Empty Chloroform Bottle.

In the front room, which was that occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Seeley," a great blood stain was found on the bed. Another great stain was found on the bed in Miss Seeley's room. In the bathhead in the bathtub filled with water, were found.

An empty chloroform bottle was on the stand in the bathroom. Clutched in the hand of Seeley, which was beneath water, was a pocket handker-chief, which, although soaked in water for days, had still a faint trace of the edor of chloroform on it. There were three wounds on the head of Mrs. Seeley. One was above the left eye, the other two on the forward part of the head. The blow that evidently killed Miss Seeley was dealt over the left eye. There were no marks on Seeley.

Blood Stains on Beds.

Those sularies are too high. We are opposed to the disposition the Com-mission has made of the water question The two women were clad in their nightgowns. Miss Seeley wore one stocking. Seeley was clad in a union suit, pair of trousers, and had on his by giving the Council power to name a committee to run the department. "In every way," continued Mr. Frank, "the common people of Portland are being ignored in this charter building, shoes, but they were not laced. His shoes, but they were not laced. His mightgown, which was bloodstained, was found on his bed. The stains were those such as might have been made by carrying the bodies of the woman and the daughter from their rooms to the bathroom. About Miss Seeleys wrist a towel had been wrapped, and a towel had been wrapped about the bead of Mrs. Seeley. The young man who made the grewsome discovery disturbed nothing, but telephoned at once for the police and the Coroner. As no instrument with which the wounds found on the bodies could have been made was found. Cap-tain Tennant at once ordered a thor-ough search of the house to be made.

No Weapon Found.

From garret to sub-basement every article in the house was examined. A heavy iron bar, such as is used in the end of broomsticks, was found in a closet in a rear unoccupied room of the house. There were no bloodstains on that, although its presence in the house could not be explained. It was in a closet which was stored with cast-off clothing and old pictures. There were many articles in the house with which the murderer might have committed the murders, but nore that hore the stains that must have been on them had they been used for From garret to sub-basement every
