BEN HUR CONTEST CLOSES TUESDAY

Essays From School Children Must Be In by Midnight Tomorrow.

NOT TOO LATE TO ENTER

Boys and Girls Who Wish to Join The Oregonian's Theater Party Should Write Their Short Compositions Today.

comy two days remain for pupils of the public and Catholic achools who wish to enter The Oregonian's "Hen Hur" contest to send in their essays. According to the terms of the competition, all essays must be in the hands of The Orein by 12 o'clock midnight tomorrow it. There is still plenty of time. however, for those who act promptly to compete for one of the 300 tickets to the big theater party at the Hellig at the opening production of "Ben Hur," the night of January 18.

night of January IS.

Many essays have already been received by The Oregonian but the number is doubtiess smaller than it would have been had not the cold weather caused the adjournment of the schools Thursday and Friday. Arrangements had day and Friday. Arrangements had been made to allow pupils time to write their essays during school hours and many had planned to take advantage of this opportunity. The fact that the number of essays will be somewhat smaller than it would have been had the schools remained in session only imves the chances of those who enter

May Work at Desks Today.

The schools will again take up their work today and those who wish to do so will undobtedly be given time to write their essays at their desks, as Superintheir cosays at their desag, as Superin-tendent Righer has requested teachers to devote one of the study periods to this purpose. Those who do not finish the essays at school may do so at their homes out of school bours. Several have telephoned to The Oregonian, ask-ing if the essays must be written at home, and it should be clearly understood that this is not necessary. Pupils may write them wherever they wish.

All have undoubtedly read the conditions of the contest, but it will do no harm to repeat them so that they will be kept clearly in mind. The contest is open to all boys and girls of the high schools and the eighth and ninth grade gram-mar schools and to pupils of correspond-ing grades of the Catholic schools.

Contest Is Highly Indorsed.

The essays should be written on one side of the paper only, and in the upper left-hand corner of the first page, the writer should put his name, address, grade and school. Mail your essays to

The contest has received the highest derrement of the Board of Education, Superintendent Rigler and of Father of Seperintenent Rigier and of Father Edward V. O'Hara, of the Cathelle schools. Superintendent Rigier and Father O'Hara have appointed two committees of judges and as soon as the contest closes, the essays will be turned ever to these committees. When the judges have completed their work, names of the 200 witness will be multished in of the 200 winners will be published in pupil who is eligible should enter the contest. If he has not yet written his essay, he should do so today. He is sure to receive benefit from the story of "Ben'llur" and also from writing his composition. Besides this every ho enters has a good chance to be d in The Oregonian's theater which will be the biggest ever given in Portland and is sure to be very the Hellig Theater and it is safe to say that the audience will be one of the ever witnessed a theatrical production.

Besides the 200 winners of the contest, the 44 members of the two committees of fudges will also be guests of The Oregonian at this time.
