"JUDGE" LEONARD MAY BE INMATE

Mary A. Leonard, familiarly known for years as "Judge" Leonard, was arrested yesterday afternoon by the Sheriff's office on a charge of insanity. This charge was preferred by the woman's attorney, a neighbor of the woman attorney's on East Washington street. Sherwood says she has been haunting his place with wild stories of a plot against her life. Always regarded as decidedly "queer," Mrs. Leonard's erratic conduct has been more pronounced of late. She has long been known as Portland's woman lawyer, and lady assistant steward of the Grange.

SERVICES WELL ATTENDED

Evangelical services are in progress at the First United Brethren Church, East Fifteenth and East Morrison streets, in charge of Rev. George Soltan, of London, with large attendance. Rev. Mr. Soltan's message are direct and set at all seasons. He preaches in a plain, straightforward and good music. An excellent chorus choir has been organized. Meetings are held every night at 7:30 o'clock except Saturday night. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons at 2:30 o'clock, he holds special services, the afternoon subject this week being "Secret of the Second Degree." The subject for tonight is "Redemption of the Slave."

FUNERAL OF GEORGE DIEBRO

The funeral of George Diebro, who died at his home in Woodstock January 2, aged 64, was held yesterday at Finley Chapel, and the body will be held for shipment to Chicago. Mr. Diebro returned from Chicago to Oregon City, and thence to Portland a short time ago, starting the erection of an attractive home at Woodstock, where he planned to live. He leaves a widow and several children, friends during the short time he had lived in that suburb.

DAN McFADDEN MISSING

Friends are alarmed over the disappearance of Dan McFadden, who has not been seen since Saturday afternoon. He is said to have had $20 in his possession and to have been drinking freely. He is five feet tall, and weighing 230 pounds. He is said to have been last seen at 64 North Sixth street, and J. J. Murphy, who lives at a friend's home, will give a suitable reward for information that may aid in locating McFadden.

William McMurray, general passenger agent of the Harriman line in this territory, will give a luncheon at the club to the visitors, who will fill a special car. President C. W. Hodson of the club will also be a guest at the luncheon. The visitors from the interior consist of a quantity of high-class advertising matter, setting forth the attractions of Umatilla County, about the club.

STREETCARS COLLIDE

Car No. 128 of the Thirteenth-street line collided with a Portland Heights car, at Thirteenth and Washington streets, yesterday morning, causing injury to George Jeffrey, a passenger on the latter car. Both cars were damaged and both cars. Both motormen escaped injury. Traffic was blocked for ten minutes, the Thirteenth-street car being thrown from the track and the other car being damaged due to the failure of the brakes of the Thirteenth-street car to respond. Jeffrey, whose injuries are not considered serious, was removed to his home.

FINAL MEETING TODAY

The last meeting of the present board of trustees of the Chamber of Commerce will be held this morning at 11:30 o'clock in the rooms of the organization in the Chamber of Commerce building. ORIENTAL TRIP FINISHED

O. M. Clark Returns After Protracted Stay in Far East.

O. M. Clark, of the Clark-Wilson Lumber Company, has just returned from an extended trip through the Orient. He was accompanied by Mrs. Clark, and while away covered 29,000 miles, spending 45 days on the ocean. Mr. and Mrs. Clark returned with the Chamber of Commerce party to Japan on September 22 and after being entertained in Japan, proceeded through China and the Philippines and stopped in the Hawaiian Islands on their way home.

"I was much impressed with the advanced state of civilization in the Philippines," said Mr. Clark last night. "Everywhere was evidence of progress. I believe everything in that country would bloom if reciprocity were granted in our trade relations with the islands."

"While in Manila we met Major Goodman and his wife and daughter, who are known to Portland people. We were introduced to Governor Smith while in Manila. He appears to be a man well fitted for the position he holds. Others in the official line in the islands seem also to be well qualified to deal with the questions arising between the two countries. In Shanghai and Hongkong we also met people well known in Portland."

"There was no semblance of war talk in Japan while we were there. Everything was most friendly. We were accorded courteous treatment everywhere, and were given passes on the Japanese railroads, on the streetcar lines and everywhere we wanted to go about the islands."

"In China there seemed to be some agitation when we arrived, but when we came away this had subsided and conditions there appeared to be again on a normal basis."

PREACHERS QUIT POLITICS

Decide Statement 1 Has No Place in Its Debates.

At the regular monthly meeting yesterday of the Portland Ministerial Association, it was decided that Statement No. 1 has no place in the discussions of that body. Although a committee had been appointed to consider the question of a Republican Legislature electing a Democrat as United States Senator, the committee agreed that this question was not within the province of the association. That body, however, agreed that a Sunday school should be held at the residence of the minister on that day, if desirable. A measure against professional baseball and Sunday excursions is pending with favor. It has not been determined whether action shall be taken against Sunday theaters. At yesterday's meeting a committee was appointed to hold a memorial service to be held on Lincoln's birthday, whether in the different churches of the city or under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Secretary Stiles was authorized to invite Billy Sunday, the ex-baseball player and evangelist, to deliver a talk in Portland when he arrives here on his way East.

JURY TO GET FACTS

Ex-Guard Johnson Prepares to Tell About Rockpile.

HAS NAMES OF WITNESSES

Gets His Facts in Readiness for Inquisitorial Body, Which Will Investigate Grover Duffey Death. Charges More Brutality.

James Johnson, who lately resigned as a guard at the county rockpile, is preparing the best thing of its kind ever seen here and Madame Jewell entirely deserved the applause her efforts received yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Johnson offers a side in which the former appears as an ambitious young musical composer and the latter a Swedish servant girl.

A team of clever jugglers are Joe Cook and his brother who display much originality in their deft handling of Indian clubs and other properties used by jugglers. The motion pictures are above the average. The present bill is one of the best the Orpheum management has yet offered. You will make no mistake by seeing it.

THE NEW YEAR is starting off at Pantages in a most promising way. By far the best thing on the bill is "When Hubby Realizes," by Abrams and Johns, a clever man and a clever woman.

The story is all about the country mouse of a wife, who is enabled by a particularly keen and well-acted ruse to win back her gay lord and master, "whose name" in the direction of the Great White Way.

The Koller Grand Opera Trio is one of the best foreign vocal acts ever imported into this country. They are and voice these three men remind me of the story of the three bears, the great big bear, the middle-sized bear and the little bear. They all possess remarkable stinging voices, and their selections, especially the "Trovatore" number, and the "Holy City" created a small sensation.

"The Limits" is all about the country mouse, which is presented by Burton and Brooks. Burton takes the character of Jay Armour Swift, a retired pork-butcher for street improvements in no wise difficult role of a titled Englishman. The act does not chain one's interest to the stage and is hopelessly lame in parts and in the end brings it to life and creates interest.

The Florenz family, which consists of two men, two boys and a dainty girl of the "Florenz" type, do a dainty acrobatic feature that is one of the big acts on the programme.

Brandon and Wilson are a couple of jokers who sing and dance well and rattle off nonsensical nonsense. The girl is noticeably charming and their act pleases.

"When the Whipcord Sings, Marguerite," which is well received, but might be improved by the elimination of the cuckoo accompaniment in the chorus.

Grand.

THE Grand has a bill this week that is calculated to please the diversified tastes of any audience. Bruno is a dialect comedian, and Joe Deming's company, who present a humorous farce, "The Travelling Man." Bruno is a dialect comedian, and Joe Deming's company, who present a humorous farce, "The Travelling Man."

His remarks in Swedish, Chinese, Italian, German, Irish, Scottish and Yiddish relative to the merits and demerits of the Bartholomew State, is also his song in the varied tongues, that one about the strained relations between father and mother, and the old father who is not content with dad.

"The Travelling Man," as presented by Joe Deming and company, is a screamingly funny. An interior view of a modern Pullman car is shown, and a large collection of clever repartee and song between the porter, brakeman, a lady tourist, a fresh news butcher boy, and the traveling man.

Fred Bauer sings another old-time melody, that we all find ourselves humming as we leave the theatre, and a dainty comedy, "Charles Sabine and Mlle. Vera offer an act which, like hash and mince-meat, contains a little bit of everything. Vera contains a little bit of everything. Vera contains a little bit of everything. Vera contains a little bit of everything.

"Let the women do the work," "Look Out at Three A. M.," is not his usual fare. It is difficult to trace any resemblance between the Tennessee mountain girl and her famous prototype of the fairy tale. But the sketch carries the audience off their feet. It is a corking good song. The entire turn of these two clever girls is worth considering although one might suggest that the sister who appears in black velvet and attempts to imitate the "Ethel Barrymore slouch" might better devote her attention to her singing, since her voice is very good.

A very effective act is offered by the Josephine trio of aerialists. The man and the two women perform some startling feats on the trapeze and the picturesque manner in which they set the act and the grace of the performers make their program stand out conspicuously although there are so many splendid turns surrounding them. Frank White and Lew Simmons, not to mention "the ghost" do a funny black-face stunt. One thinks of McIntire & Heath while watching them, and the latter wouldn't mind fault with their successors. White's facial expression and his unctious are calculated to make base theatergoers laugh.

A resolution was adopted endorsing the Jewell Mankins, an act which plainly

ASK PARKS FOR PENINSULA

Push Club Committees to Appear Before Park Board Friday.

Committees from practically all the Peninsula push clubs will appear before the Park Commission Friday to ask that the portion of the city be given consideration. G. Parsons, A. C. Meyer, F. T. Leasco, F. T. Shaw and J. H. Notta were appointed park committees at the meeting of the North Albina Improvement Club last night to represent the organization before the Commission. A resolution was adopted on motion of J. H. Notta declaring against the proposed purchase of the parks as unwise.

attitude of Mayor Lane on the lighting question is against the city entering into a five-year contract with the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company.

M. H. Carrier, representing the Peninsula Development League, reported the action taken by that organization to secure a hard-surface street through the center of the Peninsula to the St. John line, to the effect that the project was generally favored, provided the through street could be opened and improved by forming a district, thereby distributing the cost over a large territory. Mr. Carrier maintained that as the whole of the Peninsula would benefit by this highway, a large district should pay for it. He also said that the matter of forming a district for street improvements of this character would be the subject of consideration by the charter board.

Following the adjournment of the push club, the Rose Culture Club held a short session, with Mrs. A. B. Stone presiding. A hall committee was appointed.

At a public meeting last night of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Woodmen of the World Hall, the following officers were installed: President, D. J. McLaughlin; vice-president, F. J. Burns; recording secretary, Thomas Evans; financial secretary, D. W. Lane; treasurer, P. A. Sullivan; sergeant-at-arms, T. P. Dougherty; inside sentinel, Michael Colfer.

The following officers were installed by Division No. 1 of the Ladies' Auxiliary: President, Mrs. Fanny Deary; vice-president, Mrs. Mary O'Hara; recording secretary, Mrs. M. J. Driscoll; mistress-at-arms, Miss Kate Ryan; sentinel, Miss May Major. The following officers of Division No. 2 of the Auxiliary were installed: President, Miss Anna Ford; vice-president, Miss Clara Gallagher; recording secretary, Miss Helen E. Springer; financial secretary, Miss Anna Moore; treasurer, Miss M. Gallagher; mistress-at-arms, Miss Maud St. Thomas; sentinel, Miss Katherine Foley.

Proceeding the installation a programme consisting of musical and literary numbers was rendered. Short addresses were delivered by Tom Richardson and Father O'Hara. The latter said that people are inclined to overlook the real source of a city's greatness when summing up its assets. This source, he declared, was its high-minded men and women. He also paid a high tribute to the Ancient Order of Hibernians, saying that the principles for which it stands have been successfully canvassed for more than 400 years.

The programme was as follows: Selections, Mrs. Anna Ford; song, Mrs. Maud St. Thomas; song, Frank D. Hennessy.
