J. H. Erickson Will Succeed Manager C. N. Sutton.

CORDRAY TO TAKE GRAND

Transfer of Director of Portland's Latest Vaudeville House to Butte Causes Important Changes in the Local Theatrical World.

A decided shifting in local theatrical affairs was announced yesterday by which James H. Erickson, who has been general manager of the Sullivan & Considine and Orpheum interests in this territory, will assume the active management of the Orpheum theatre at the same time retaining supervision over the Grand theatre. This means that Chester N. Sutton who has been so successful in his management of the Orpheum since the advent of the famous vaudeville circuit in Portland, will leave to take up other work for the Sullivan-Considine circuit, while Mr. Erickson will take active charge of the Orpheum, and John P. Cordray, Portland's veteran theatrical manager will assist Mr. Erickson in the management of the Grand.

The news comes as a distinct surprise and will create something of a sensation in local theatrical circles. It appears that the recently appointed manager of the Orpheum interests at Butte has discontinued his services with the former vaudeville circuit, owing to his inability to handle the labor situation in the mining city. John W. Considine, the biggest figure in the Western vaudeville circuit, who left yesterday and in view of existing conditions decided upon a change that seemed necessary to him. According to his directions Mr. Sutton will remain in charge of the vaudeville syndicate, to take charge of the Grand under the general direction of Mr. Erickson. For a number of years, and one of the chief reliance of the vaudeville syndicate, to take charge of the Grand under the general direction of Mr. Erickson. For a number of years, and one of the chief reliance of the vaudeville syndicate, to take charge of the Grand under the general direction of Mr. Erickson.

Mr. Erickson has been in charge of the Sullivan & Considine interests here, for he has already thoroughly demonstrated his ability as a theatrical manager of wide experience and thorough judgment. No man has ever endeavored himself more rapidly to the local public than Mr. Sutton. Although a young man, he has displayed remarkable judgment and business perspicacity in the direction of the vaudeville circuit, and for many business men who have ever come to Portland have made so many genuine friends in so short a time. His departure, although it is understood to be a permanent one, is an advance in salary, is a distinct loss to Portland, however much it may mean to him as a forward movement in his business. Portlanders will always have the most cordially and warmly Mr. Sutton and will cordially wish him the greatest degree of success wherever his lot may be cast. He will probably leave for his home in the latter part of this week, and Mr. Erickson will at once take active charge of the Orpheum while Mr. Cordray will at the same time assume the duties of assistant manager of the Grand.

NEW TODAY

A Proposition to Those Interested in MINING. A year ago a syndicate composed of business men of Portland, purchased for $25,000 the eight claims in Inyo County, Cal., known as the INYO-OREGON. In addition to a permit on the mines by W. H. Washburn, a thoroughly experienced mining engineer, C. H. Garrison, of Portland, Or., was employed to visit and make a thorough examination of the mine and to bring some ore with him to enable us to get a correct idea of the value of the property.
