McArthur Not in Attendance.

Possessing the organization of both houses of the Legislature, Chamberlain's fors assert they are in position to make a fight at the right juncture.

Chamberlain's supporters, however, look upon Speaker McArthur with considerable satisfaction. They point out that he did not attend tonight's caucus of the opposition. They cite that Mc-Arthur is bound up to several Statement One members, notably Abbott and Clemens, who are steadfast Chamberlain adherents. To these two men McArthur is said to be obliged to give especial recognition in charmanships, Abbott being slated for head of the House committee on ways and means. It is hinted on the Statement side that McArthur is so far tled to the Statement forces as to hamper his freedom of action in the contest against Chamberlain. Speaker' McArthur is reported 'to have pledged himself before the organization that he would not use the Speakership to beat Chamberlain. If this is true, it will cause much disappointment in the anti-Chamberlain ranks, since they elected him Speaker for the purpose of electing a Republican Senator.

Blame Chamberlain for Storles.

Chamberlain's opponents charge his forces with starting reports of a "sack" and bribes in order to scare Statement legislators into line. Said Ralph Williams tonight, National committeeman for Oregon, and leader of the fight on Chamber-

"The bribe stories are absurd and are started by the Chamberlaffi people to intimidate legislators who want a Republican elected Senator and are willing to asaist with their votes. There is no suck and will not be any. If there were any I would certainly be in the best position to know about it.
