Promoters Are Working Hard to Make Concert Triumph Artistically as Well as Financially. Society Girls Sell Flowers.

One of the brilliant features of the concert to be given under the direction of Portland's leading society folk at the Bungalow Theater, Monday night, for the henefit of the Italian earthquake sufferers, will be the appearance of Madame Norelli, who will sing a grand aria. Madame Norelli has only recently returned from Europe, where she made a great impression as a dramatic soprano. This will be her first appearance in Portland since her succeases abrond.

Madame Norelli has been heard in Portland but once or twice, and although her ability as a dramatic soprano is well known here, the music-lovers of the city who have followed her triumphs abroad will be giad of this chance to hear her again. One of the brilliant features of the con-when those interested in making the When those interested in making the concert a success, both artistically and financially, requested Madame Norelli to sing, she gladly accepted. Like the society women who are patronesses of the concert, she was happy to lend her servlices to so worthy a cause. This same spirit of splendid charity prevalls among all who are to take part. In addition to Madams Norelli's appearance, the Orpheum, Grand and Pantages Theaters will select the most pleasing act on their prorammes and donate the services of these high-class actors and actresses.

Colonel David M Dunne, treasurer of the Messina relief fund, and Frank B. Riley, both of whom are working with might and main to make the concert a huge success, announce that tickets are might and main to make the concert a huge success, announce that tickets are on sale at Woodard, Clarke & Co.'s drugstore, Sherman, Clay & Co., both the Sichel and the Schiller cigar stores, and at the box office of the Bungalow Theater. Tickets are sold at $1, and are good for any seat in the house, save the boxes and loges. In case any ticket-holder should desire box or loge seats reserved, he can do so at the theater box office.

A very pretty feature of the concert will be the sale of flowers during the performance. A number of young society

CITY'S LAW IS ASSAILED Man Convicted Under Liquor Ordinance Takes Appeal.

ALBANY, Or., Jan. 7.—(Special.)— The constitutionality of Albany's liquor ordinance was attacked this afternoon when a transcript on appeal of the city case against Al Peacock was filed in the State Circuit Court. The ordinance embodies the provisions of the local option liquor law and provides easier methods for the conviction of liquor sellers. Peacock was fined under the terms of this ordinance and in his appeal has admitted the facts, but attacks the legality of the ordinance.
