LONDON, Dec. 20.—(Special).—The ghost of an Irish giant, perhaps Paddy McCoull himself, who built the Giant's Causeway, has been announced for the last few weeks by frightening the people in the neighborhood of Galway. On Saturday night a couple of young men on their way home from a party at the residence of Miss Alice Grantham at the junction of a place called Glanville, when they saw a human form about nine feet high confronting them.

When they approached the spectre it vanished, but reappeared about 40 yards further down the railway, and was last seen going in the direction of Lough Corrib. The young men brought the story into Galway City, and the next night half a dozen of their friends started to interview the giant's ghost. They were met with shotguns and revolvers, and soon after they arrived at the place they saw the giant coming toward them. One of the men raised a revolver, but before he could fire he became unconscious and fell into the arms of his companions, who paid no more attention to the ghost. One of them declares, however, that he heard the ghost laughing.

The unconscious man was carried into Galway, and taken to a medical man, who revived him after some hours' work. The ghost was seen on Monday and Tuesday nights, but the ghost failed to appear.

New York.—A special to the Times from Buffalo says that a falling tree seriously injured Eibert Hubbard, the author and editor, in the woods near his colony at East Aurora, N. Y., Monday. While working he misestimated the distance the tree would fall and was crushed.

Chicago.—Death was victor in a race of typhoid fever in his home in Birmingham, the last laudanum he reached the city he died.

Cal.—Assaulted and robbed of formerly manager of the Spokane Interstate Fair Association, is confined in his home in this city by the injuries sustained at the hands of his assailants. He is not seriously injured.

Washington, D. C.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation has been notified that there are more than 100,000 high school pupils in the class whose fathers make $120 a year or over than in the class who make less than $10 a year when they work and whose mothers, not to mention Sister Ann, take in washing.

Along about this time of year every father convinced his daughters estimate his income at about $75,000 a year. Hence there is some perturbation at the news of the cost of production. The latter Brooklyn parents are reported to have told the boys and girls not to answer. But the United States cannot be flattered. It artfully demands that what costs is paid, and then goes on to endure on the basis that everybody gives exactly a quarter of his income to the landlord.

Don't start a "Hot" man, days in the week does Jimmy look after the furnace?" are other things that Uncle Sam is determined to worm out of its youthful citizen.

Something must be done to keep the clerks busy, dear people; and it is well known that any chief of a division who does not have something to do will hope to become commissioner of a bureau, and if parents will only look at it in the right way, this latest scheme has great possibilities. The chief of a division who has not paid the butcher or the grocer for three months might easily manage to let the information leak out that his income is about $100,000 a year.

ALBANY, Or., Dec. 22.—(Special).—The miles south of Albany, was robbed early this evening and $60 secured. The sta-

The burglar broke into the building through a window, and after he had secured the money drawer, he attached
