, $25.00 kind, at $14.85.
A most acceptable gift for Christmas.

The girl has no business to go traping off to an office or store unless it is a matter of sheer bread and butter.
She has no business trying to carve out a so-called 'career' for herself.
"It doesn't matter whether she is a gifted woman or not. A woman has no right to a 'career' unless she has married and had children, and gone through suffering and sorrow.

"I never wrote a line until I was 55 years of age and had married and reared 15 children. I am prouder of them than I am of my books."
"As to life assurance, a truer perspective for a woman. She begins then, and hardly before then, to see the great truths of life and character in their proper perspective."
"Therefore, I say to the girl who dreams of a career: 'Marry; learn thy trade before you try to teach it. Let no girl ever be contented as too precious a jewel or genius to marry what it may please her to consider a commonplace man. A man whose every waking moment is given to his ambition, who has no time for the dear interests of home and for genial hobbies and diversions, is not the one who will bring continent to his wife or give normal children to his country."
"Genius is a luxury. Give me rather the plain man, who looks up his ambition when he closes his book at night, and takes only his own good, beloved wife home to his wife and children and makes them the salt part of his life. I tell you, said the old lady, "the man and woman who are sane, the normal, the commonplace, if you will. It's the plain citizens who keep the world going—not the geniuses."

South China Morning Post.
A snake story comes from the Kowloon side. A few days ago a brown adder, measuring some two feet and a half, was killed by Mr. Cok, bandmaster of the Raukuts, under rather curious circumstances. The reptile was slain in the open road upon the waterfront, where the Kowloon children are wont to play, and Mr. Cok's attention was first drawn to it by an antique dunt which was going on between the snake and a cat.
Poor Thomas, with bristling hair and tall on end, was gradually being fascinated by the adder, and must have naturally succumbed but for the timely assistance of the "baton."

Hounded by Berlin Beggars.
Vienna, 18pacht.
Miss Anna Morgan, heiress to $300-000,000 was driven out of Berlin, Germany, by a horde of beggars, who under conditions, by the beggars, high and low, of nobility and otherwise, who no sooner heard of the death of the rich American girl than they set siege to her dollars. Individuals, societies, churches, charitable institutions and promoters of business schemes, wrote, telegraphed and sent messengers. It all looked funny to the young woman at first, but it became a nuisance, which she escaped by means of her automobile.

Decline of Pidgin English.
Westminster Gazette.
In the latest Shanghai trade report it is stated by Edgar Hobson, the Commissioner of Customs, that owing to the increasing linguistic proficiency of the Chinese, pidgin English is falling into disuse. English, French and German are learned by the Chinese when properly taught, and with the introduction of Western education.
