for Annual Event on Wash-

Dr. Emmet Drake, chairman of the "Rose Planting Day" committee of the Portland Rose Festival and Portland Rose

Society, will call his associates together for a meeting within the next few days to prepare a formal programme and to arrange preliminaries for the observance of Portiand's second annual "Rose Plant-ing Day." The time is short and there is much work to be done before Washing-much work to be done before washing-ton's birthday, when the function takes place. By to the present time, little has been decided upon save that there will be a formal blessing of the roses by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Charles Scadding, and an effort made to have a general outpouring of the school children of the city to assist in the ceremonies.

The children will, of course, have the usual holiday, and the matter of securing their co-operation is to be taken up with the proper authorities at once so that their participation may be formal as well as representative of the entire school trictic celebrations which may be in con-templation. 'Rose Planting Day' is Port-land's own individual way of showing honor to the memory of the first Presi-dent of the United States, as well as heralding to the world the fact that this is the greatest city of roses on earth. Civic pride and patriotism are beautiful senti-ments and they are rarely so well mingled as they are in such a celebration as we processe to hold.

Bright and early this morning Miss Bock purposes to go to the Courthouse, buy a marriage license and wait for Mr. Johnson. If, when he comes, he is willing to marry her, the wedding will take place at once. If not, well, Miss Book herself has said, "He must marry me or pay me damages."

Say She Has Good Case.

Miss Bock is represented in her suit by Attorneys J. F. Logan and John H. Stevenson. Her attorneys have arranged for the marriage license and advised her to give Mr. Johnson another chance to carry out his alleged promise. "I feel quite confident that Miss Bock will win her suit," said Mr. Stevenson last night. "She has undoubtedly been injured in the sum for which she seeks judgment, and it will not be difficult to show a jury that she has." Mr. Johnson is very much averse to publicity in connection with the suit. However, his attorney, B. S. Pague, stated that he is sure his client is in whether or not he would consent to his client listening to any wedding bells this morning, or any other morning, for thatmatter, and also refused to state what course he would pursue in court today.

"Mr. Johnson, of course, does not care for publicity," said Mr. Pague, "but I have no doubt but that he will win his case. I am sure he is right and that he will be able to convince the jury that he is."
